Strategy Guide by Geoff Arnold

MARVEL NEMESIS™ RISE OF THE IMPERFECTS™

It's been some time since we've seen any Marvel characters make an appearance in a fighting game, but thanks to EA we are now able fight it out once again. Marvel Nemesis takes ten of the most famous Marvel superheroes and eight original characters and pits them against each other in an all-out fist-fest. Crazy destructible environments and outrageous attacks add to the fun, and the stages and characters' powers are taken directly from the comic books. We've come up with some tips and strategies to help you take out your opponents—human or otherwise—so read on, true believers!

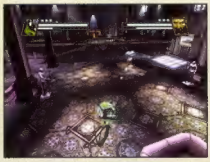
ADDITIONAL MOVES

In addition to normal blocking, attacking and jumping around, each character has an "extra" set of moves that he/she can perform. While some of these moves may require Super energy or specific situations, every character can perform at least one of these moves.

Super Jump

By holding the Super Attack button and pressing the Jump button, each character can perform a Super Jump. Using a Super Jump requires a small amount of Super energy, but can be used to get out of a sticky situation or avoid projectile attacks such as thrown objects.

Super Block



By performing a Super Block (Super Attack + Block), your character will be invincible for a short time. This rapidly drains your Super energy meter, so you should only use this move when necessary. Super Blocks will stop all melee attacks and knock your opponent back a few steps; try using it against an opponent with an offensive playing style to break his or her stride a bit. When using a Super Block, you are also immune to any projectile attacks...and if an opponent fires a projectile at you, it will be harmlessly deflected back at them. Using a Super Block is also the only way for weaker characters to block large incoming objects such as cars or trucks, since they are not strong enough to catch them.

Wake-Up Moves

After your character is knocked down, there is a small amount of time in which you can perform an offensive move as you get up off of the ground. Commonly referred to as a "wake-up" move, this technique gives your character the option to mount an offensive attack or keep your opponent from pummeling you when you are on the ground. Characters with projectile Super Attacks can shoot a projectile while lying on the ground; other characters will perform launching attacks or even "ground pound" wake-up moves. All characters also have the ability to perform a Super Block while still on the ground, provided they have the Super energy. Use a combination of these wake-up moves to keep your opponent guessing as to what you will do when you get knocked down.

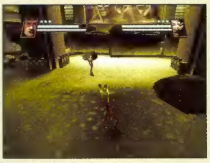
THE COMBO SYSTEM

The combo system in Marvel Nemesis may seem a bit simplistic at first, but there are actually quite a few interesting things that you can do with it; you don't have to simply mash the Attack button every time to do some damage. If you practice long enough, you will be able to link launching attacks, air juggles, throws, air throws and even Special Attacks into combos. For example, try the following combo with Wolverine:

Attack, Attack, Launching Attack (Mobility + Special Attack + Attack), Jump, Attack, Air Special Throw (Special Attack + Throw)

Experiment with all of the different possible attack combinations to find your character's most damaging combo.

Dodging/Counterattacking



If you hold down the Block button and move the analog stick, or if you press the Block button in conjunction with moving your character, your character will be able to dodge attacks. Certain agile characters such as Spider-Man and Daredevil greatly benefit from dodging, as they are able to perform a series of flips and jumps in conjunction with one another to dodge multi-hit combos. Additionally, each character is able to perform a launching attack after dodging by pressing the Attack button.

Super Attacks

There are two different types of Super Attacks: melee Super Attacks and projectile Super Attacks. Melee Super Attacks occur when your opponent is at close range and you attack while the Super Attack button is held down. These attacks are far more damaging than normal attack combos, but can drain your Super energy meter quickly. If your character is able to perform one, a projectile Super Attack occurs if you attack from a distance with the Super Attack button held down. Learn to judge the distance needed for both of these types of Super Attacks and which situations call for them.

Instant Air Attacks

Instant air attacks are basically attacks that you can execute as soon as your character becomes airborne in Mobility mode. For example, while in Mobility (flying) mode, the Human Torch has a flying fist attack which launches him at his opponent at high speed through the air. If you practice, you can actually use this move almost as you would a normal ground attack and hit your opponent without even going airborne. The trick is to press the Attack button immediately after you press the Mobility button, so your character barely leaves the ground before attacking.

Ground Attacks

Getting near a downed opponent and pressing the Attack button will allow you to hit your opponent while he or she is still on the ground. You can even do this while holding a weapon such as a pipe or holding the Special Attack button to inflict more damage. Some characters such as Paragon have very fast ground attacks and can cause a lot of damage quickly.

GENERAL GAMEPLAY TIPS

Regenerating Super Energy

When fighting in Story Mode, it becomes very important to rebuild your Super energy meter as quickly as possible, since you will be taking on a bunch of baddies at once. Always try to get into the habit of holding down the Super Attack button and charging your Super energy meter in between waves of enemies. Another fast way to build your meter is by blocking attacks and breaking throws. When surrounded by multiple enemies, block for a few seconds when they are attacking to refill your Super energy meter to full within seconds.

Using the Environment

One of your biggest offensive tools in Marvel Nemesis will be the use of your environment. Almost everything in every stage is destructible and can be used as some sort of weapon, and these weapons can take off nearly half of your opponent's life bar in one or two hits. Whenever you get the chance, pick up anything you come across and use it as a weapon, whether it be a barrel, parking meter, car or even a tank. Be aware that some of the weaker characters are only able to use certain objects such as cement walls, whereas the stronger characters can pick up everything, even the large radio antennas.

Breaking Attacks

Once an opponent starts beating on you, it's rather difficult to stop their onslaught. An easy way to keep yourself alive is by using a Super Block immediately followed by a Super Attack. The Super Block will push them back and give you an opportunity to knock them away with a projectile or a combo attack. You might want to also try mashing on the Throw button; most characters toss their opponents far across the ring and this may give you a chance to reset the match in your favor.

Ring Out!

By far the easiest way to defeat an opponent is by throwing a tank at his or her face a couple of times. Unfortunately, not all characters have this ability, so it might be better for you to just simply toss your opponent out of the ring. There are certain stages in both Story and Versus Mode where throwing your foes out of the ring will end the match immediately. To make things easier, learn your character's throw types; it helps if you know how high a thrown opponent will be thrown and which direction he or she will go. After a while, you'll be able to aim and toss your opponent directly over the side of the ring with ease.

CHARACTER NOTES

THE THING

★ No projectile attacks
★ Can pick up and move all objects, up to and including tanks and semi trucks

Best Use of Rage: Repeated Ground Pounds (Mobility + Special Attack + Attack)
Launcher: Mobility + Attack

The Thing is one of the strongest characters in Marvel Nemesis, and can utterly destroy other characters in a matter of seconds if played correctly. For a slower character, his launching attack is very fast, so try to use this as much as possible for damage and as an easy route for an air juggle afterward. The Thing is very resilient; he has the highest durability rating of all the playable characters except Iron Man, so don't be afraid to get in and take a few hits in order to do some damage. The Thing's main goal should be to get in and do slow, steady damage until he builds up Rage, then unload with repeated Ground Pound attacks.

WOLVERINE

★ No projectile attacks
★ Can run along walls using the Mobility button
★ Can use his claws (hold Special Attack) to attack even when he has no Super energy
★ Can pick up and move small objects, up to and including barrels and small crates
★ Regenerates health more quickly than any other character

Best Use of Rage: Repeated Special Attacks or launching attacks
Launcher: Mobility + Special Attack + Attack

Overall, Wolverine is just an average character. He doesn't have high strength or speed, but he does have some quick knockdown moves that can surprise your opponent. Wolverine is able to attack after running along a wall; use this move when getting chased by an opponent to catch them off guard for some easy damage. When his claws are extended, Wolverine's attacks are more damaging than his normal attacks, so try to attack with your claws as much as possible. Since Wolverine has no projectile attacks of an kind, try getting close to your opponent and using his Mobility + Attack move; it's a quick slide that knocks your opponent to the ground, allowing you to follow up with a ground attack.

THE WINK

★ No projectile attacks
★ Can teleport by pressing the Block button or the Mobility button
★ Can pick up and move small objects, up to and including barrels and small crates

Best Use of Rage: Repeated melee Special Attacks
Launcher: Third hit of normal attack combo

Although not very strong, The Wink is extremely nimble and agile. By repeatedly pressing the Mobility or Block buttons while moving around, The Wink can teleport from place to place throughout the stage, avoiding projectiles and most physical attacks. Your main goal with The Wink should be to randomly teleport around the area to confuse your opponent, then attack when least expected. Pressing the Attack button after using the Mobility button will cause The Wink to perform an extremely fast head-first spinning dive. This move isn't damaging, but it can be used to knock your opponent down, giving you enough time to reset the tempo of the fight.

JOHNNY OHM

★ Gains the ability to fly in Mobility mode
★ Can pick up and move small objects, up to and including barrels and small crates

Best Use of Rage: Repeated Electric Storm attacks (Mobility + Special Attack + Attack)
Launcher: Third hit of attack combo

When Johnny enters Mobility mode, he is able to move around the area very quickly; always save a small amount of Super energy to run away in a pinch. His Lightning Bolt projectile doesn't do much damage and takes up a good chunk of Super energy, so try not to use it too often and only to push your opponents back. On the other hand, his Electric Storm attack does a high amount of damage, so use this whenever you have Super energy. Ohm's Shock Throw (Special Attack + Throw) is also highly damaging and should be one of your main techniques for whittling down your opponent's health.

DAREDEVIL

★ Can swing through the stage with his billy club by pressing the Mobility button after jumping
★ Is able to run along walls using the Mobility button
★ Can use his billy club (hold Special Attack) to attack even when he has no Super energy
★ Can pick up and move small objects, up to and including barrels and small crates

Best Use of Rage: Repeated ranged Special Attacks
Launcher: Third hit of attack combo, Mobility + Special Attack + Attack

Like Spider-Man, Daredevil is fast and agile and should be played as a hit-and-run character. Daredevil can use his billy club as a short-range projectile attack (Special Attack + Attack). This move is very fast and does decent damage...and Daredevil recovers fairly quickly from it, so you can spam it multiple times in a row to put the hurt on your opponent. His Spinning Kick (Mobility + Attack) is similar to Elektra's, and can be used pretty freely to catch your opponent off guard and knock them down. Daredevil can throw his opponents by using his billy club from a long distance (Special Attack + Throw). Use this throw often to keep your opponent from trying to rush you down.

ELEKTRA

★ Can run along walls using the Mobility button
★ Can use her sai (hold Special Attack) to attack even when she has no Super energy
★ Can pick up and move small objects, up to and including barrels and small crates

Best Use of Rage: Repeated ranged Special Attacks
Launcher: Mobility + Special Attack + Attack, fourth hit of attack combo

Like Wolverine, Elektra doesn't stand out from the rest of the cast when it comes to power or speed advantages. Her attack speed is above par, though, and she is one of the few characters in the game with a four-hit attack combo. Elektra's sai projectiles do average damage, but she recovers from throwing them very quickly; couple this with the low amount of Super energy you need to throw them and you can apply continuous pressure by tossing them out pretty much whenever you want. Elektra's Flying Kick (Mobility + Attack) is useful for getting close to opponents quickly and knocking them down, and her throw is also good for clearing some space in between you and your opponent.

SPIDER-MAN

★ Can climb on walls using the Mobility button when close to a wall
★ Can Web Swing through the stage by pressing the Mobility button after jumping
★ Is able to pull objects into his hands by using Special Attack + Throw
★ Can pick up and move large objects, up to and including cars and large crates

Best Use of Rage: Repeated ranged Super Attacks
Launcher: Fourth hit of attack combo

Spider-Man is nimble and surprisingly strong; he's one of the most well-rounded characters in the game. His four-hit combos and throws take off a decent amount of health, while his web projectiles are fairly fast and don't require much Super energy to use. Spidey's Missile Kick (Mobility + Attack) is a very useful attack and can be used in any situation to knock the opponent down. His Web Swing is great for getting away from opponents in a pinch, or it can be used as a means to run away and give Spidey time to regenerate health when necessary. Your main goal with Spider-Man should be to use his speed and agility to move around, then pummel your opponent with a quick four-hit combo or a Web Shot or two to cause damage.

STORM

★ Gains the ability to fly in Mobility mode
★ Can pick up and move small objects, up to and including barrels and small crates

Best Use of Rage: Repeated Lightning Ball attacks (Mobility + Special Attack + Attack)
Launcher: Third hit of attack combo

Storm is a highly mobile character and is most effective when fighting enemies from a distance. As with some of the other characters, she moves very fast when flying; use this to your advantage by always trying to stay on the opposite side of the screen, away from your opponent. Her Lightning Strikes cannot be blocked unless the opponent is using a Super Block, and while they're not very damaging, these attacks can be extremely annoying. Storm also has the ability to throw her opponents from a distance by using Special Attack + Throw. This throw causes quite a bit of damage and also knocks the opponent to the other side of the screen.

FAULT ZONE

★ No projectile attacks
★ Is able to run along walls using the Mobility button
★ Can pick up and move large objects, up to and including cars and large crates

Best Use of Rage: Repeated melee Special Attacks
Launcher: Attack after a dodge

Fault Zone's very unique fighting style may seem a bit strange at first, but she is a force to be reckoned with. Since she doesn't have an instant launching attack like the other characters, you will have to rely mainly on her Special Attacks and throws for damage. Her Special Attacks are among the more powerful attacks in the game; a full three-hit Special Attack combo will usually drain an opponent's health bar by 25% or more. For this reason, your main goal should be to build your Rage meter as fast as possible by using repeated attack combos.

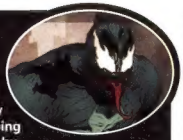
HUMAN TORCH

★ Gains the ability to fly in Mobility mode
★ Can pick up and move small objects, up to and including barrels and small crates

Best Use of Rage: Repeated ranged Special Attacks
Launcher: Attack after a dodge

The Human Torch is actually one of the fastest characters in the game, both on the ground and in the air. Use his speed to your advantage by playing a hit-and-run game. Get in quickly by flying over to your opponent, hit them with a quick combo and follow it up with a ranged Special Attack to do damage. The Human Torch's projectiles don't cause too much damage, but he can toss them pretty quickly. Using Mobility + Special Attack + Attack will toss a larger, more damaging fireball at your opponent, but be aware that this larger fireball drains Torch's Super energy meter quickly.

VENOM



★ Can climb on walls using the Mobility button when close to a wall
★ Can Web Swing through the stage by pressing the Mobility button after jumping
★ Is able to pull objects into his hands by using Special Attack + Throw
★ Can pick up and move all objects, up to and including tanks and semi trucks

Best Use of Rage: Repeated melee Special Attacks
Launcher: Third hit of normal attack combo

Venom plays similarly to Spider-Man and Hazmat, although he is stronger than both of them. One of Venom's best moves is his Spinning Drop Kick (Mobility + Attack). This attack knocks the opponent down, does a decent amount of damage and takes almost no Super energy. Venom is also pretty resilient; he can take a lot of damage and continue fighting. His attack speed is a bit slow, but he can be a tough opponent when he gets inside. Try to land as many three-hit combo attacks as possible, and follow them up with juggles or air throws.

IRON MAN

★ Gains the ability to fly while in Mobility mode
★ Gains the ability to fire Homing Missiles while in Mobility mode and using a Super Attack
★ Can pick up and move all objects, up to and including tanks and semi trucks

Best Use of Rage: Multiple ranged Super Attacks, firing homing missiles (Mobility + Super Attack + Attack)
Launcher: Third hit of normal attack combo

Iron Man is a tank in the true meaning of the word; he's a powerhouse when it comes to both dealing and taking damage. He is also one of the fastest characters in the game in mobility mode; use his speed to stay out of your opponent's reach and fight from a distance. Iron Man's melee attack speed is rather slow, so if you do get in close enough to throw some fisticuffs, try using an immediate air attack or a quick throw to give you some room to run away and recharge your Super energy. Your main strategy with Iron Man should be to build up your Rage meter, then unload with projectile attacks or Homing Missiles.

SOLARA

★ Gains the ability to fly in Mobility mode
★ Can pick up and move large objects, up to and including cars and large crates

Best Use of Rage: Repeated ranged Special Attacks
Launcher: Attack after a dodge

Solara doesn't have a normal launching attack, so if you want to beat down your opponent in the air, you'll need to do a lot of dodging and counterattacking. For a character who can pick up cars, she doesn't really do a lot of damage; for this reason, you'll probably want to concentrate on throwing projectiles and landing a few ground combos here and there. If you can line it up so that your opponent gets tossed into a wall or exploding barrel, Solara's Special Attack + Throw can also be very damaging. Her projectiles are fast, and her air projectile (Mobility + Special Attack + Attack) can be hard to avoid, so mix these up with random attacks from the air to keep your opponent guessing.

BRIGADE

★ Circuitry will malfunction randomly throughout the match and render him temporarily disabled for a few seconds
★ Can pick up and move all objects, up to and including tanks and semi trucks

Launcher: Mobility + Attack

Brigade can be pretty nasty; think of him as a robotic version of The Thing with the ability to shoot projectiles. His one-two punch combos hit pretty hard, and his throws take off a good amount of life. Brigade's projectiles do a decent amount of damage and he can fire them at a pretty good rate, so feel free to use these when you have extra Super energy. Brigade also has a damaging dual-burst projectile that he can fire (Mobility + Special Attack + Attack), but this attack is very slow and has a small startup time, so only use it when your opponent is immobilized.

MAGNETO

★ Gains the ability to fly in Mobility mode
★ Is able to pull objects into his hands by using Special Attack + Throw
★ When using Special Attack + Throw, can pick up and move all objects (except light poles), up to and including semi trucks and tanks

Best Use of Rage: Repeated ranged Super Attacks
Launcher: Attack after a dodge

Magneto's greatest strength lies in his ability to manipulate the environment; he can pick up pretty much anything in the stage from any distance and use it as a weapon. Since this really doesn't require much Super energy, you should do this often. Not only will it give you powerful projectiles to use, but it also has a great chance of hitting your opponent and damaging them if you manage to pull an object from behind them. Magneto also has the ability to throw his enemies from further distances than any other character in the game (by using Special Attack + Throw). Use this every so often to keep your opponent guessing as to what your next attack will be. Magneto's projectile is rather weak and doesn't cause a lot damage, but can be very useful if repeatedly thrown while he has a full Rage meter.

HAZMAT

★ Is able to climb on walls using the Mobility button when close to a wall
★ Can Web Swing through the stage by pressing the Mobility button after jumping
★ Is able to pull objects into his hands by using Special Attack + Throw
★ Can pick up and move large objects, up to and including cars and large crates

Best Use of Rage: Repeated ranged Super Attacks
Launcher: Mobility + Attack, third hit of normal attack combo

Hazmat is extremely similar to Spider-Man and should be played similarly. Although he's not as quick or as agile as Spider-Man, Hazmat makes up for this by doing a tad more damage than Spidey. Your main focus with Hazmat should be to get in and land a few hits, then use his Mobility-enabled running speed to retreat and fire a few projectiles...or pull nearby objects into his hands and throw them at the opponent. Like Spidey, Hazmat's Missile Kick (jump, then Mobility + Attack) is great for any situation and can easily be followed up by a projectile attack or an attack on the ground.

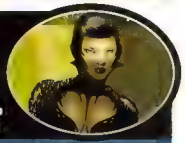
NILES VAN ROEKEL

★ Gains the ability to fly when in Mobility mode
★ Can pick up and move all objects, up to and including tanks and semi trucks

Best Use of Rage: Mobility mode and repeated ranged Super Attacks
Launcher: Second hit of punch, punch combo

Although somewhat slow and clumsy on the ground, Van Roekel's strength and speed in Mobility mode more than compensate for his lack of ground speed. His projectile attacks (both on the ground and in the air) are extremely damaging; use these along with his throws to deliver the majority of your damage. Since Van Roekel's attack speed is slow, try to land a punch-into-throw combo, or only use his melee combos when your opponent is wide open.

PARAGON



★ Can teleport by pressing the Block button or the Mobility button
★ Can pick up and move all objects, up to and including tanks and semi trucks

Best Use of Rage: Repeated ranged Super Attacks
Launcher: Third hit of normal attack combo

Paragon plays similar to The Wink, but she is stronger and faster. Paragon's strength and agility are her greatest assets; she is able to get close to opponents quickly and do a lot of damage within seconds. Teleporting around or dodging attacks and getting behind your opponents to throw them or hit them with a combo should be your main goal. Her projectile attack (Special Attack + Attack) emits a number of small "grenades" in a straight line that stick to the ground and explode a few seconds later, which is very useful for clearing small sections of enemies. Her Mobility attack is very damaging and makes her immune to attacks while teleporting, so use this often.

Before the term "gratuitous violence" became synonymous with the Grand Theft Auto series, there was Mortal Kombat. First introduced to arcades in 1992, this no-holds-barred affair took the fighting game genre, tore its arms from their sockets and ripped its spine out through the back.

The MK series not only showed gamers how violent a fighting game could be, it also introduced the world to Fatalities. Whether it was the aforementioned relieving an opponent of his backbone or removing one's own face to shoot fire from one's skull, the over-the-top, unapologetic nature of Mortal Kombat was an instant success.

While Midway didn't have much success straying from the one-on-one formula of the original 2-D fighter (Mythologies, anyone?), that hasn't stopped the company from branching off once again. Shaolin Monks is a 3-D adventure game, but fans of the series shouldn't freak out—there are plenty of familiar faces, places and, of course, Fatalities to make even the most hardcore MK fan feel comfortable.

With that in mind, this strategy guide won't tell you how to play the game—we're assuming you already know how to do that. What this guide offers is a walkthrough to get you through the single-player mode.

Strategy Guide

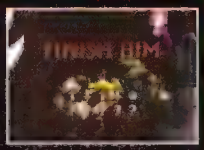
MORTAL KOMBAT SHAOLIN MONKS

ARE YOU EXPERIENCED?

Unlike traditional MK games, Shaolin Monks features a basic RPG system of strengthening your character. For every kill you rack up, you also acquire Experience Points, which you can use to "purchase" upgrades and new moves for your character. Be sure to upgrade early and often, as you'll find that things are much easier with more powerful attacks.

KOMBAT KONTROLS

You have four basic attacks at your disposal: Quick, Launch, Power and Throw. You can also execute Special attacks with the Modifier and pull off Fatalities, Multalities and Brutalities with the Fatality Attack button.



Quick

A Quick attack is a simple yet effective move that doesn't deal a lot of damage, but it can be performed very quickly, often in rapid succession.

Launch

Launch attacks are great because you can incapacitate an enemy and do some serious damage in a short amount of time. Once an enemy is launched, you can jump and perform a mid-air combo, or you can simply wait until your opponent comes down and launch him again. Launch attacks are more powerful than Quick attacks and are useful when fighting multiple enemies.

Power

Power attacks can dish out a lot of damage, but their downside is that they're generally slow moves. However, in some instances you must execute a Power move to defeat certain enemies, so you should definitely familiarize yourself with them. Power moves are best utilized when you're facing a single enemy and have plenty of health, as your opponent might strike before you're able to unload.

Throw

Throw attacks are great moves for clearing out an area, and can be combined with Launch attacks to put some serious hurt on an opponent.

Modifier

Use the Modifier when you want to pull off a Special attack. Each attack (Quick, Launch and Power) has several Special variants, which can be "purchased" with Experience Points.

ENERGY

Below your health bar is your Energy. When you use the Modifier or Block button, your Energy bar drains. There's no need to search for power-ups, though, as your Energy will replenish in a short amount of time.

ENVIRONMENT KILLS

While most Mortal Kombat competitors rely on their fists and feet to do their bidding, you might also find that your surrounding environment can be helpful—or even necessary—for your survival. And sometimes, environment kills are just downright fun for the whole family! So keep an eye on your surroundings.

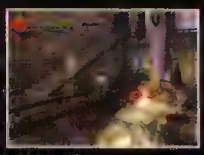
MAP OVERLAY

Without a compass to guide you, it's sometimes very easy to get lost and forget your place on the general map. Luckily, you can press Left or Right on the D-pad to bring up a map overlay that shows your location as well as any doors, save points and keys you need. This comes in very handy when you find yourself in the same place over and over; sometimes there's a door you may not have noticed.

DO YOU SMELL SMOKE?

You may notice something called "Smoke Missions" on the Stats screen. These are bonus missions that aren't integral to the overall story mode. If you opt to undertake—and complete—all five Smoke Missions, you'll be rewarded with a blast from the past (in terms of the MK universe). You can access the Smoke Missions from within the Living Forest.

SECRET ICONS

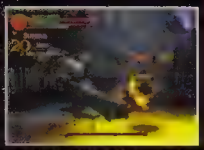


There are 68 secret icons scattered throughout the game—one for every area. Some are obvious, some are more difficult to find and some can't even be reached until you acquire certain skills. We've pointed out a few to get you started, but finding all 68 of them will be up to you!

WALKTHROUGH/STRATEGY

Shaolin Monks is divided into nine basic levels. Some maps are simple and linear, while others can be confusing and frustrating at times, which is why some sections of this guide will be short and others will be a little more involved.

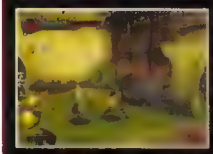
Goro's Lair



The opening level of the game is fairly straightforward. This is where you should figure out how and when to use your various moves (Quick, Launch, Attack, Throw). Your old friend Raiden will guide you through the basic set of moves, and you'll also acquire your first Fatality. When you're outside, drop down to the bottom to take on the Oni Warlord. After taking him (it?) down, you'll earn your first Ability: Long Jump. Give it a test run and finish the Mask Guards to open up the portal to the Wu Shi Academy, your home base.

Wu Shi Academy

Watch out for the wall spikes, and use them to your advantage. Head to the right (over the bridge), then go left (past the fire-breathing statue) and toss the Tarkata to break the barrier below. Go back down and to the left (past the broken barrier) and fling a Tarkata onto the spiked catapult above to break the next barrier. Once again, get past the fire-breathing statue and go left, using yet another Tarkata to knock the stack of boulders into another barrier. Head back down and around, using your platform-jumping skills to get across the spike pit (there are more fire-breathing statues here, too). Jump up onto the wall and on to the next section.



Run to the far path and go left to get into the next area. Follow Johnny Cage and defend him as he opens the various gates. Go back and grab a sword from the mini-armory and head back to Johnny. Run around the koi pond, jump up on the wall and use the sword to cut the ropes on the bowls of lava. Return to the koi pond, take a left and head down to the next part of the academy.

In the next area, you'll see two secret icons—but you can't access them yet. Simply head right to the next exit.

You've got to put out the fires in this area. Run around the fire on the left and jump over the flames on the right. This is the first of many "Test Your Might" (TYM) challenges.

Go back to where you came in and jump up to the roof, then onto the wall and go left (and up) to the next TYM. Rinse and repeat until all the fires are out (each mini cutscene will show you where to go next).

When all the fires are out, go back down and out the way you came into this area. In the next stage, go left and drop down. Take everyone out, including the Mask Guards. Raiden will give you a hand and introduce you to the Portal.

At the Portal, go to the right and then up, jumping over the gap. This will take you to the Evil Monastery.

Evil Monastery

In the first room, go upstairs and do the TYM on the left to activate the spikes down below. Go downstairs and toss an enemy onto each set of spikes to open the door. At the top of the stairs, use either an enemy or hat toss to break the first stained-glass window. Hit the medal with a hat toss to snag the secret icon.

Once you get outside, fight your way to the top of the temple. Put a hurt on Kitana—she'll bail after you get her health about halfway down.

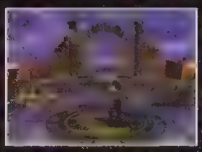
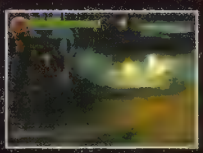
Welcome to your first boss battle. Even though you're facing three lovely ladies, focus your attention on Kitana for now. Attack her until the cutscene is triggered, then keep her pals away from the "control orbs" until another cutscene begins. Now it's time to dance with Jade and Mileena. Pound them both and try to get them to land in the "traps." Once they do, grab the lever and Test Your Might to punish them. When it's time, execute a fatality on Jade.



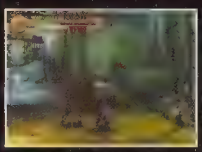
Grab the token for your second Platform Ability: Fist of Ruin. Head back down the outside of the monastery and use your new skill to get the statues blocking the Portal out of your way.

Head across the Portal to where Reptile just escaped. Take down the Shadow Priests and a walkway will appear, taking you to the Living Forest.

Living Forest



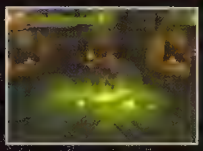
Watch out for the trees with faces on them; you'll need to "feed" them to complete the level. Toss an enemy to the first tree and defeat the rest to open a save point (at the top of the screen). The trees with the arms will mess you up if you get too close.



Use the Long Jump to clear the gap of vines. Take on the Brothers of Shadow, then jump to the ledge to get to the next area. Jump over the water (watch out for the giant sea snake if you fall in) and smash the Clay Soldiers. Before you can smash all of them, two will come to life. Use a Power attack to break their shields and then pummel them. Toss a Putrid Corpse to the living tree to get your second hint. This is where you can access the Smoke Missions. Throw one of the Clay Soldiers into the wall with the Yin-Yang symbol on it; the wall will break and reveal a hidden door (you can see it on your map overlay if you're not sure where it is).

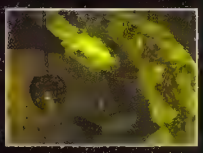
In the next area, hop across the stones toward the waterfall, then climb your way to the top and out. When you run into the water in the next area, four snakes will rise and you'll be trapped. Use the Putrid Corpses as snake food—toss them up near each snake. After you feed all four, the area will clear and you'll be allowed to pass. Go up to the next level and feed the last tree. Reptile's lair is now open for business.

In the first room, go to the center logo. You'll face three "lightning" rounds, where you have to smash moving statues. Once you complete the challenge, grab the coin, which gives you the Brutality. Give your new ability a test run and then head out the door to the right.

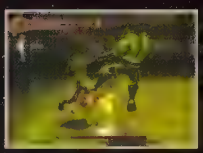


Run up the hallway. If you're low on health, smash the Clay Soldiers. This is also a good way to rack up some easy experience points.

The snake puzzle may look confusing, but it's simple once you figure out the snake's pattern. It's also worth noting that there are "safe" spots in each section (after you make the first jump in each). Use your Power attack to destroy each pillar until the snake goes down for the count.

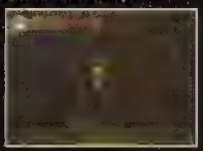


The first part of your boss battle with Reptile is pretty straightforward. Pound him a lot and block when he attacks. After a minute or so of toe-to-toe action, he'll transport to higher ground and fling projectiles your way. You can't follow him up there, but get as close as possible to the ledge he's on. He might clip you once or twice, but it's a lot better than trying to dodge the whole time.



When Reptile's health hits the halfway point, you'll see a little cutscene and things will get much more difficult. He's now invisible, although you can track his movement by his footsteps and projectiles; his head will also show up occasionally. Just keep moving and throwing punches. You'll connect eventually, and when you do, juggle him as much as possible for maximum damage. Repeat until it's time for the Fatality.

Your reward for defeating Reptile is the Wall Climb ability, which you'll use to get out of the level. Find the "weak" point of the snake's scales (look for the Interact icon to pop up), smash it and climb out.



On your way back out, remember to destroy the Clay Soldiers as needed; your health should be pretty much full by the time you reach the end of the hall.

When you come out of the lair, go past the living tree and jump over the vine pit. Use your new ability to climb the wall and grab the health upgrade. Next, work your way back to the very beginning of the level and head to the Portal.

Once you're back in the Portal, quickly go left and drop down into the gap, then climb up the pillar (watch out for the green-glowing skulls that will come flying at you). At the top, give the Shadow Priests a beating and take the Portal to the Soul Tombs.

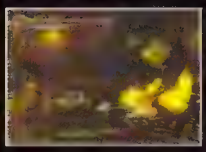
Soul Tombs

In the first room of the Soul Tombs, take the door with the red symbol above it. In the next room, take the door at the "top" (or to your character's right when you run in). Wall Climb in the next area and go to the left to get to the exit.

Once you're outside, jump over the spikes to get to the middle. Do the TYM challenge, but time it so that when you trigger it, the gate slams down on the Mask Guard. Do this three times and head back through the middle to the next area, where you'll find it a most opportune time to test out your newly-acquired Brutality.

In the next room, throw an enemy into the wall at the Yin-Yang symbol and the wall will crumble to reveal a token. Use your projectile attack to hit the token and release the secret icon. Now run over to the wheel and do the TYM challenge to open a door which you'll be headed to shortly.

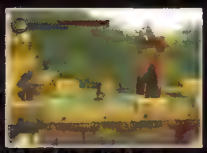
Go back three areas (room, outside, room) to the dungeon with three doors. Take the door to the left, where you may want to pull off a Multality or Brutality to get some health. You'll need it, because the next room will bring you face-to-face with the Oroch Hellbeast mini-boss.



Against the Hellbeast, you'll actually want to take out the Tarkata first to get the health orbs. Because if you don't, the Hellbeast will—and it will get the subsequent energy they "release." There are several ways to approach the Hellbeast, but the easiest and most efficient is to chuck the skulls strewn about the room, as they do more damage than most of your attacks.

Baraka Boss Battle

As in every other fight, blocking is important in this boss battle. Launch attacks work well here, and you can even slip in an occasional Power attack. Throughout the course of this battle, there will be three cutscenes. After the second one, use your projectile attack and avoid his. After a couple minutes of long-distance battle, he'll come back across. Grab one of the swords and go to town. When Baraka attacks, jump over him and slash him from behind. Eventually you'll lock swords and face a TYM challenge. When you complete it, use the Throw button to impale Baraka. Now grab the sword on the other side and repeat. After you've impaled him twice, activate the Fatality and finish him off.

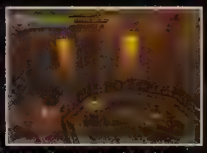


Use the just-opened Portal to get back to Wu Shi. Go across the courtyard, jump onto the roof and run back to the Fist of Ruin statue. Run to the end and drop down, then grab the flaming icon in front of the statue to obtain the Wall Run ability. Head back to the Portal and use your new skill to run up the pillar (back in the Soul Tombs) to get Wall Jump.

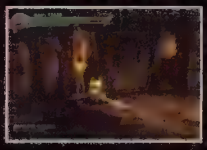
Get back to the Portal and go to the Portal Jump Spot (the second "door" from the left on the map). Use the Wall Run and Wall Jump to get up to the top level. Defeat all the enemies to open the walkway to the Wasteland.

Head back to the main "hub" of the Soul Tombs, where you'll see that a beam has been lit. (Interesting....) Now go through the door with the green symbol above it. In this next room, defeat all the enemies and head out.

Now go left and outside, then make your way across—but watch out for flying boulders and radioactive skulls. Run through the next area and over to the door on the left. Use whatever means necessary to get an enemy up into the spikes of the "chandelier," which will cause it to drop down. Destroy the Shadow Priest statue on the left and go down the hall to grab a secret icon. Go back out and jump up on the chandelier to get up and out of the room.



Run around and go up the stairs, then jump onto the chandelier above the fan, where you'll be joined by the welcoming committee. Toss (or knock) them off the side, where a well-placed shot will fracture the fan and send a blade into the wall—a perfect platform for jumping. Jump across and go around to the large button on the floor, which activates a quick cutscene.



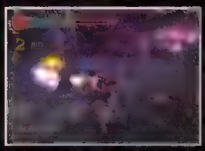
Go back, out and across the "platforming" bridge, then run to the far side of the room and grab the sword that's lying on the ground. Slash the torture victims in front of the decorated door to the far left and head into the Soul Tombs.

Defeat all the enemies in here, and if you still have the sword, chuck it. Run up to the Tombs and use the Fist of Ruin to destroy them—four or five hits should do the trick. Go back to the "hub" room, where both beams are now lit to reveal a new exit. Welcome to Baraka's clubhouse.

Wasteland

Grab the sword and then head to the wall on the far left for a Wall Climb. Go to the right, run past the bridge and Wall Climb/jump up. Destroy the pile of bodies blocking the doorway with a couple of slashes and head in. Watch out for the rolling boulders and get to the ladder. Repeat the process until you get to the top and trigger a cutscene.

Grab the hook swords that Kabal dropped and head back down (remember to watch out for the boulders going down, too). Cross the bridge and go to the far left to pick up a health upgrade. Slash through the bodies blocking the doorway and go in to face the Elemental Knights.



You can't defeat the Knights by traditional means. Luckily, Raiden shows up to give you a hand. Knock each Knight into the pool of blood, where Raiden will take care of them with a lightning strike. Once all the Knights are fried, head over to the TYM station and complete the challenge.

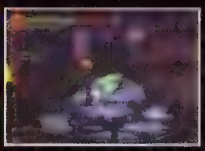
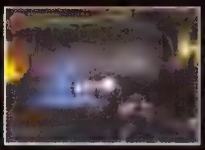
Go down to the door that opens when you emerge and get ready to square off against a very bitter Sub-Zero. Block like crazy and use your projectile attack as often as possible. The skull lying on the ground also does considerable damage, although you can't block when you're holding it. Try to get him in the air and juggle him as long as possible. After you get his health down low, you'll trigger a cutscene.



Hop on the boat with your new buddy, start whoopin' on Putrid Corpses and don't stop until you reach your destination. Now jump off the boat. When you get to the doorway, head left, do a Wall Run (at an angle) and jump onto the lion statue for a secret icon. Jump back down and use the Fist of Ruin to clear the way.

Throw several enemies onto the spiked wheel to literally spill some blood, and then defend Sub-Zero while he creates a morbid ladder. Get to the top and jump over the wheel to snag a secret icon.



In the next room, wait for Sub-Zero to freeze the wall, then Wall Run across. You'll find a token in the lower right corner, where you can use a projectile to get the icon.

Goro Boss Battle

Keep your distance from Goro and use your projectile attack in combination with a sliding/rolling attack (run and Quick attack). After he grabs the pillar, you'll definitely want to stay away, and be ready to jump when he slams the pillar down. Just keep pounding away with the projectile attack until you get the Fatality prompt. Grab the token to unlock Double Jump.

The Dead Pool

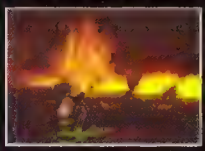
After you leave Goro's cold, dead body, head back out and across the chasm (where Sub-Zero froze the wall) and then jump into the Portal to go to the Dead Pool. All you need to do here is to throw five Bloody Skeletons onto the hooks hanging above. Once you do, run to the end of the walkway, grab the icon and test out your new ability in the next room.

Back at the Portal hub, drop down two levels and use the Swing ability to get to the top level on the left side. After you beat down the Shadow Priests, run down the walkway and head into the Netherrealm.

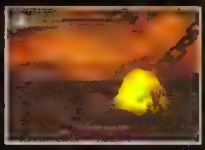
The Netherrealm

There's no secret to getting through the Netherrealm. Your focus here is on Scorpion. Unfortunately, he's got the home field advantage, so you'll have to watch out for both him and the environment. You can ignore the corpses and skeletons that fall from the sky; just keep running until your first showdown with your not-so-gracious host (that's right, there will be several).

Use a lot of blocking and try to work those combos as much as possible. After you get his health about halfway down, he takes off. (How do they always know when they're half-dead?) Work your way across the lava pits (use your Double Jump and Wall Climb if you need to), then head down the stairs.



Scorpion will conduct a "fire orchestra" from above (you can't reach him), so keep an eye on the ground—it will light up right before the fire comes up. Dodge his advances and get ready for him to sling his spear down. When he does, grab it and get ready to Test Your Might. Success means you'll yank him down to your level, where you can pummel him until he goes back up top. After yanking him down three or four times, he should be ripe for a sweet Fatality.



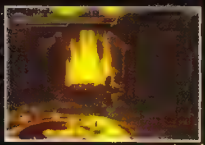
But you're not quite done with Scorpion yet, because you have to beat him twice: first as regular, old Scorpion and then as Inferno Scorpion. Inferno Scorpion will stay on your level for the fight, but he can also conjure fire, so be careful. And his spear attacks are much more dangerous, so this isn't an easy fight. Just keep your distance, move in for quick attacks and use your blocking and projectiles as much as possible. After you execute your Fatality on Inferno Scorpion, keep an eye out for a tongue-in-cheek homage to the governor of California.

Foundry

Go into the cave on your right and watch for the fire shooting up from the grates. Get to the wheel for a TYM challenge and pay attention to what happens when you succeed. Go back to the main cave and up the ramp. Head down the hallway on the left (watch out for the giant wrecking balls) and get to the next TYM station.

You've now opened the gate to get to the final boss battle, but you're not quite ready yet. Go back to the main cave and down the middle, all the way to the exit.

In the next room there are four doors, but right now only one is open. You can't see it from the entrance, but if you jump onto the square stone platform that's third from the left, you'll be able to cross to the other side and go through the open door.



Throw two enemies onto the bonfire to trigger a tiny cutscene. (They'll keep respawning, so don't worry if you kill one before you're able to get him onto the fire.) Next, head through the door on the right.

In the next room you'll face off against another Orochi Hellbeast and two Demon Generals. Don't be seduced by the Hellbeast's charm, though—you should just ignore it and focus on the Generals. What you need to do is toss one onto each of the hooks hanging from the ceiling (there are only two). This doesn't sound too difficult, but with the Hellbeast breathing fire and lighting itself up while the Generals throw flames your way, it's not as simple as it sounds.

After you've impaled the Generals, climb up the pillar that rises from the ground, go to the right and Double Jump over the lava to the TYM station. Jump back over and watch out for the two Demon Generals. Either eliminate them, chuck them over the side or simply ignore them completely. To get to the next door, you'll need to execute a Wall Run (at an angle) followed immediately by a Wall Jump. This can be a little tricky, but falling into the lava doesn't do too much damage if you fall. (Also try not to run into the wall of spikes.)

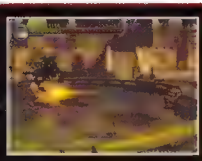
Go through the next room and out the door, and you'll find yourself back in the "main hall." Go back across to the main entrance and then Wall Climb up the left side and go through the open door.

Ahhhh...finally, the big payoff: the battle axe you'll need to access the final boss arena. Complete the TYM challenge, grab the axe and take it for a test drive on the enemies who show up. Head back out the door and exit this hall completely, back to the original cave.

Shang Tsung

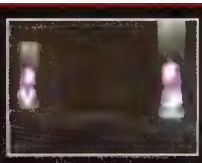
This is actually four boss battles in one, as Shang Tsung will transform into Sub-Zero, Reptile, Johnny Cage and back to himself throughout the fight. When you see him transforming, be ready to nail him with your projectile attack as soon as the transformation is complete. Then get in his face and combo and juggle as much as possible. Be wary of each character's special attacks, and you shouldn't have too much trouble beating Shang Tsung with most of your health intact.

Kintaro

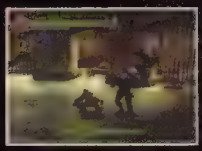


This is probably the easiest boss battle in the entire game, if you know what you're doing. Kintaro isn't the fastest fella on the planet, so if you can stay behind him, he won't give you any trouble. Keep your distance and pummel him with your projectile attack while dodging his fireball attacks. After nailing him with a projectile, do a running Quick attack, immediately followed by another projectile. By the time Kintaro turns around to take a swipe, you're already on the opposite side of the arena. Every so often he'll get really mad and do a series of four or five jump attacks. You'll know when this is happening because you won't see him on the screen, and there's a distinctive sound he makes when he jumps. The best way to avoid getting slammed is to do a Double Jump when he jumps. Then continue to pummel him. The Fatality on Kintaro is one of the best in the game.

Go up the ramp, take a right and go all the way through the cave until you reach the giant crystals. One good Power Attack on each should do the trick. Introduce the handful of enemies to your new best friend, and then head through the door...to your destiny!!!



After the cutscene, you'll see two prisoners on either side of the hallway. You'll find a save point to the left, and Kitana in the cell to the right. Go up to Kitana's cell and interact with her several times. The door to the right will open and you'll face a few guards.

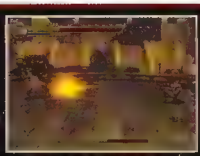


Go into the chamber to square off against Kano. You'll have some help (as well as a distraction), but the bulk of the work will fall on your shoulders. When Jax is doing his thing, don't waste energy trying to double-team him; it doesn't work. Just stay defensive and get in as many combos as you can. After Kano goes down, you'll get a health upgrade and a health power-up (which you'll use later).

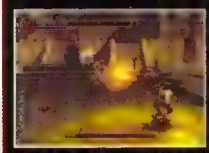
Final Boss Battle

This is it: the final showdown...or is it showdowns? To finish the game, you need to defeat three bosses with one life. The key is to conserve as much health as possible with the first two battles, as they're relatively easy. You'll see the health power-up that Jax gave you, but you should save it until the final fight. After you defeat each boss, a small health power-up will appear, so keep that in mind.

Shao Khan



With Kintaro and the rest of the undercard out of the way, it's time for the main event: Shao Khan. Since this is the absolute, final boss fight, it's a tough one. Actually, the first half isn't too bad. Khan will use two basic attacks: a shoulder charge and a projectile. Avoid both and clock him with your own projectile attack. Actually, what does the most damage in one blow is Kintaro's head, which you'll find lying in the ring. Just be careful when trying to pick it up, and make sure Khan is far enough away that you'll have time to get it. After you get Khan's health down to about 50%, you'll see a cutscene and then you'll have to face him while he wields a giant battle hammer.



In the latter half of this fight, the key is to stay as far away from Khan as possible and nail him with your projectile attack. Now is also a good time to finally activate the health power-up from Jax—you'll need it. Eventually Khan will go into a spin attack that is impossible to stop. The best way to handle it is to Double Jump when he gets close, and then do an air attack. You'll probably get hit a couple times, but it shouldn't be too bad. Repeat this process (and don't forget about Kintaro's head) until Khan is defeated.

SECRET BOSS BATTLES

Ermac—Wu Shi Academy

First up is Ermac, whom you'll find in the warrior shrine at the Wu Shi Academy. You'll need the Swing ability to access the shrine, which you get after defeating Goro in the Wasteland. Go to the part of the Academy that looks like intestines on the map and head for the far door. Don't try to get in through the shrine's front door, though. Go to the left, jump up the wall and swing across the bamboo jungle gym. Once you interact with the statue, the door will open and you can proceed. In the shrine, go to the statue on the far left and interact with it three times to activate the battle. Get ready to be double-teamed!

Mileena—Living Forest

You'll also need the Swing ability to reach Mileena. In the Living Forest, go to the first save statue and jump up to grab the branch. Swing your way up and onto a ladder on the tree. Once you're at the top, simply work your way across all the bridges until you reach the end. You'll come across several enemies along the way, but it's not necessary to take them on. Oh, and in this boss fight you'll get triple-teamed—enjoy!

SECRET FATALITIES

Most of the Fatalities can be seen in the Concept Art section of the Kontent menu after you find certain Koins in the story mode, but we've found four secret Fatalities that the game will never tell you about. Are there any more? Only Midway knows for sure.

Kung Lao's Secret Fatality	←, ↑, →, →, Quick
Liu Kang's Secret Fatality	↓, ←, →, ↑, Quick
Johnny Cage's Secret Fatality	↑, ←, ←, ←, Quick
Reptile's Secret Fatality	↑, ↑, →, ←, Quick

MORE UNLOCKABLES

- If you finish the Single Player game as Kung Lao, you'll unlock Sub-Zero in Single Player and Ko-op.
- If you finish the Single Player game with Liu Kang, you'll unlock Scorpion for Single Player and Ko-op.
- Complete all five Smoke Mileena to unlock Mortal Kombat II in the Kontent menu.

And if you're too lazy or unskilled to do any of the above, check out our PlayStation 2 Tips and Xbox Tips in this issue for some cheat codes....

VERSUS MODE CHARACTERS

Besides Kung Lao and Liu Kang, there are six other characters you can use in Versus Mode. They can be unlocked by finding specific secret icons in the Single Player game. Here's how:

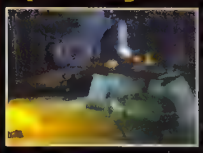
Johnny Cage—Wu Shi Academy

You'll find Cage's icon in the burning section of the Academy. Jump onto the roof of the pagoda that's been destroyed by a spiked boulder. Go to the right and jump across the gap, into a covered area. Grab the icon and do a nut punch to celebrate.

Kitana—Evil Monastery

Go to the area where you performed your first Multality (in front of the Shadow Priest). Double Jump onto one of the taller broken pillars to the right of the Priest, then jump onto the "roof" to your left where you'll find the icon.

Reptile—Living Forest

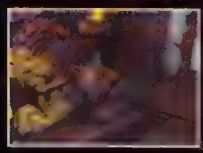


In the third area of the Forest, toss one of the "living" Clay Soldiers into the rudimentary stone pillar (on the other side of the stream), which acts as a dam and stops the water flow. Now go back to the second area and drop down to where the water was and grab the icon to unlock Reptile.

Baraka—Soul Tombs

From the main "hub" in the Soul Tombs, go through the door with the red symbol above it and take the middle door in the next room. Do a Wall Climb and take a right. Use the Fist of Ruin on the statue and get to the end of the stairs. Jump across to the small ledge and grab the icon.

Sub-Zero—Wasteland



When you're fresh off the boat (after going toe-to-toe with Sub-Zero), go up the stairs and take a left, behind the giant lion statue. Double Jump onto the lion's back and you'll see the icon.

Scorpion—Foundry

Pokémon XD Gale of Darkness

Top 10 Tips

We just got our hands on Pokémon XD: Gale of Darkness as this issue was going to press, so we didn't have time to play through it and give it the Tips & Tricks royal treatment. Fortunately, our friends at Nintendo provided us with a list of 10 helpful tips at the last minute. According to the folks who made the game, these are the important points and secrets that should be of most interest to Tips & Tricks readers:

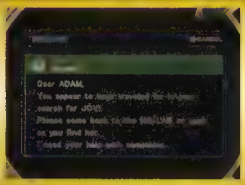
As you receive E-mails throughout the game, be sure to closely read them all. Many of them contain important information about things you need to do.



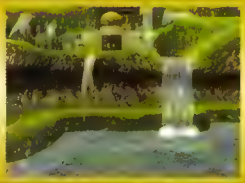
Mt. Battle is a great place to level up your Pokémon and to work at purifying your Shadow Pokémon as you make your way through the many battles. Take advantage of it as soon as possible in the game.

If you're trying to snag a Shadow Pokémon and you mistakenly make it faint, don't worry—you can still capture that Shadow Pokémon later on in the game.

When you are given the choice of evolving Eevee, choose wisely. Although any one of its evolutions will work fine, think about how you want your main Pokémon team to battle, and evolve it based on that.

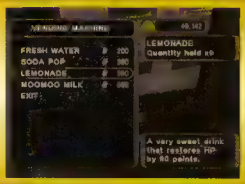
Try clearing all 100 Mt. Battle trainers without losing and without changing your party Pokémon. You'll get a reward for your efforts.

Not all of the Shadow Pokémon are in Cipher's possession. Be sure to explore and talk to everyone.



Keep as many Shadow Pokémon in your party as possible; doing so will help speed up the purification process as you walk around and battle.

When it's time to purchase healing items, don't forget about the vending machine in Pyrite Town. Lemonades have the best HP for your Pokédollar late in the game. However, you'll want to make sure to have a few potions of the appropriate kind on standby to max out your HP in one turn.



If you beat a Colosseum more than once, you can earn some extra TMs.

Pokémon that have had their hearts closed will not learn all the moves of a regular Pokémon. Don't forget to take purified Shadow Pokémon to Mt. Battle's Move Teacher to find out what moves they've missed.

BATTLE RACING IGNITED BURNOUT REVENGE

Strategy Guide by Pat Reynolds

Last year's Burnout 3: Takedown set a new standard for high-speed, adrenaline-fueled racing games. Developer Criterion has gone a step further with the follow-up, Burnout Revenge. Where Burnout 3 focused on different classes of cars (from the lowly coupe series to the high-powered Supers), Revenge is less about the cars (although there are a lot of cool ones to be found) and more about the courses on which they run amok. Each route has been painstakingly designed to let crafty drivers find shortcuts and alternate paths, not to mention setting Takedown traps for the other drivers. Not content to let the various types of racaes remain the same, Criterion has also polished, streamlined and tweaked all of the race types for maximum fun and playability. This guide will focus on these courses, giving you the tips you'll need to fly past the competition and grab the gold in every type of event. We'll also show you how to unlock all 79 vehicles in the game!

BURNOUT CRASH COURSE

Although it's inconceivable to me that any gamer hasn't played Burnout 3, let's assume that at least a couple of readers managed to miss what was arguably the greatest arcade-style racing game ever made. Here are some pointers on the basic concepts of the Burnout series.

Takedowns

Central to Burnout Revenge is the Takedown—the art of causing other cars to wipe out and crash in a variety of entertaining ways. You can slam into them to send them piling into a wall, traffic or immobile obstacle. You can nudge civilian traffic into opponents. You can drop your car on top of an opponent while landing from a big jump. You can even psych out some drivers, causing them to lose control and take themselves out just by driving erratically near them! Taking out the other racers gives you two bonuses (aside from the giddy feeling you get from transforming another vehicle into a smoking wreck): It sets that driver back a few seconds, and it increases your Boost meter as well as filling it completely. What's Boost all about? Read on!

Boost

Your Boost meter appears in the lower left corner of the screen. It starts out pretty small, but increases in size, up to four times, as you perform Takedowns on the other drivers. Holding the Boost button increases your speed, lets you slam into other vehicles with more power and makes your Crashbreaker explosions mightier. You'll slowly lose Boost as you hold the button. To increase your Boost, you'll need to drive recklessly—you get Boost for staying in the oncoming traffic lanes and/or performing crazy maneuvers like long drifts, catching big air, slamming into other cars and drafting the other racers (sticking right behind them). You'll lose a section of your Boost meter if you crash or get taken out, but you can keep your full meter (and refill it) if you can cause your wrecked chassis to collide with or destroy one or more rivals.

Aftertouch

When you crash, you'll be able to hold the Boost button and steer your wreck for a few seconds. This is called Aftertouch. It allows you to attempt to position yourself in front of another racer and cause him to crash into your vehicle, scoring an Aftertouch Takedown. This type of Takedown acts just like any other—it adds to your Boost meter if possible and completely refills it, even though you just wiped out. Any time you crash, do whatever it takes to score an Aftertouch Takedown so you can get back into the race with full Boost and at least one opponent eating your dust.

Drifting

Drifting is a maneuver that takes your car sideways into and through a turn, maintaining high speed and staying near the middle of the road. It's an essential skill to master in Burnout Revenge, as it will often let you pull ahead of your rivals if they're not as efficient at taking turns. To enter a drift, release the accelerator and tap the brake as you approach the turn. Now jam back on the accelerator and steer hard in the direction of the turn to drift. You'll continue to drift until you release the accelerator, at which point your car should "snap back" into a forward motion coming out of the turn. Different vehicles handle drift in different ways. Some lighter cars will begin to drift automatically at high speeds when you begin a sharp turn, while others have a tendency to not drift but are generally easier to control during the turn. Find a vehicle that handles in a way you like and stick with it for the best results.

WHAT'S NEW?

Although there are a lot of similarities between Burnout Revenge and Burnout 3, you'll find some things that are completely new. Here's a breakdown of the new features and how to use them to your best advantage.

Traffic Check

The single biggest change to the Burnout formula is the ability to slam into traffic that's heading in the same direction as your car. This maneuver (called "checking" for its resemblance to the practice of hurtling into opposing players in hockey) lets you do two things that weren't possible in Burnout 3. First, you no longer have to worry about most traffic in the non-oncoming lanes. You'll need to watch out for big rigs and buses, as they're immune to checking and will wreck you if you plow into them, but anything else is fair game. You'll take a slight hit to your speed when you check another car, but it's not major and you gain some boost for it.

Second, you can now directly use traffic to perform Takedowns on the other racers. If you check a vehicle and it slams into another driver, you'll get Takedown credit for it. This lets you take out cars that are too far ahead of you to slam into directly! If you find yourself falling behind in a race, start checking traffic like crazy; some of it is bound to hit your rivals up ahead.

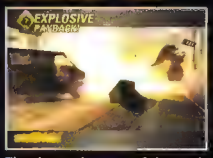
Crashbreaker Events



No longer reserved only for Crash modes, the Crashbreakers can be armed in races and Road Rage sessions now, beginning with the Rank 5 events. When you crash, you can cause your car to explode, taking out nearby vehicles, including other racers. The size and power of the explosion varies—every car has a Crashbreaker rating that tells you how much punch it packs when it goes boom, and you'll get a bit more area of effect depending on how much boost you have left when you explode. Using a Crashbreaker completely drains your boost meter, but as long as you take out at least one opponent in the blast, it'll fill right back up again, putting you back on the road with a full meter and ahead of at least one sucker who drove too close to your wreck.

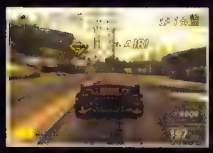
If you can time things just right, it's possible to take out multiple opponents with a single Crashbreaker. You can often get Double, Triple or even 4-Way Payback...and if you crash while in the lead with all five other racers close behind and grouped up, you can get "Total Payback!" by wiping all of them out in one massive blast!

Vertical Takedowns

A new type of Takedown, the Vertical Takedown requires you to grab some big air off of a ramp or other obstacle and bring your car down on top of another racer. Because it's nearly impossible to actually plan this move in advance, it's one of the rarest—and most spectacular—tricks in the game.

Shortcuts

In Burnout 3 the race tracks were linear—a single line from start to finish with only the twists and turns to distinguish them from one another. In Revenge, you'll find loads of hidden paths and shortcuts on every course. While the rest of the pack scrambles for second place, the driver waiting at the finish line is the one who can hit these shortcuts every time.



All of the shortcuts are indicated by blue lights on either side of the openings that lead into them. Keep your eyes open for these lights and point your car between them to hit the shortcut. In many cases, taking a shortcut is dangerous; they tend to be narrow strips of road with one or more obstacles to block your way. If you want to take advantage of the time you'll save by hitting the shortcuts, you'll need to also learn the locations of the obstacles in each one so you can avoid them.

Revenge Rivals

When you get taken out by an opponent, he is immediately flagged as a Revenge Rival; the marker above his car will turn red. Now any normal slam you perform against this car becomes a Revenge move instead of a normal one. It's possible to have multiple Revenge Rivals in the race at the same time.

Take down your Revenge Rival to earn a Revenge Takedown. Many of the course challenges in the game require you to perform one or more Revenge Takedowns in a race.

Revenge Rank

As you complete events and move through the World Tour mode, you'll earn stars. When you collect enough stars, you'll increase your Revenge Rank. You start at Rank 1: Harmless and can progress all the way through ten additional ranks to reach the coveted Elite rank. Each rank (except Elite) unlocks a new set of events, and each set of events is progressively more difficult. If you can reach Elite rank, you'll be rewarded with a special car; check the vehicle unlocking table later in this guide for more info

EVENT TYPES

As you progress through the game, you'll need to master several different types of events. This section will show you strategies for each event type and give you tips to maximize your scores so you can bring home those gold medals.

Race

This is the basic event type of the game—a six-man race to the finish line, with a variable number of laps depending on the course. All Takedown rules apply, and you'll win a medal for finishing in the top three. Do whatever it takes to increase your boost meter early, learn the shortcut locations and stay in the lead. In a typical race you don't have to worry too much about taking out the other drivers; just staying ahead of the pack will net you the biggest rewards here. It's important to note that the ability of your rivals, and the quality of their vehicles, improves as you rise in Rank. Going back to Rank 1 events when you've earned higher ranks will still give you a good challenge because all of your rivals will be driving much more powerful cars than they were back when you were Rank 1.

Traffic Attack

Traffic Attack is a new type of event that lets you get a ton of practice at checking civilian traffic. The goal here is to slam your car into as much same-direction traffic as possible; it's kind of like an ongoing Crash mode where you're trying to rack up as much damage as you can before running out of time. Don't worry about using a lot of boost or maintaining a very high speed—control is more important in these events. You need to be able to steer into as many vehicles as possible, and if you're speeding around the track you'll miss a lot of prime targets.

Time is precious in Traffic Attack events—you don't start with a lot of it, and it's always running down. You'll add a little bit of time to the clock with each car you check, and you'll get a lot more time if you can create long strings of crashes. Try for "trick shots" by checking cars at an angle to send them careening into oncoming traffic or other vehicles.

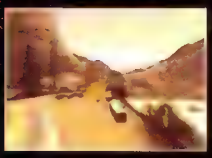
If you can stay on the road long enough to complete a lap, your second lap of the course pays double on all damage you cause! In some of the later Traffic Attack events, this is the only way to hit the big numbers necessary to win the gold. Driving in the oncoming lane doesn't pay in Traffic Attack, and neither do most shortcuts, since they seldom have traffic. Keep your car in the most densely populated sections of the course as often as possible to rack up the most points.

Road Rage

Road Rage hasn't changed much from Burnout 3. Your job is to take out as many of the marked cars as possible within the time limit. You'll earn more time after taking out a certain number of cars in these events, so you can keep going indefinitely if you can wreck enough vehicles. Unlike the other types of events, it's possible to total your car in Road Rage, ending your run even if there's time left. Each crash you suffer damages your car, and when you get the "Damage Critical" warning on the screen, one more crash will end the event.

Crash

Crash events have gotten the biggest overhaul since the last Burnout game. This time each Crash Junction is tailor-made for vehicular carnage, and because of this, the goals are set much higher than before. Gone are the icons to collect during the event, replaced by a focus on precision placement of your vehicle into a target zone to cause the most damage. Here's a breakdown of how the new Crash mode works and what you'll need to do for the big payoff.

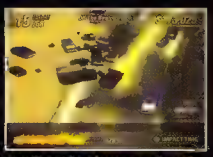


Start each Crash event by paying careful attention to the Crash Camera fly-by of the area. It usually shows you the best path to follow through the route as well as the ideal landing zone for your vehicle, and you can often see areas where you'll be able to rack up collateral damage in addition to the main flow of traffic. If you miss anything, the Crash Camera is available to replay before you start the event.

To get going, you'll need to stop the bar twice on a power meter, once at the high end and then again at the low. Getting the bar as close to the end as possible on both ends will give you a perfect start, sending you screaming off the line at top speed. Anything less and you'll drive off at a lower speed...and if you mess up the meter, your car might even explode in place, earning you the jeers of the crowd.

Once you get moving, head for the ramp or target zone. A great way to increase your score is to check vehicles in your lane and try to send them into oncoming or parked cars. This will get your score moving even before you reach the main event, and it might trigger small pockets of pile-ups as well.

Most Crash events have one or more ramps to hit. When you're airborne, use Aftertouch to direct your vehicle in midair. Check the wind indicator in the lower right corner and steer to compensate for its effects. Strong winds can move your vehicle of course—if you're having trouble controlling your direction in the air because of the wind, restart the event and pick a heavier vehicle.



Slam your car into the target zone (the area with the heaviest traffic flow). In many cases this will be a section of expressway or highway with traffic moving in both directions. Try to get wrecked cars into both lanes. This is easier with heavier vehicles than with lighter ones—often you can plow right into the side of a car and push it across multiple lanes of traffic. Use Aftertouch to steer your wreck into a good position to stop as much traffic as possible.

As vehicles slam into the pile-up you've created, your Crash-breaker meter will slowly fill. When it's full, jam on the button to detonate your car, sending nearby wrecks flying in all directions. Your car will become airborne and gain some velocity, allowing you to steer it into a new position. Use this opportunity to crash into any undamaged vehicles nearby or to move it onto a fresh lane where you can cause a secondary pile-up.

Each Crash event has a Target vehicle somewhere in the area. You can usually spot this car during the fly-by, but not always. Sometimes it will take trial and error to figure out where it's going to appear. Catching the target car in the wreckage earns you a big bonus and is often the key to scoring gold in these events.

Eliminator

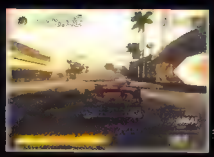
Eliminator is a race to stay out of last place. When the race begins, a 30-second timer begins counting down. When it runs out, the car in last place is eliminated and a new timer begins. Because of the constantly running timer, Eliminator events put a lot of pressure on your driving skills, making it more important than in any other event type to hit those shortcuts and not crash into anything. Unlike other races where it's always possible to pull yourself out of last place, in an Eliminator event it's very easy to wreck with the timer low, have the other racers fly past you and get eliminated before you can catch up again.

Grand Prix

The ultimate test of your driving skills, Grand Prix events are sets of three or more races. You'll earn more points for placing well in each race (6 for first place, 4 for second, 3 for third, 2 for fourth, 1 for fifth) and at the end of the last race, the driver with the most points is the overall winner. Like any race, the key to doing well is knowing the routes, the shortcuts and the obstacles.

Burning Lap

Burning Lap events are all about speed and driving accuracy. You're racing a single lap against the clock. Making use of available shortcuts and not crashing are the keys to success here. Because the goal times are set based on boost speed, you'll need to keep your finger on the boost button for as much of the run as possible. Since there are no other cars to take down, you'll need to earn boost through other means, like staying in the oncoming lanes of traffic, hitting long drifts and grabbing air from ramps whenever possible.



THE LOCATIONS

Although there are only eight locations in Burnout Revenge, each of them has multiple versions, making up a total of 26 different courses. This section will give you tips and strategies for each of these varied locations. Note that the tips here are based on the forward version of the routes. Shortcuts have openings on each end, so they are available whether you're running the route forward or reverse, but their position will change from left to right and vice versa. I've also included all of the Challenges for each route so you can keep an eye on your goals as you race. Completing the full Challenge Sheet for a location unlocks a special car (they're all extremely cool—check the vehicle guide for full details).

SUNSHINE KEYS

Routes: Forward, Reverse

Modeled after sunny Florida, Sunshine Keys takes place mostly on wide-open expressways and bright oceanfront streets.

Challenge Sheet

Challenge 1	Get Triple Payback
Challenge 2	Win a Race Without Crashing
Challenge 3	Do a Vertical Takedown
Challenge 4	Do 2 Revenge Takedowns in a Race
Challenge 5	Takedown Special Car in Sunshine Keys
Challenge 6	Check 100 Vehicles in Traffic Attack
Challenge 7	Blow Up 25 Vehicles
Challenge 8	High Score Target: $9,000,000

The biggest obstacles to watch for here are the planters and islands in the middle of the roads. Divided into sections, they allow for inattentive racers to drift too far to the middle of the road and slam into them.

Almost all of the shortcuts on Sunshine Keys are side routes running parallel to the main track. These are easy shortcuts with no big hazards to avoid.

Just as you hit the bridge, look for the shortcut opening in the center of the road. Drive down onto the track below, but hug one side of the wall or the other to avoid the massive support column in the center.

After passing through the shipyard, look for the ramp on the left side of the road. Hit it at an angle to shoot up and over the road, making a Vertical Takedown possible if there are opposing drivers in the area. Alternatively, you can hit the ramp straight on to use a shortcut.

MOTOR CITY

Routes: Long Forward, Long Reverse, Short Forward, Short Reverse

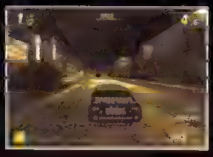
Based on Detroit, the car manufacturing capital of the U.S, Motor City is a grimy industrial route full of hazards.

Challenge Sheet

Challenge 1	Get 4-Way Payback
Challenge 2	Win a Race Without Crashing
Challenge 3	Do a Vertical Takedown
Challenge 4	Do 3 Revenge Takedowns in a Race
Challenge 5	Takedown Special Car in Motor City
Challenge 6	Check 50 Vehicles in Traffic Attack
Challenge 7	Blow Up 25 Vehicles
Challenge 8	High Score Target: $10,000,000

Watch for the shortcut leading into the parking garage—there are two huge ramps that give you serious air and a very good shot at nailing an opponent with a Vertical Takedown upon landing.

The biggest problem you'll face in Motor City is the abundance of pillars and obstacles placed haphazardly in the road. This is one of the most obstacle-strewn courses in the game, forcing you to weave between pillars and construction girders like mad just to stay in one piece. You'll want to take a few practice runs around the course just to learn where the worst sections of pillars are located.



If you drop down to the side of the expressway section of the route, you'll find yourself running a gauntlet of concrete support pillars. While this path is dangerous, it is a great place for gutsy drivers to earn easy Takedowns by bumping rivals into the pillars.

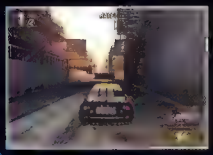
ANGEL VALLEY

Racing: Forward, Reverse

Modeled after the streets of Los Angeles, Angel Valley packs a lot of twists and turns into a relatively short route.

Challenge Sheet

Challenge 1	Get Double Payback
Challenge 2	Win a Race Without Crashing
Challenge 3	Do a Vertical Takedown
Challenge 4	Do 1 Revenge Takedown in a Race
Challenge 5	Takedown Special Car in Angel Valley
Challenge 6	Check 100 Vehicles in Traffic Attack
Challenge 7	Blow Up 35 Vehicles
Challenge 8	High Score Target: $15,000,000



Many of the shortcuts available on this route take you through alleyways running along the main road. While the shortcuts can save you time, you'll need to stick to the middle of the road to avoid the garbage bins lined along the walls. Also keep an eye on the cross traffic during the shortcuts—there's a lot of activity on the side streets and it's easy to slam into a truck crossing the alleyway.

Watch for the shortcut to the left just before the donut shop. It leads to a ramp that will send you up and over the main path of traffic, giving you a good shot at a Vertical Takedown. You'll need to steer to the right off the ramp, though—shooting straight ahead will slam you into billboards along the side of the road!

The main road through this route is wide, and there are a lot of nice, wide-open turns for you to practice drifting through. However, to master the route you'll need to spend as little time as possible on the main road, sticking to the network of alleyway shortcuts running through the area.

LONE PEAK

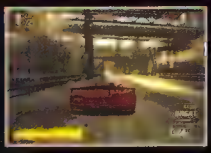
Racing: Forward, Reverse

This scenic route weaves through mountainous highway, giving you a lot of twists and turns to manage and also taking the race into some industrial areas with plenty of obstacles to send your rivals crashing into.

Challenge Sheet

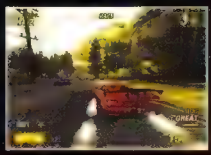
Challenge 1	Get Triple Payback
Challenge 2	Win a Race Without Crashing
Challenge 3	Do a Vertical Takedown
Challenge 4	Do 2 Revenge Takedowns in a Race
Challenge 5	Takedown Special Car in Lone Peak
Challenge 6	Check 30 Vehicles in Traffic Attack
Challenge 7	Blow Up 25 Vehicles
Challenge 8	High Score Target: $6,500,000

Most of the shortcuts on this route take you onto narrow, bumpy dirt roads. They're great for air opportunities, but tend to weave around a lot, so you'll need to be extremely careful when taking them.



The mountain road features many long turns which you can use to get massive drift bonuses. Hold your drift for as long as possible and you'll get a nice amount of Boost for the effort.

To take the safe path through the industrial area, look for the shortcut marker along the side and drive through it. You'll avoid most of the pillars and other obstacles in the middle of the road this way.



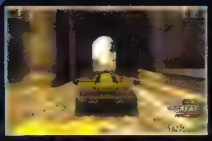
ETERNAL CITY

Routes: Long Forward, Long Reverse, Short Forward, Short Reverse

Modeled after Rome and other historic European cities, Eternal City is a race through ancient streets, through narrow archways and over marble staircases.

Challenge Sheet

Challenge 1	Get Double Payback
Challenge 2	Win a Race Without Crashing
Challenge 3	Do a Vertical Takedown
Challenge 4	Do 2 Revenge Takedowns in a Race
Challenge 5	Takedown Special Car in Eternal City
Challenge 6	Check 70 Vehicles in Traffic Attack
Challenge 7	Blow Up 15 Vehicles
Challenge 8	High Score Target: $5,000,000



Steer carefully to navigate through the double archway. Be sure to check your chosen opening for oncoming traffic before guiding your car through.

There's a lot of traffic in Eternal City. You can perform a lot of traffic check Takedowns here if you fall behind—just slam into traffic indiscriminately and some of your rivals are bound to crash into the flying vehicles!

Watch for the U-Turn on this route—you can drift all the way through it and really gain ground on any rivals who don't have good drifting skills here.

The large arch has walls on either side, and you come upon it from around a corner. It's easy to stray too far to either side and slam into one of the walls. On the other hand, it's a great opportunity to bump an opponent off course during the turn and send him into a wall.

WHITE MOUNTAIN

Tactics: Forward, Reverse

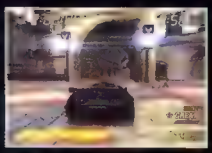
This route takes you along a two-lane highway high in the mountains, then down through a quaint European village. There's not much traffic to be found here, but the path will challenge your driving skills, especially your ability to drift through the long mountain turns.

Challenge Sheet

Challenge 1	Get Explosive Payback
Challenge 2	Win a Race Without Crashing
Challenge 3	Do a Vertical Takedown
Challenge 4	Do 1 Revenge Takedown in a Race
Challenge 5	Takedown Special Car in White Mountain
Challenge 6	Check 50 Vehicles in Traffic Attack
Challenge 7	Blow Up 20 Vehicles
Challenge 8	High Score Target: $10,000,000

The shortcuts along the road are open on one side—a false move can easily send you flying out and over open space. It's a hazard that will test your skills while running these shortcuts, but you can also use them to send rivals flying off the mountain as well.

Watch for a series of near U-Turns, one after another, on the mountain roads. Consecutive drifts—coming out of one to immediately turn in the other direction and drift through the next—will serve you well here.



In the village, the shortcut that leads into a building culminates in an insane jump over a fork in the road. You need to hit the ramp at an angle, either left or right, to avoid the building planted in the middle of the fork and land firmly back on the road on either side. This is the best opportunity for a Vertical Takedown on the route.

Near the end of the forward version of this route, the road splits into two roads, one a bridge and the other running along the side of the mountain. Both paths are extremely dangerous for drivers who like to hug the sides of the road—the sides here are lined with car-stopping concrete walls set at intervals. Whichever path you take (the mountainside route is a little easier, but also a bit longer) be sure to stay in the middle of the road.

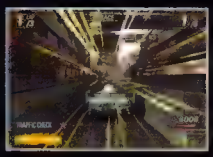
CENTRAL ROUTE

Tactics: Long Forward, Long Reverse, Short Forward, Short Reverse

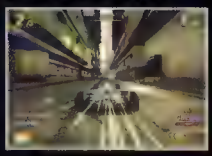
Based on Tokyo, this route takes you straight through a busy downtown section of a bustling city. Watch out for oncoming traffic—in Central Route the safe lane is on the left side, with the oncoming traffic to the right!

Challenge Sheet

Challenge 1	Get Explosive Payback
Challenge 2	Win a Race Without Crashing
Challenge 3	Do a Vertical Takedown
Challenge 4	Do 1 Revenge Takedown in a Race
Challenge 5	Takedown Special Car in Central Route
Challenge 6	Check 70 Vehicles in Traffic Attack
Challenge 7	Blow Up 22 Vehicles
Challenge 8	High Score Target: $8,000,000



It might take a bit of getting used to, but learning to stay in the safe lanes here can have a lot of benefits—there's a lot of traffic, making the oncoming lane more dangerous than in other areas. Also, the dense traffic in the safe lane lets you knock around so many vehicles that your rivals will have a hard time avoiding it all.



You'll find lots of branches in the road in Central Route, making navigation tricky. Learn a path that works well for you and stick to it each time around the course to avoid nasty surprises.

There aren't a lot of obstacles to send your opponents into, but you can find a few sets of pillars along some of the streets. Nudge unsuspecting rivals in their direction to earn Takedowns.

EASTERN BAY

Tactics: Long Forward, Long Reverse, Lower Link Forward, Lower Link Reverse, Upper Link Forward, Upper Link Reverse

The second route based on Tokyo, Eastern Bay consists of a winding tangle of expressways and tunnels. There's a lot of traffic and loads of obstacles to watch out for on this route.

Challenge Sheet

Challenge 1	Get 4-Way Payback
Challenge 2	Win a Race Without Crashing
Challenge 3	Do a Vertical Takedown
Challenge 4	Do 3 Revenge Takedowns in a Race
Challenge 5	Takedown Special Car in Eastern Bay
Challenge 6	Check 90 Vehicles in Traffic Attack
Challenge 7	Blow Up 24 Vehicles
Challenge 8	High Score Target: $6,500,000

In the tunnels, there are dividing walls set at intervals, giving you lots of opportunities to change to the other side of the road and send opponents barreling into the walls. Just be sure to avoid them yourself as you navigate the twists of the route.

Many sections of the expressway have open sides, letting you drop down to the section below. You can sometimes earn difficult Vertical Takedowns by literally dropping in on a rival from above in this way.

Because of the high number of obstacles and the heavy traffic, the best strategy for maintaining the lead in this route is to stay in the safe lane. You might miss opportunities to use oncoming traffic to take rivals out, but it's a small price to pay to keep yourself out of danger as well.

BURNOUT VEHICLES

And you progress through the World Tour mode, you'll earn new, better cars by completing many events. These cars come in two types—Race and Crash. Race Cars can be used in any standard event type, while Crash Vehicles are reserved for the Crash events.

Race Vehicles

You'll be able to choose from this list of vehicles (when you have them unlocked) for all of the race-type events. This includes Race, Eliminator, Road Rage, Traffic Attack and Grand Prix.

Phoenix Wright™ Ace Attorney

One of the most interesting titles released for the Nintendo DS so far, Phoenix Wright: Ace Attorney places you in the shoes of a rookie defense attorney saddled with clients who look guilty but are actually innocent. There are four main episodes and a fifth bonus episode that unlocks after you beat the first four. Prior to each episode, there's a short teaser that shows the crime being committed. In the first episode, you see the actual murderer holding the murder weapon...but as the game progresses through the episodes, these teasers become much less revealing, making your clients' innocence much more difficult to prove.

TRIAL BASICS

Court Record

This is a database containing all the evidence pertaining to the current trial. When you tap on a piece of evidence, a new window with a more specific description will appear. Later on in the game, you can leaf through several pages of a file, rotate objects and even watch a surveillance video.

Cross Examination

After hearing the testimony of a witness, Phoenix can cross-examine it, picking out the parts of the testimony that are questionable. There are two buttons on the Touch Screen: "Press" or "Present." When you choose "Press," you lean on the witness and try to make him/her talk more. When you choose "Present," you shout out "Objection!" and show a piece of evidence that directly contradicts a specific part of the testimony. You'll notice also that five exclamation points will appear in the upper right corner. Every time Phoenix makes a wrong move, one of those exclamation points will disappear. When they're all gone, it's "game over!" In the following pages, I'll show you which parts of each testimony to "Press" and which pieces of evidence to "Present," and when.

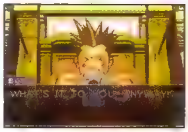
EPISODE 1: THE FIRST TURNABOUT

Before the first trial begins, the Judge gives you a simple quiz. It teaches you the basics.

Q. Please state the name of the defendant in this case.
A. Larry Butz.

Q. This is a murder trial. Tell me, what's the victim's name?
A. Look in the Court Record at Cindy's Autopsy Report. The victim's name is Cindy Stone.

Q. She died because she was...?
A. Her cause of death is also in Cindy's Autopsy Report. Choose "Hit with a blunt object." When Payne questions Larry, you're given the opportunity to intervene. No matter what you do, Larry will cram his foot in his mouth, big-time.



WITNESS: MR. FRANK SAHWIT

1. First Testimony: "Witness's Account"
   - "I remember the time exactly: It was 1:00 PM." (Present: Cindy's Autopsy Report)
2. Second Testimony: "The Time of Discovery"
   - "I guess the victim must have been watching a video of a taped program." (Present: Blackout Record)
3. Third Testimony: "Hearing the Time"
   - "Yeah, the murder weapon! The killer used it to hit the victim!" (Present: Statue)

After learning "The Thinker" is a clock, a series of events occurs where Phoenix has to make several choices. Choose "Yes," "Went into the apartment," "Try sounding the clock" and "Yes." When the Judge asks for evidence, present the Passport. After the trial is over, Mia will ask you to show Larry something to prove that Cindy didn't just think he was some chump. Show him the Statue.

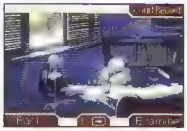
EPISODE 2: TURNABOUT SISTERS

Now episodes are divided into "Investigation" and "Court" phases. During the Investigation Phase you can move between locations, examine them and also talk to people outside of the courtroom. I've listed locations in the order you should visit them.

Investigation Phase 1



a. Fey & Co. Law Offices: Move into the office. Examine Mia's body and the piece of paper she drops afterwards. Scan to the right side of the room and look at the phone. Move back to the lobby. Talk to Maya, the girl who fainted earlier. Show her the Receipt with her name written on it in blood.

b. Detention Center: While talking to Maya, choose "It's up to you." When she asks you to find the famous lawyer, choose "Accept."

c. Grossberg Law Offices: Snoop around for a while, looking at all the ostentatious decorations.

d. Fey & Co. Law Offices: The police officer's name is "Detective Gumshoe." Talk to him and when he questions you about Edgeworth, choose "Of course I do." When you're done talking, present Maya's Memo. Choose, "Tell him not-so-straight."

e. Gatewater Hotel: Try to examine the screwdriver when Miss May leaves the room. After she hurries back, try to talk to her.

f. Grossberg Law Offices: Marvin Grossberg will return, so try talking to him about Maya's situation.

g. Detention Center: Talk to Maya some more. When time runs out, choose to "Defend Maya." Tell her it's because "I can't abandon you."

h. Gatewater Hotel: The Bellboy appears and tells you that a Mr. White phoned for Miss May. Examine the drawer with the screwdriver again.

Court Phase 1

Witness: Detective Gumshoe

1. First Testimony: "Maya Fey's Arrest"

• "Why? We had a witness account describing her!" (Press)

2. Second Testimony: "Hard Evidence"

• "Before she died, the victim wrote the killer's name!" (Present: Mia's Autopsy Report)

Edgeworth objects and asks when Phoenix received the autopsy report. Tell him "The day after the murder." When he asks Phoenix if he has something to say, choose "You're a sham, Edgeworth!"

2. Second Testimony: "Witness's Account"

• "That...that clock! Um...the kinda statue-y clock? 'The Thinker,' I think?" (Present: Statue)

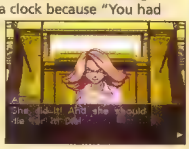
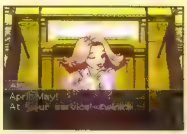
Tell the Judge you aren't satisfied because "It couldn't have rung" since "It's empty." When Edgeworth demands proof, present Maya's Cell Phone. When the Judge asks if you have any objections to Miss May's claim that she saw the clock before in a store, say "Yes" and present the Statue again. Next, tell Miss May she knew it was a clock because "You had heard about it." Present Maya's Cell Phone again. Next, show the Wiretap. Select "Why the wiretap?" for your final blow. After Miss May claims she wasn't at the crime scene, choose "Call the bellboy as a witness." Accept Edgeworth's condition to continue.



Witness: Miss April May



The Judge appears enamored of the witness. When he asks if you'll cross-examine her, choose "Yes, I'm doing it."

1. First Testimony: "Witness's Account"

• "The one attacking her was the mousey girl sitting in the defendant's chair!" (Press)

After you "Press" her, choose "I question the testimony" and "You're lying."

Witness: Bellboy

1. First Testimony: "Miss May's Room Service"

Press him twice, on every part of his testimony. Choose "Protest" and then ask the Bellboy about "Room Service."

Investigation Phase 2

a. Detention Center: Talk to Miss May.

b. Grossberg Law Offices: Examine the desk and take the photo marked DL-6 Incident—Exhibit B.

c. Detention Center: Present the man's photo to Miss May.

d. Gatewater Hotel: Talk to the Bellboy and have him give you the "Bellboy's Affidavit."

e. Detention Center: Present the Bellboy's Affidavit to Miss May and "Push her hard."

f. Bluecorp: Talk to Mr. White, then mention the painting and remark, "I've seen it before."

g. Grossberg Law Offices: Talk to Mr. Grossberg and when Phoenix says something's been bothering him, choose, "That big painting." Next, pick, "He's blackmailing you."

h. Fey & Co. Law Offices: Examine all of Mia's files, one by one. When given the options to read or skim, do it. Phoenix will get the "Newspaper Clipping."

i. Bluecorp: Present the Newspaper Clipping to Mr. White. Choose, "You blackmailed him" and "You're right."

j. Detention Center: Maya's here to cheer you up. Choose anything you like.

Court Phase 2

Don't bother with raising an objection in the beginning.

Witness: Redd White

1. First Testimony: "Witness's Account"
• "The victim, she...she ran away, but you gave chase!" (Press)
• "The victim ran to the left, and you gave chase!" (Present: May Testimony)

When the Judge asks you to explain the contradiction, choose "Both are right." Show the court that Mr. White was standing where the killer was standing.

2. Second Testimony: "She Ran to the Left"
• "You chased her, and delivered the final blow." (Present: Mia's Autopsy Report)

3. Third Testimony: "The Two Accounts"
• "Umm, well, see—I looked at the other window when I heard that thing fall." (Press)

When Maya asks if you find that odd, choose, "Yeah, very odd."
• "A light stand was lying on the floor when I looked." (Present: Glass Shards)

After Mr. White sweats a bit, choose "Big problemo" and then present the Floor Plans.

4. Fourth Testimony: "The Wiretapping"

Just press everything, then go through again without pressing until it appears that Phoenix is giving up. He'll see something that makes him faint. When the court reconvenes, you'll have the Receipt added to the Court Record.

• "That is when I saw this glass light stand." (Present: Receipt)

Edgeworth will request an extension. Object, then read Mia's Memo to the court.

EPISODE 3: TURNABOUT SAMURAI

Investigation Phase 1

a. Detention Center: Talk to Will Powers about the murder.
b. Studio-Main Gate: Talk to Mrs. Oldbag about the murder.
c. Detention Center: Ask Will Powers to give you a letter of request.
d. Studio-Main Gate: Present Powers' Request to Mrs. Oldbag.
e. Outside Studio One: Talk to Detective Gumshoe to get Jack's Autopsy Report. Examine the camera to see its number plate is ST1-307

f. Studio-Main Gate: Talk to Mrs. Oldbag again.
g. Employee Area: Examine the left side of the room to look at the consumed T-bone steaks and the broken grate.
h. Dressing Room: Examine the briefcase to get a Studio One Cardkey.

i. Outside Studio One: Examine the path leading to Studio One and Maya will use the Cardkey.
j. Inside Studio One: Examine everything in the room. After you look at the camera, Penny will appear. Talk to her.

k. Studio-Main Gate: Talk to Mrs. Oldbag again. When she leaves, examine the computer. Select camera ST1-307.

Court Phase 1

Witness: Wendy Oldbag

1. First Testimony: "Witness's Account"
• "It was Powers! That man right there, and he was heading toward the studio." (Present: Powers's Photo)

2. Second Testimony: "The Man in the Photo"
• "He broke one of the props, it was a big mess." (Press)

Keep pressing until the Judge seems to want to wrap things up, then object.

3. Third Testimony: "Witness's Account, cont.—"
• "The only person I saw go to the studio before then was Will Powers!" (Present: Powers's Photo)

4. Fourth Testimony: "The Other Person"
• "Come to think of it, now I remember throwing out one photo that day!" (Press)

When you get back to the courtroom after the recess, accuse Wendy Oldbag. When Edgeworth doesn't object, make Phoenix "Press further." In desperation, she'll accuse the grade schooler. When asked for proof that the little boy wasn't the killer, present Powers's Photo or the Samurai Spear.

5. Fifth Testimony: "My Lips Were Sealed"
• "There were...some other people at the studio that day." (Press)

After Phoenix says he's run out of questions, take a break.

Investigation Phase 2

a. Outside Studio Two: Examine everything in the area before moving on.
b. Employee Area: Examine the drain and rip off the grate.
c. Studio-Main Gate: Talk to Penny.
d. Dressing Room: Talk to the director, Sal Manella.
e. Outside Studio Two: Nick and Maya will hear a crash coming from the trailer.

f. Studio-Main Gate: Talk to Wendy Oldbag.

g. Employee Area: Talk to Cody Hackins. When he dashes off, you'll get the Empty Bottle.
h. Studio-Main Gate: Wendy Oldbag is off chasing Cody. Examine the computer again to get the Trailer Key.
i. Outside Studio Two: Examine the trailer door and Phoenix will open it.
j. Trailer: Speak to Dee Vasquez. She'll give you Vasquez's Memo.

k. Dressing Room: Present Vasquez's Memo to Sal Manella.
l. Inside Studio One: Examine the director's chair to get the Script.
m. Trailer: Present the Script to Dee Vasquez. She's willing to talk to you now. Eventually you'll get Mr. Monkey's Head.

n. Wright & Co. Law Offices: Maya is channeling Mia's spirit again. She'll give you a hint.
o. Studio-Main Gate: Talk to Wendy Oldbag. She won't give you her hostage unless you trade. Give her the Studio One Cardkey and she'll give you the Steel Samurai Card.

p. Dressing Room: Talk to Cody and present the Steel Samurai Card to him.
q. Trailer: Talk to Penny and present the Steel Samurai Card to her. Trade with her to get the URP Card.
r. Dressing Room: Present the URP Card to Cody. Now you can talk to him. Tell him you like the Steel Samurai because of his fighting skills. He'll give you his photo album, "Path to Glory." When Mia asks, tell her you believe Will Powers is innocent.

Court Phase 2

Witness: Sal Manella

1. First Testimony: "The Day of the Murder"
• "But I had a meeting in the Studio Two trailer, so I ended up skipping lunch." (Press)
When Mia asks if you find his answer strange, say, "It's contradictory."
• "During the meeting, well, I'm pretty sure no one left their chairs." (Press)
After Phoenix ponders, choose, "Press harder."
2. Second Testimony: "The Break"
• "Yeah, FWIW, we took a break...ROFL!" (Press)
• "But it was only 15 minutes! 15! That's only 13 in Base 12!" (Press)
• "Not enough time for someone to, say, commit murder in Studio One! LOL!" (Press)
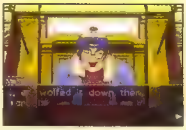
When the Judge asks, say, "No, it's impossible."



Witness: Cody Hackins

1. First Testimony: "Witness's Account"
• "If I had my camera with me, that would have been the time for a shot, I tell you." (Present: Cody's Camera)
2. Second Testimony: "What I saw"
• "The bad guy...stopped moving." (Press)

When Phoenix ponders, choose "Press him harder." The Judge will question you, so choose "Show evidence" and present Cody's Camera again.
3. Third Testimony: "No Photo?"
• "The Steel Samurai had just escaped from the clutches of the villain." (Press)
• "But the lens wouldn't open in time so I missed it." (Press)
• "Th-that's all that happened. Yup." (Press)
Phoenix ponders again, so choose "Press him hard."
• "I took a few shots, but it was too late, so I erased them." (Present: "Path to Glory")
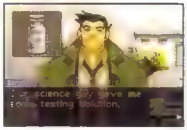
When the Judge asks you why the photos were erased, say, "The Steel Samurai didn't win." When Edgeworth asks you what this is all about, say, "Steel Samurai was the victim." Cody will give you another photograph. When the Judge asks you to show the inconsistency, place the examination cursor on the pillar that shows the lower-half of the number "2". The Judge is still clueless, so you need to show where the murder took place on the Guide Map. Place the cursor in Studio 2 and present it. Tell the Judge this is significant because, "The trailer is there." When Edgeworth demands proof, say "I have proof" and present the Empty Bottle. Tell the Judge to dust the bottle for prints.

Investigation Phase 3

a. Studio-Main Gate: Talk to Wendy Oldbag again.
b. Employee Area: Talk to Detective Gumshoe. You'll get the Steak Plate and the Sleeping Pill Bottle.
c. Outside Studio Two: Talk to Dee Vasquez.
d. Detention Center: Talk to Will Powers.
e. Dressing Room: Talk to Penny. When you have a chance to show evidence, present the "Path to Glory."



f. Studio-Main Gate: Talk to Wendy Oldbag about the incident five years ago. She gets angry and demands some proof. Say you have it, and present the Sleeping Pill Bottle. Next, present the Steak Plate. Eventually she'll give you the Five-Year-Old Photo.

g. Outside Studio Two: Present the Five-Year-Old Photo to Dee Vasquez.
h. Trailer: When you get inside, Dee Vasquez will tell you more about the photo.

Court Phase 3

Witness: Dee Vasquez

1. First Testimony: "The Day of the Murder"
• "Sal and I ate t-bone steaks on the table in front of the trailer." (Present: Steak Plate)
Phoenix starts pointing fingers again, so choose, "You didn't eat the steak." The Judge asks what she was doing, so say, "Meeting the Steel Samurai." Dee Vasquez challenges you to a battle of wits. Choose, "You couldn't, could you?" When the Judge asks for proof, present the Samurai Spear. The Judge challenges you to show the real murder weapon, so say, "I can tell you" and then present the Five-Year Old Photo. When Dee Vasquez says she couldn't have moved the body, say, "She had another way" and present the Van. Edgeworth objects, so choose, "Of course he was." Dee Vasquez is about to get off the stand, so say, "No further questions."

2. Second Testimony: "After Finding the Body"
• "I went back to the trailer to get my script and direction notes." (Press, then Press harder)
• "I knew that Hammer was injured and couldn't do any action scenes, so I left them behind." (Present: Powers's Photo)
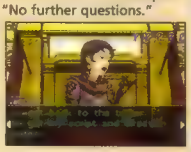
Tell Dee Vasquez that "You saw Hammer limping." Tell the Judge, "Of course I can prove it." Present the Five-Year-Old Photo. Next, tell the Judge, "She had no motive." Will Powers asks you why Jack Hammer was so angry. Choose "Show evidence" and present "Path to Glory."



EPISODE 4: TURNABOUT GOODBYES

Investigation Phase 1

a. Detention Center: Talk to Edgeworth. Present your Attorney's Badge to him.
b. Gourd Lake Entrance: Talk to Detective Gumshoe. Ask him about the autopsy report.
c. Gourd Lake Public Beach: Examine the bench to get the Popper.
d. Gourd Lake Woods: Scan to the left and examine the camera. Present your Attorney's Badge to the woman. Talk to her and you'll get Lotta's Camera. Present it to her.
e. Criminal Affairs Dept.: Talk to Detective Gumshoe to get the Autopsy Report.

f. Gourd Lake Woods: Lotta Hart has found a photograph. She also "remembers" just now that she witnessed the murder. Tell her, "I reckon so." You'll get the Lake Photo.
g. Gourd Lake Public Beach: Talk to Larry. He'll give you the Gourdy Article.
h. Criminal Affairs Dept.: Detective Gumshoe is in questioning. Examine the room (make sure to check out the stuffed animal near the captain).
i. Detention Center: Talk to Edgeworth again.
j. Wright & Co. Law Offices: Talk to Maya.
k. Grossberg Law Offices: Talk to Grossberg. Present the Autopsy Report to him. Talk to him again. He'll give you Misty Fey's Photo.

l. Detention Center: Present Misty Fey's Photo to Edgeworth. Talk to him. Present the Lake Photo. When he asks if you'll represent him, say, "Of course we will." He'll give you Edgeworth's Request.
m. Criminal Affairs Dept.: Talk to Detective Gumshoe, then present Edgeworth's Request to him.

Court Phase 1

Witness: Detective Gumshoe

1. First Testimony: "The Arrest of Edgeworth"
• "A man called into the station around 30 minutes after midnight." (Press)
• "But...the next morning, a body was found in the lake." (Press)
• "So we had to arrest Mr. Edgeworth." (Press)
• "The murder weapon we found in the boat was decisive evidence." (Press)
During the recess, tell Maya, "No, I need you here."

Witness: Ms. Lotta Hart

Before you get a chance to start your cross-examination, von Karma will challenge you. Say, "I think there was."
1. First Testimony: "Witness's Account"
Press everything. After Maya's outburst, choose "Wrong."
2. Second Testimony: "That Last Statement"
• "I saw it clear as day. The man on the boat was Mr. Edgeworth." (Present: Lake Photo)
3. Third Testimony: "How Edgeworth Was Seen"
• "Still, I brought my binoculars with me." (Press, then Press further)
• "The camera was set up to take pictures of a meteor shower." (Present: Lotta's Camera)
When the Judge asks you what Lotta was photographing, choose, "Show evidence" and present the Gourdy Article. When Lotta demands proof, say "I have proof" and then present Lotta's Camera again.
4. Fourth Testimony: "Lotta's New Testimony"
• "There wasn't much else to look at, so I just watched that boat the whole time." (Present: Gourdy Article)
After she admits her lies, choose "Make her show the enlargement." When the Judge gets set to wrap things up, "Object to the enlargement," place the cursor on the hand in the picture holding the gun and present it, then present the Pistol. Von Karma challenges you to finger someone else. Say, "the victim himself."

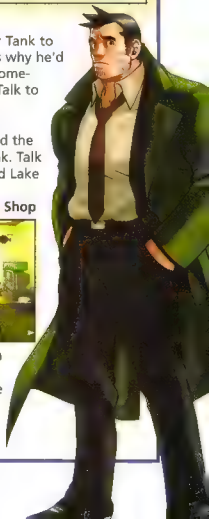
Investigation Phase 2

a. Detention Center: Talk to Maya.
b. Gourd Lake Woods: Talk to Detective Gumshoe. He'll give you a clue about Edgeworth.
c. Detention Center: Talk to Maya again.
d. Wright & Co. Law Offices: Maya is free, so you can ask her for guidance if you like.
e. Gourd Lake Entrance: Talk to Lotta Hart. Make a deal with her.

f. Gourd Lake Public Beach: Larry is back, with some new decorations for the Samurai Dog stand. Examine the area, and present the Gourdy Article to Larry.
g. Gourd Lake Woods: Talk to Lotta Hart a bit more.
h. Criminal Affairs Dept.: Talk to Detective Gumshoe. He'll offer you three secret weapons. It's tempting to take Missile, but he'll just eat all of Larry's hot dogs. Instead, take the metal detector.

i. Boat Rental Shop: The metal detector will activate automatically when you enter this area. You'll get the Air Tank.
j. Gourd Lake Public Beach: Present the Air Tank to Larry. Ask him, "Is it yours?" When he asks why he'd have something like that, say "To inflate something," then "Ask more about the tank." Talk to him about it some more.
k. Gourd Lake Woods: Talk to Lotta about Gourdy. Tell her "Gourdy doesn't exist" and the proof "Is here," then show her the Air Tank. Talk to her again and she'll give you the Second Lake Photo.

l. Caretaker's Shack (go to the Boat Rental Shop first): Talk to "Uncle." Examine the parrot. Talk to him again. Present your Attorney's Badge. Promise to run the Wet Noodle after the case. Present the Lake Photo. Now you can talk to him about what he saw.
m. Criminal Affairs Dept.: Talk to Detective Gumshoe. Present the Parrot to him.
n. Records Room: Maya will go fetch files for you when you talk to her.



Court Phase 2

Witness: "Uncle"

1. First Testimony: "The Night of the Murder"
• "Just about then the boat comes back to shore, and a man walks by my window." (Press)
• "That man was the defendant...he was saying 'I can't believe he's dead.'" (Press)
After "Uncle" faints away, keep on raising objections. Don't worry that it seems like you've lost.

Witness: Larry Butz

1. First Testimony: "The Night of the Murder"
• "So after I heard that single gunshot I went home." (Present: Lotta's Deposition)
Make Larry continue his testimony.

2. Second Testimony: "What Larry Heard"
• "I remember exactly what the DJ was saying when I heard it, too." (Press)
Tell the Judge, "We should care."
• "Just when she said 'Hey! It's almost Christmas!' I heard the gunshot." (Present: Lake Photo)
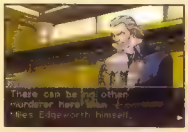
Present the Second Lake Photo.
When the Judge challenges you, present the Pistol. Von Karma asks you if you're mad and demands you explain who is on the boat. Say, "Edgeworth and the murderer." Tell the Judge you don't know the murderer's name. When the Judge asks you to show where the murder actually took place, put the cursor on the Caretaker's Shack and present it. Tell the Judge that "The boat shop caretaker" fired the pistol on the boat. Tell von Karma he fired twice, "To create a witness."



Investigation Phase 3

a. Wright & Co. Law Offices: Talk to Larry.
b. Caretaker's Shack: Examine the green safe on the television. You'll get the Letter from the Safe.
c. Detention Center: Talk to Edgeworth. Present the Letter from the Safe to him. Talk to him again.

d. Grossberg Law Offices: Talk to Grossberg. Present the Letter from the Safe to him. When Grossberg asks if you have any idea who wrote this, say "Manfred von Karma." Talk to Grossberg again.
e. Records Room: Examine the open drawer. Talk to von Karma. Present the Letter from the Safe to him.

Court Phase 3

Witness: "Uncle"

1. First Testimony: "Why I Left Court"
• "I figured I got nothing to do with this incident anyhow." (Press)
• "Er...I mean, I'd need one of those "motive" things, right? And I don't got one." (Press)
Tell the Judge the witness's name is Yanni Yogi. Tell von Karma, "Yes, I'm doing it."

Witness: Parrot

1. First Testimony: "Who Is Your Owner?"
• "Hello! Hello! • squawk• " (Press—keep doing this)
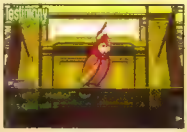
Make Maya ask the bird, "What's the safe number?" Tell the Judge, "Actually, it does." Present the DL-6 Case File to prove the number is relevant to this trial. Tell the Judge it's in the "Case Summary." Next have Maya ask, "What's your name?" Tell the Judge, "Of course." Present the DL-6 Case File again. Tell him the information is in the "Suspect Data." After Edgeworth's outburst, raise an objection.



Witness: Miles Edgeworth

1. First Testimony: "The DL-6 Incident"
• "A moment later, there was a single gunshot, then a scream." (Present: DL-6 Incident Photo)
Point out the bullet hole in the elevator door. When von Karma asks you if you have proof of when the bullet hole was made, say "Yes" and present the DL-6 Case File. Say the page appears in the "Victim Data" section. Tell the Judge, "I have an objection," "The murderer didn't need it," choose "Say it now" and then "Show evidence." Present the Metal Detector. Last, present the DL-6 Bullet.

EPILOGUE 1

Maya's leaving on the train, but you have evidence that will help her feel better. Show her the DL-6 Bullet. The end credits will start to roll, and it seems like the game's over. Until you hear another "Hold it!" and a completely new episode appears!

EPISODE 5: RISE FROM THE ASHES

Investigation Phase 1

a. Wright & Co. Law Offices: Talk to Ema.
b. Detention Center: Talk to Lana.
c. Underground Parking Lot: Examine the wallet by the door. When you pick it up, Ema will get excited and show you a new feature that's been added to the examination screen. There are now dials to rotate objects, allowing you to look at them on all sides. Place the cursor on the clasp to open the wallet and get Goodman's ID. Scan to the right of the room and try to examine the car. Marshall stops you, then you get to talk to Angel Starr.

d. High Prosecutor's Office: Talk to Edgeworth. Examine the trophy on his sofa. After it gets added to the Court Record, present it to him, then talk again.
e. Police Dept. Entrance: Talk to Detective Gumshoe. Present Bruce Goodman's ID, Edgeworth's knife and the Prosecutor Trophy. Talk to him again. Examine the Blue Badger. You'll get the Letter of Introduction.
f. Underground Parking Lot: Present the Letter of Introduction to Jake Marshall and talk to him. He gives you the Autopsy Report. Examine the right side of the parking lot and look at the trunk of the car to find Goodman's Note. Next, look at the yellow object on the floor near the car. Turn it so you can see the blue button on the side and flip it open. Talk to Jake again.

Court Phase 1

Witness: Angel Starr

1. First Testimony: "Witness's Account"
• "Somehow, I knew a day like this would come." (Press)
• "I was on my way to deliver a lunchbox to my boyfriend..." (Press)
• "Then, through a wire fence, I saw the chief prosecutor standing next to a garish car." (Press)
• "The chief prosecutor was holding a knife in her right hand..." (Present: Crime Photo)

Raise an objection before continuing.
• "The murder was planned! The rubber gloves prove it!" (Present: Edgeworth's Knife)
2. Second Testimony: "Angel's Deduction"
• "Nothing else could drive that human machine to plunge the knife in again and again..." (Present: Autopsy Report)
• "Her red muffler looked like blood to me...that's how ghastly the whole scene was." (Present: Crime Photo)
3. Third Testimony: "Apprehending the Suspect"
• "I quickly caught her, explained her rights to her, and arrested her on the spot." (Press, then Press her again)
• "When I arrested her, she mentioned the muffler!" (Press, then Ask further)
• "She gave up trying to use the phone on the wall and just used her cell phone!" (Present: Parking Lot Floor Plans)
Tell the court that the witness lied about "Where she saw it." Show the Judge that Angel was in the security room when she witnessed the crime. Say the vital difference her lie made was how it changed the "Distance to the crime." Raise an objection.

4. Fourth Testimony: "Decisive Evidence"
When you get a chance, look at the Court Record and examine the bottom of the shoe to find a huge splotch of blood.

• "This shoe proves it! It's flawless, decisive evidence!" (Press)
Say that "There's a problem" with the shoe. Rotate the shoe and place the cursor on the blood on the sole and present it. Next, present the Crime Photo. Angel pulls a new photo out. Place the cursor on the car's exhaust pipe and present it. Next, present the Cell Phone.

Witness: Damon Gant

Rotate the switchblade and look at the tag. Next, examine the switch on the side to eject the blade.

1. First Testimony: "Department in Disorder"
• "Unless there's evidence to prove a connection between this knife and Goodman..." (Present: Victim's Note)
• "A detective was killed at the Police Department, see...what a mess!" (Press)
Make Damon tell you "Where the victim was found."
• "It's not officially linked to this here case, so I can't talk much about it." (Press)
• "I'll cooperate, but I can't reveal the name of the victim at the Department, okay?" (Press)
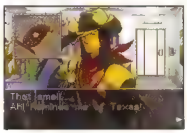
Make Damon tell you the "victim's ID number." Phoenix realizes, "This tells me something!" Next, present Goodman's ID.

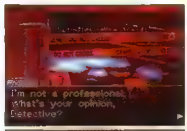
Investigation Phase 2

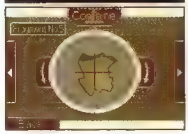
a. Wright & Co. Law Offices: Talk to Ema.
b. Underground Parking Lot: Now you can use luminol testing fluid to spray crime scenes to reveal washed-away bloodstains. Spray near the trunk of the car until a blue cursor appears around the stain. The strange thing is "The amount of blood." Talk to Angel when she appears. Present the Crime Photo and the Victim's Note to her and talk again. She'll give you the Steak Lunch.

c. Police Dept. Entrance → Security Guard Office: Examine the room and spray luminol fluid on the top of the cactus.
d. Police Dept. Entrance: Go back here and Gumshoe will show up to get you up to speed.
e. Detention Center: Talk to Officer Meekins. Present Bruce Goodman's ID to him and talk to him again.

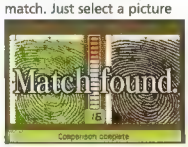
f. Criminal Affairs Dept.: Talk to Gant. Next, examine the police officer sitting in the center desk to get Goodman's Lost Item report. Talk to Gant again.
g. Security Guard Office: Examine the card reader by the door. Present the Steak Lunch to Marshall to make him talk to you. Present Goodman's ID to get the ID Card Record.
h. Evidence Room: Talk to Gumshoe and present the ID Card Record to him. Next, present the Victim's Note and talk to him again. Spray the room with luminol fluid. There's blood on the locker with the white cloth sticking out, on the locker with the bloody handprint and beyond the yellow police tape. Examine the room. Look at the white cloth sticking out of the locker on the left side. On the right side, examine the bloody handprint on the locker, the white glove on the yellow police tape, the open locker and the shards underneath the open locker. When given the option, look at the shards closer. Now you can reassemble it like a jigsaw puzzle. Rotate the pieces so they fit in the gaps and press "Combine" to join them. You'll get the Unstable Jar. Check the Unstable Jar more closely and rotate it so you can examine the blood on it.







i. High Prosecutor's Office: Talk to Edgeworth. Present the ID Card Record and the Victim's Note to him and talk to him again. He'll give you the Fingerprinting Set.
j. Evidence Room: Choose to examine the index finger and Ema will teach you how to use the Fingerprinting Set. Spread the powder across the entire screen using the stylus, then blow into the microphone port on the DS. Next examine one of the fingerprints outside the bloody handprint and repeat the process. Now you can use the Fingerprints File to find a match. Just select a picture and the center of their fingerprints will appear. It's easy to tell which prints match. Choose Detective Gumshoe and compare. Examine the locker with the white cloth sticking out and check for prints. Some of the prints are wiped, but you can estimate the location of the index finger. Move the cursor around until you get the option to examine it. Dust it and compare the print to Jake Marshall's file.



Court Phase 2

Witness: Officer Mike Meekins

1. First Testimony: "Crime Report, Sir!"
Press Meekins on every segment of his testimony. The Security Video will be added to the Court Record.

2. Second Testimony: "Mystery Man"
• "So it must be him! No one else could have unlocked it!" (Press)
Tell the court, "There is a problem." The Security Video will play again, but this time you can control it. When it pans to the locker being opened, pause it, put the cursor on the green indicator light over the locker, and present it. Edgeworth demands proof the sensor wasn't working. Watch the video until the object falls out of Goodman's locker. Place the cursor on it and present it. Next, present the Rubber Glove.
3. Third Testimony: "Mystery Man (2)"
• "At the time of the crime, the detective had used his card!" (Present: Goodman's Lost Item Report)
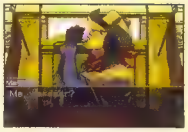
Raise an objection before the Judge can end the trial. Present Jake Marshall's profile to the court.

Witness: Officer Jake Marshall



1. First Testimony: "Day of the Crime"
• "I'm just an innocent travelin' man, so if you're out of ammo it's time I hit the trail." (Present: Marshall's Prints)
2. Second Testimony: "Bloodstained Fingerprints"
Press everything until Marshall says:
• "Too bad it wasn't me in that video, right, pardner?" (Press)
Tell the judge you'd like to show evidence. While watching the Security Video, fast forward to the part with the white cloth sticking out of Marshall's locker and present it. Marshall demands proof, so present the Evidence Locker. Next, show the Judge that Marshall was standing where the victim was standing in the evidence room. You have to watch the video again. This time, pause it when you see the bloodstains appear on the coat of the man with the knife. Place the cursor on the blood and present it.

3. Third Testimony: "Marshall's Confession"
Press everything.
Ema Skye will rush in before a verdict can be announced. When looking at the Evidence Room Floor Plans, say, "I object!" Present the Blue Badger and then the ID Card Record.

Investigation Phase 3

a. Wright & Co. Law Offices: Talk to Ema.
b. Detention Center: Talk to Lana.
c. Criminal Affairs Dept.: Check around and then leave.
d. Police Dept. Entrance.: Talk to Jake.
e. Criminal Affairs Dept.: One of the policemen will tell you where to find the office.
f. Chief's Office: Damon Gant will show up and kick you out.
g. Criminal Affairs Dept.: Detective Gumshoe is back. Talk to him and present the Switchblade Knife. Talk to him again.
h. High Prosecutor's Office: Talk to Edgeworth. You'll get an Evidence List. Check the back of it to find a strange drawing. Present the Team Gant Photo and talk to him again. Examine the crumpled-up piece of paper on the floor.
i. Underground Parking Lot: Talk to Angel.
j. Criminal Affairs Dept.: Present Edgeworth's Letter of Resignation to Detective Gumshoe. He'll give you his ID card.
k. Chief's Office: Spray luminol fluid on the floor next to the window on the left side of the room. Talk to Ema and Gumshoe. Examine the right side of the room Look at the suit of armor, the desk and the safe. Look at the back of the Evidence List. Input the number "7777777" into the safe. Examine the safe again. Present the Unstable Jar to Gumshoe. Place the last shard in the gap. Present the Fingerprinting Set to Gumshoe. Check the leather cloth for fingerprints. Compare it to Ema Skye.

l. Detention Center: Talk to Lana and tell her you think she's afraid of Damon Gant. Present the Unstable Jar to her.

Court Phase 3

Witness: Ema Skye

1. First Testimony: "Two Years Ago"
• "...but I'll never forget what I saw that instant!" (Press)
Choose to "Hear more" when given the choice, and "Ask about the picture."
• "I drew a picture of that scene once...but it seems to have been lost." (Present: Evidence List)
2. Second Testimony: "Ema's Picture"
• "This picture shows exactly what I saw that instant!" (Present: Neil's Autopsy Report)
Show the contradiction in the picture by placing the cursor on the knife blade. Tell the Judge, "There is another one". Present the Gant Team Picture.
3. Third Testimony: "Ema's Recollection"
• "He wasn't in the room, but I'm sure I saw his shadow!" (Press)
Tell Edgeworth, "I just might know..." and present the Unstable Jar. Rotate the jar around until it looks like the Blue Badger's head. Tilt it so the top is facing down and the bottom forms the middle crown of the badger's head and the handles make the side ones. Say this makes a difference in "The location." Next, tell the Judge the name, "is in the evidence." Present the Unstable Jar. Connect the bloody dots so they form the name "Ema."

Court Phase 4

Call Damon Gant to the stand.

Witness: Damon Gant

1. First Testimony: "SL-9 Incident"
• "As you can see, I had nothing to do with the 'forgery.'" (Present: Unstable Jar)
2. Second Testimony: "Evidence & Forgery"
• "Rearranging the crime scene wouldn't help me out in any way." (Press)
• "I wouldn't be anyone's 'accomplice' if there was nothing in it for me." (Press)
Next, "point out accomplice" and present Lana Skye. Present the ID Card Record. Present Goodman's Lost Item Report. Finally, present the Screwdriver. When the Judge challenges you, choose "I have no proof yet." Next, call Lana Skye to the stand.

Witness: Lana Skye

1. First Testimony: "Gant & The Fabrication"
• "When I found Prosecutor Marshall's body, I rearranged the crime scene." (Press)
• "I broke off the tip of Darke's knife, planted it inside the wound, then moved the body." (Press)
Ask Lana, "Why did you move the body?"
• "The pieces of the jar that shattered during the events threatened my plan." (Present: Unstable Jar)
2. Second Testimony: "Jar & Message in Blood"
• "The fragments were large, so I'm sure I got them all." (Present: Unstable Jar)
3. Third Testimony: "Actual Crime Scene"
Look in your Court Record at the Evidence Law book. Check it closely and examine the picture on the back cover. When you begin the cross examination, Damon Gant reappears. Tell the court that you "cannot show evidence." When they ask for it again, "show evidence." Present the Strip of Cloth. When they ask whose fingerprints are on it, present Ema Skye's profile. After the hubbub, present Lana's Photo. When the Judge asks if you illegally concealed evidence, say "I did not" and present the Evidence Law book.

EPILOGUE 2

Lana says that there is a piece of evidence that neither Phoenix or Edgeworth would have been able to find on their own. Present the [illegible] At the [illegible] you [illegible] Also, when you play the game again, you [illegible] now appears behind the chapter menu screens.

grand theft auto™ The San Andreas Chronicle

Vol. 11

Pat Reynolds, Editor

Welcome to The San Andreas Chronicle, a monthly column that follows Carl "CJ" Johnson's path through the state of San Andreas in Rockstar Games' Grand Theft Auto: San Andreas. We'll also bring you information on the many side missions, odd jobs and secrets you'll want to find as you play through the game. This month, we'll give you tips for mastering flight school and provide you with some fun games to play after you've mastered planes and helicopters.

FLIGHT SCHOOL

Of the three types of vehicles CJ will commandeer during his adventures in San Andreas (ground vehicles, watercraft and aircraft), taking to the sky is definitely the hardest path to master. You'll find the Flight school at the abandoned airfield Northeast of San Fierro—the main mission path of the game requires that you both acquire the airfield as an asset and complete flight training. Unlike driving school and boating school, flight training is not an option. This is a good thing, because learning to pilot an airplane or helicopter is a lot harder than driving a car, and what you learn here will pay off big time in later missions.

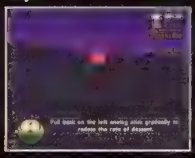
Takeoff

Directions: Follow the instructions to take off and fly through a set of three coronas.

Follow the instructions to lift off and continue to climb until you're even with the first corona. Glide through it, then push forward to descend a bit so you can pass the second corona. The most important lesson to learn when flying is to keep as light a touch as possible on the controls. Anything more and you risk losing control or moving too far from your target...and in the air, it's difficult to correct a mistake like that easily.

Land Plane

Directions: Land the plane inside the marked area of the runway.



Landing is trickier than taking off—if your angle of descent is too severe, you'll crash. Keep your plane just slightly less than evenly parallel with the ground and let deceleration drop you to the runway. Use your accelerator and brake to maneuver within the marked area to complete this test.

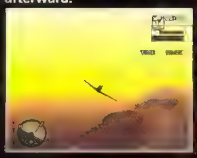
Circle Airstrip

Directions: Fly through the coronas encircling the airfield

This is the hardest flight test you'll find here. You'll need to use a light touch on the controls to smoothly navigate through each of the coronas as you fly in a circle around the airstrip. Use your rudder controls to turn the plane more than the bank-and-pull back method, which can lead to flying too far from your course. Make small adjustments to correct your flight path if you move off course. If you do miss a corona, you'll need to circle back far enough to put yourself on the right path again.

Circle Airstrip and Land

Directions: Same as last time, but land the plane successfully afterward.



Now you'll need to combine what you learned from flying through the coronas with landing the plane inside the marked area on the runway. If you've already mastered these two exercises, this shouldn't pose any problem for you.

Helicopter Takeoff

Directions: Lift off and fly the helicopter through a single corona.

Helicopters control differently than airplanes. The biggest differences are that choppers are not constantly moving forward, and they use rotor blades mounted on top rather than in front or on the wings for propulsion. This allows for much finer control of the forward speed when piloting a helicopter. For this test, rise straight up until you're level with the single corona, then tilt the helicopter forward to fly through it.

Land Helicopter

Directions: Fly over the landing zone and land inside the marked area.

Landing a helicopter is also markedly different from landing a plane. With a helicopter you can simply fly over the landing zone, hover in midair and descend until you land. Your only major concern is to keep the chopper level to the ground on landing, or you could tip it over.

Loop-the-Loop

Directions: Complete a single loop between the two coronas.

Flying in a large loop is a good maneuver for putting yourself behind an enemy aircraft that was previously chasing you. It's not a move that will come in handy much during your tenure in San Andreas, but it's cool and you might want to work it into your flights to impress your buddies. (Flying a loop around the Gant Bridge is always great for showing off.) As soon as you hit the first corona, pull back hard and maintain until the plane completes the full loop. The only tough part of this test is keeping the plane level and on course to hit the second corona, as you can easily oversteer coming out of the loop.

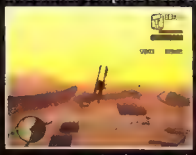
Destroy Targets

Directions: Destroy the three trucks parked on the runway.

Fly toward the three target trucks on the end of the runway. As you approach, tilt forward so the nose of the helicopter is aimed at the ground and rapidly fire your missiles. Strafe across the trucks as you pass over them. If you missed one or more, stop the helicopter, turn it around and make another strafing run. You should be able to complete this test on a single pass, though.

Barrel Roll

Directions: Complete a barrel roll between the two coronas.



A barrel roll is performed in the same way as a loop, except that you hold the stick to either the left or right to roll the plane sideways. This maneuver is good for avoiding incoming missiles. As with the loop, the risk of losing control after you come out of the roll can easily cause you to miss the second corona. Practice righting the plane steadily after a trick maneuver like a loop or roll and you'll be able to complete the test.

Parachute onto Target

Directions: Successfully parachute onto the target zone.

Freefall toward the target zone, holding the stick forward to increase your angle and move toward the target. When you open the chute, holding back will slow your descent and allow you to travel farther forward, while holding forward will increase your speed of descent. You'll need to make constant adjustments to your heading in order to hit the small landing zone—touch down anywhere outside of it and you'll fail the test.

FUN WITH AIRPLANES

Here are two games you can try with multiple players, passing the controller around and seeing who can achieve the goals first.

Stunt Pilot

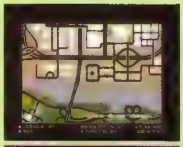
Take turns challenging each other to a test of aerial bravado (or stupidity).

First, one player marks a spot on the map where a bridge, overpass or other difficult-to-fly-through spot is located.

He then attempts to fly to that location and through the marked goal. If he succeeds, the controller is passed to the next player, and so on until all but one player has successfully threaded the needle on this particular obstacle. The last man standing is the winner! Try starting with easy challenges, like flying beneath the Gant Bridge, and moving on to tougher ones when you've mastered those (like the tiny openings under the dam in the desert).

Pinpoint Paradiving

Take turns trying to make precision paradrops onto difficult landing zones.



As with the stunt flying challenge, start by choosing and marking a landing area on the map. This time, pick the top of a building or other tall structure.

All players take a turn attempting to parachute onto this location, with the player who lands the closest to the red mark on the map declared the winner.

Letters to the Editor

Sleepless in San Andreas

I think you guys should make a "skip mission" code. I love this game so much that I play it 24 hours a day!

—Antoine Williams
Las Vegas, NV

Unfortunately, we don't actually make our own codes for Grand Theft Auto: San Andreas, Antoine—we just find the ones that developer Rockstar put in the game when it was originally created. If you're playing San Andreas 24 hours a day, when did you find the time to write and mail this letter?

The Most Sex Appeal

To help improve The San Andreas Chronicle, I think you should list what clothes, haircut, shoes, shades, chains and ride will give you the most sex appeal and where to find these items. But put each item in a separate issue so Tips & Tricks readers will have to buy each issue!

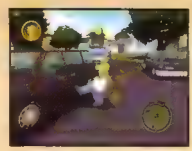
—Jamie Martin
Madison, AL

Now that's the kind of thinking we like to hear—helping us sell more copies of the magazine! While we applaud your entrepreneurial spirit, it's important for us to keep relevant information together to make our guides easier to read. We try to put all pertinent info about any given topic into a single Chronicle column. However, we do run a brand new edition of The San Andreas Chronicle every month, with all kinds of interesting and informative stuff, in the hopes that you guys will keep on picking up the magazine to find out what we're covering next.

GTA Springfield

There should be a cheat called "Be Homer Simpson" which makes you Homer Simpson.

—Vsman Chaudhri
Villanova, PA



You're in luck: Someone already made your idea into a whole game. It's called The Simpsons: Hit & Run and it's available at most game shops for under $20.

Your Wish = Our Command

Since my most wanted game, GTA: San Andreas, has come out on the Xbox, I went to the stores and looked for it until I found it and bought it. The game is the best I have ever played, but some cheat codes would make it better. So I went back to the stores and picked up your latest magazine (like always) but you didn't have any codes for the Xbox edition. I would like to see codes for the Xbox version as well as the PS2 game.

—Joseph Abrego
El Paso, TX

Because the lead time for publishing a magazine is generally a couple of months, the issues hitting the newsstands when San Andreas was released for the Xbox were written before the game came out. We're not sure when your letter was written, but we did feature all of the known Xbox codes for GTA: San Andreas in our August issue. If you missed them, just flip to the Xbox Tips section in the back of this issue to find them. Have fun!

HALO INSIDER

by Mark Johnson

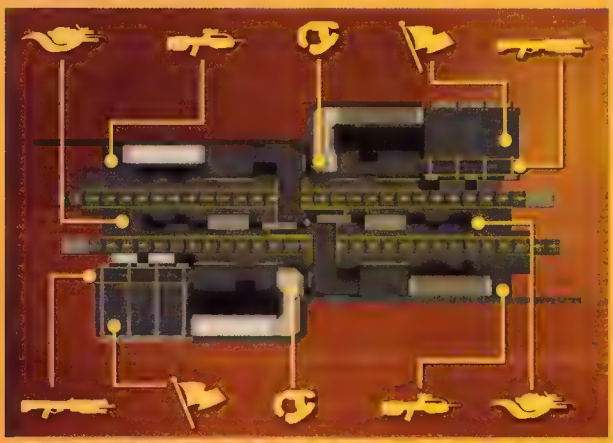
Vol. 11

With the release of Halo 2, the most popular Xbox game has been given a massive upgrade, incorporating Xbox Live support for online multiplayer matches among other refinements. This monthly column will keep you informed with the latest goings-on in the Halo 2 community, including trends, strategies, tricks, exploits and new discoveries...and of course, we'll also show you how to become a more lethal online combatant.

MAP PACK WRAP-UP

For your inspection this month we present Elongation, the final map from the Halo 2 Multiplayer Map Pack (also available as a free download on Xbox Live). Of all the new maps, this one is best suited for achieving that Zen-like state in Halo 2 where you don't stop, moving from kill to kill in a Running Riot whirlwind. The two ends of the map are easily distinguished by the red and blue coloring on the walls. Despite this, it can get a little confusing as you move from red to blue territory, so Bungie has provided a number of visual cues (burning debris, shot-up control panels, etc.) to help you figure out where you are. Frantic battles await you in this map, so learn how to move from zone to zone effectively and use our tips to help you come out on top.

Elongation



Map Legend

High above a besieged Earth floats this empty space freighter, now home to fierce battles in Elongation, the last of the new maps Bungie has blessed us with from on high. A remake of the popular Longest map from the original Halo, Elongation is essentially one long hallway with plenty of partitions and crates to stop your bullets from hitting their intended targets.

Recommended Number of Players: 4-8

Recommended Game Variants: 2 Flag CTF, Team Slayer, Slayer, Oddball

Vehicles: None

Remember these two words: Get up! Being caught on the ground floor is sure death; unless you have to kill the person who's trying to kill you, get off the bottom floor immediately. You can rain grenades and gunfire down on the silly people below who didn't read this month's Halo 2 Insider, and you'll score a decent number of kills by just taking potshots at people engaged in other fights below you. There are quite a few ways to get to the balconies in this map, including the crates, so learn them all by heart.

As many of you know, you can use the conveyor belt to ride a flag back to your base without being seen on your opponents' radar. What you may not have known is that it's quicker to go around the boxes than over them. If you're engaged on the bottom floor, step around the boxes rather than trying to jump over them when shaking off pursuit. That floating leap over a crate gives your enemy plenty of time to put a lethal amount of ammunition in your back. Throw a grenade straight at the box as you go to bounce it back into your pursuer's face; you might catch them off guard. You can also use grenades and Brute shots to create "logjams" with the crates, clogging up the conveyor belt to slow down enemy flag runners.

In a slayer match, Elongation is all about the flow. If you can set up a kind of figure-eight pattern, looping back and forth through the middle of the map, you'll become almost unstoppable. Always stay up high and move from ramp to ramp, crossing back and forth through the middle as you go. A moving target is always harder to hit, and you'll be able to cover all the hotspots in about 20 seconds. If you get the hang of this pattern and lead with grenades to weaken any foes, you'll be engaged with the enemy almost constantly, and the kills will add up faster than you can believe.

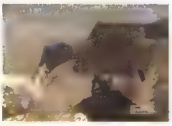
HALO 2 GOES BACK TO SCHOOL

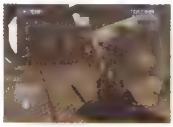
For some people, school doesn't mean science books and P.E.—it means map strategies and weapon combos. One of those people is Karson Voiles, and for him, school means Halo 2. Voiles is the creator of Halo2School.com, a Web site dedicated to teaching beginner and intermediate players how to be a master at Halo 2. With a fully staffed faculty comprised of some of the best Halo 2 players in the world, Halo2School is dead serious about helping you outsmart and outplay the rest of the competition. In our ever-continuing effort to provide you with the best tricks and tactics out there, we sought out the faculty at Halo2School.com for some expert advice straight from the pros. Pop quiz in the Rumble Pit after you read this....

To stay on top, you have to stay up top. Always get to the high ground. It's even better if you can get to an area that's difficult for your enemies to reach; this way, you don't have to worry as much about being assassinated, and you'll be free to jump down onto unsuspecting players or kill people with fire from above.



Every map has "hot spots" in it. These are places where people naturally move through as they travel the map—and as such, you get a lot of fighting in these areas. Don't go there. Go to someplace NEXT to the hot spots Stand on the edges of the battle zones and launch grenades in, or take potshots with the Battle Rifle; you'll soon start to rack up those triple kills.

The Overshield is awesome. It's like a 1-Up; you essentially get two health bars instead of just one. Learn where this little power-up is located on every single map, and get there as soon as possible. If you are running around with the Overshield on, you have twice the possibility of surviving and winning a fight.

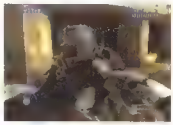


A team without a sniper is like the Chief without his armor. And rockets can take out multiple opponents at once as well as bringing down those fast-moving vehicles. On many maps, your strategy should be to lock down these two weapons and defend them at all costs.

As the saying goes, there's no "I" in "team." Your team can call out enemy positions, watch your back in a fight or even just take you for a scenic drive in the Warthog. (Does this thing have a radio?) Stick with your team; it may just save your life.

What's the first thing you should do when you spawn in? Check for enemy position. Most people run blindly for weapons, which means that somebody is going to be gunning for you while you're not looking. Quickly orient yourself and figure out where the opposition is immediately, so you can be instantly ready to fight. Worry about weapons later, when you know it's safe to run around.

This one seems simple, but you'd be surprised to learn how many players don't think about it: If you have a short-range weapon and your opponent has a rifle, throw a grenade and HIDE. Wait for them to come to you. Don't rush them to try to get in range. If you drop back, most of the time they will advance on your position, making them much easier to kill.



Halo 2 may be all about guns, but punching is crucial to coming out on top of the leaderboards. The melee attack in Halo 2 has been strengthened since the 1.1 update. When you are in close, unload with all the firepower you have, then put them down for a dirt nap with a melee attack. Think of it as your finishing move for close-quarters combat.

Now you can go online and test out some of this professional knowledge. If you are interested in learning more about what the school can offer, check out www.Halo2School.com/1. There are a number of free videos that you can watch to whet your appetite, and enrollment is already underway. Now if you'll excuse me, I have homework to do....

SGT. JOHNSON'S FOXHOLE

Here in The Foxhole, I'll tell you everything you need to know, but are too lazy to figure out! Statistics, strategies and anything else that a wet-behind-the-ears private needs to be the best. Kit up and move out, soldier — it's training time!

I'm back, maggots, and I've got the Shotgun to boot! This weapon is a beauty, and a lot of you online warriors out there love it. Once again, I'll tell you how fast this boomstick can blast away the baddies, how long it will take you to reload over their crumpled corpses and anything else you might need to know to be a master of the Shottie.

SHOTGUN

Specs

Ammo Type: Ballistic
Clip Size: 12 (maxes out at 48 shells)
Firing Mode: Semi-Automatic
Reload Speed: 8 Seconds
Melee Speed: 0.8 Seconds
Melee Hits with Shields: 3
Melee Hits without Shields: 1
Melee Hits with Overshields: 5
Scope: None
Range: Short to Shorter Accuracy: Very Low

Shots Required

Head Shots: 1 (at close range)
Body Shots: 1 (at close range)
Head Shots with Overshield: 2 (at close range)
Body Shots with Overshield: 2 (at close range)
These numbers are based on an opponent with full shields at the time of engagement.

Strengths

The Shotgun is a beast—as long as your foe is standing on your foot. For up-close-and personal engagement, this weapon is it, knocking down the opposition with every pull of its trigger. The Shotgun also has one of the faster melee speeds in the game, so if the buckshot didn't kill them, the butt of the gun will. In addition, you will almost never run out of ammo due to the Shotgun's one-hit/one-kill nature.

Weaknesses

Your target pretty much has to be your best friend for the Shottie to be of any use. If he isn't rubbing shoulders with you, your Shotgun blast won't do anything but tickle, so make sure you're close before you pull that trigger. But hey, a little tickling between friends never hurts, right? And only reload when there is nobody around. This gun has the slowest reload of any weapon in Halo 2, so don't try to reload in the middle of a fight.

The shotgun is a great up-in-your-grill kind of weapon. If you prefer to single-wield, always have one of these by your side. If you load out with a Battle Rifle and a Shotgun, you have all your bases covered, and by the time the enemy gets to you, one load of buckshot is all it takes to send 'em packing. With its quick melee ability and extremely high damage, this is a much-prized weapon—many battles are won or lost by the Shotgun. It's wise to reload after every fight if you can, even if you've only used one or two shells. It's not often that you'll run out of ammo, but coming to a fight with an empty chamber is an almost guaranteed way to die. If you're just outside of lethal range, fire off one round to knock out the enemy's shield, then step in and finish him with a melee attack. This is generally much quicker than trying to get off a second round...but it can be tricky, as it puts you inside your opponents melee range as well. The Shotgun is a powerful weapon with some strange timing quirks, but once you master it, this weapon will make you a terror on the battlefield.

TRUE CRIME: NEW YORK CITY

PS2

Publisher: Activision In Stores: November

Also On: GameCube • Xbox

TIPS & TRICKS PICK!

After hobnobbing with the Hollywood stars, the True Crime series turns to the concrete jungle of New York in True Crime: New York City. This time around, players take on the role of Marcus Reed, a former gangster turned cop. Marcus was saved from the life of crime by his mentor, Terrence Higgins, a NYPD detective. But Marcus' criminal past may not be completely buried—his father, Isaiah "The King" Reed, is a notorious gangster who still runs his operation from behind bars. Torn between the two influences in his life, Marcus straddles the thin line between good cop and bad cop. Several well-known actors will be performing the voices for the characters including Mickey Rourke, Laurence Fishburne and Christopher Walken, who makes a return from the first game. True Crime: New York City has the most accurate re-creation of New York City ever seen in a game. New Yorkers will recognize every street corner and neighborhood, like Chelsea, West Village, Hell's Kitchen, SoHo, Lower East Side, Upper West Side, East Harlem, Spanish Harlem, Tribeca, Theater District, Wall Street and more. Of course, all of the city's world-renowned landmarks are there, like Times Square, the Statue of Liberty and the Empire State Building, just to name a few. Compared to Los Angeles in the last True Crime game, New York is a lot grittier with plenty of graffiti and trash blowing around in the streets. As you choose between performing good deeds and bad, the city's neighborhoods will reflect their crime rate—the more arrests you make in a certain neighborhood, the cleaner and safer it will become. Crime-ridden areas will visibly deteriorate with boarded-up businesses, beat-up cars and unseemly characters if you continue to ignore the lawlessness. The game divides itself between linear, must-complete story missions and open-ended crime-solving stints that will either honor or dishonor the badge.

PETER JACKSON'S KING KONG

Publisher: Ubisoft In Stores: November

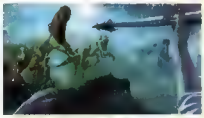
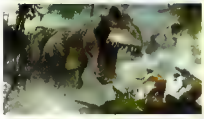
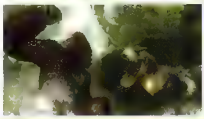
Also On: PS2 • GameCube • DS • Xbox 360 PSP • Game Boy Advance • PlayStation 3

Based on Peter Jackson's upcoming film King Kong, Ubisoft's game will let you experience Skull Island a full month before the movie is even released! The game lets you play in first-person view as Jack Driscoll with some third-person scenarios in which you control Kong himself. To fully immerse the player in the game's world, there are no on-screen interface elements to represent your health, inventory, etc. The game is more about survival than being a fast-action shooter. As you make your way through Skull Island, you will learn your place in the food chain of the jungle's ecosystem. Living bait can be used to distract predators from attacking you; even during a heated battle, a dinosaur may turn away and go after another species.







DRAGON BALL Z: BUDOKAI TENKAICHI

Publisher: Atari In Stores: November

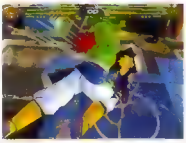
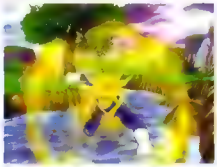
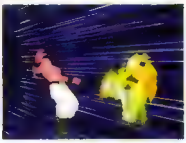
Choose from one of over 60 DBZ characters and battle it out in fully three-dimensional, destructible environments. From fist-fighting on the ground to air combat to underwater combat and everything in between, you can transition easily between environments and locations with no break in the action. One of the most innovative features in Budokai Tenkaichi is the character customization option. Each character has over 10 attributes that you can upgrade while playing through the game, allowing you to create your own custom DBZ fighter. Several gameplay modes allow for diverse challenges; engage a friend in Versus mode or fight your way through a slew of computer-controlled opponents in the World Martial Arts Tournament.







THE LEGEND OF ZELDA: TWILIGHT PRINCESS

Publisher: Nintendo In Stores: 2006

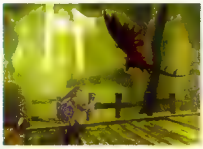
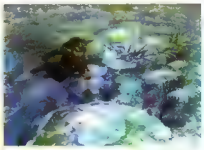
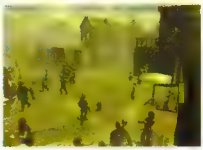
Instead of the cartoonish Wind Waker, Twilight Princess is more realistic, with Link looking much more like an adult. Starting the game as a wrangler, he's a proficient horseman and can wield weapons and items while mounted. The Twilight Realm has descended over the nation of Hyrule, and when Link enters it, he's transformed into a wolf and captured! Animals play a large role in the game; one dungeon is filled with cooperative monkeys that help Link to cross otherwise impassable obstacles. Judging from screenshots and past Zelda titles, the game is certain to feature huge bosses and sprawling dungeons. Hopefully we'll see this title released before the GameCube enters its own "Twilight Realm."







PHANTASY STAR UNIVERSE

Publisher: Sega In Stores: February 2006

Phantasy Star Universe will have the expected online experience, but it will also include the first major offline Phantasy Star game in more than a decade. In the single-player game, you control Ethan Waber, a young cadet attempting to rescue his sister from a besieged planet. The Online Mode allows you to create your own character and band together with other players as you explore three enormous worlds. Besides introducing new enemies and locations, the game will now have player-controlled vehicles so you can travel great distances. Sega promises to supply new downloadable content for the game over the course of several years.

STAR WARS BATTLEFRONT II

Publisher: LucasArts In Stores: November

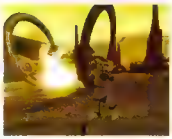
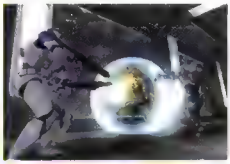
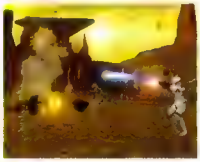
TIPS & TRICKS PICK!

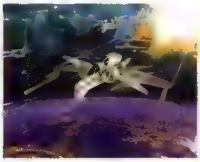
Also On: PS2 • PSP

The gameplay of Star Wars: Battlefront II is similar to that of the first game; fight your way across a battlefield using any vehicles and weapons that you come across in an effort to capture command posts. There are over 12 new locations to visit, including some from Episode III. Playable Jedi characters have also been added, but they can only be unlocked by fulfilling certain conditions in each stage. A new addition to Battlefront II is space combat; hop into an X-Wing and destroy Imperial TIE fighters or make bombing runs on an enemy freighter. As with Battlefront, online play is included. The PS2 version allows for 24 players to link up for an online game, while the Xbox version lets 32 players battle it out.









METAL GEAR SOLID 3: SUBSISTENCE

Publisher: Konomi In Stores: November

TIPS & TRICKS PICK!

Subsistence includes Metal Gear Solid 3: Snake Eater plus many new features: Online Mode, Duel Mode, Demo Theatre, a 360° rotating camera and two retro games, Metal Gear and Metal Gear 2: Solid Snake as they originally appeared on the MSX 2 computer. The online modes include Sneaking Mission (where one person playing Snake tries to steal from a group of others), Rescue Mission (one team defends an object they need to deliver while the other team is trying to destroy it), Team Death Match and more. Duel Mode and Demo Theatre are unlocked only when MGS3: Snake Eater is finished; Duel Mode lets you select bosses to fight, while Demo Theatre allows you to watch in-game movies. Even the humorous Snake vs. Ape episode is back with some new stages.

BATTLEFIELD 2: MODERN COMBAT

Publisher: EA Available Now

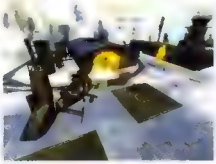
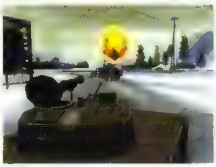
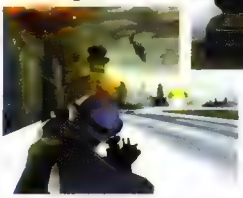
Also On: Xbox • PSP

It's all-out mayhem in Battlefield 2: Modern Combat, as players from around the nation go online and enter the chaos of war. Anything goes on the battlefield—if you see a tank, jump in and crush your enemies. Hijack a boat and attack from the sea. Find a plane and take to the skies for an aerial assault! As you become more skilled as a soldier, your rank will increase from Private all the way up to General, thus commanding respect from other players online. The single-player campaign lets you decide which side to fight for. The storyline revolves around a propaganda battle, forcing players to rally behind certain ideals and goals.







GUN

Publisher: Activision In Stores: November

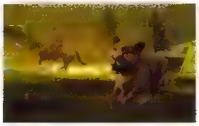
TIPS & TRICKS PICK!

Also On: PS2 • GameCube • DS • PSP

Tony Hawk developer Neversoft takes a break from the half-pipe and tries on some spurs and holsters for its new Wild West game, GUN. It's a free-roaming action/adventure epic which takes place in the untamed West of the late 1800s. In the role of Colton White, a gunslinger bent on revenge, you'll hunt buffalo, escort ladies, assault strongholds, compete for bounties and more. Riding into town on your trusted horse, some townsfolk will welcome you or start shooting, depending on your reputation. The game features some amazing rider and horse dynamics, including the ability to shoot and ride at the same time. GUN is a major project for Activision; its big-budget polish is immediately evident.



AEON FLUX

Publisher: Majesco In Stores: November

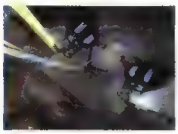
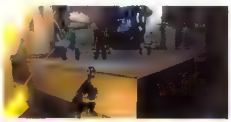
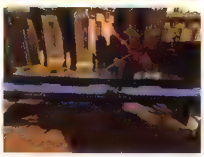
Also On: Xbox

If you remember MTV's Liquid Television, then you probably also remember the animated series Aeon Flux. For those of you who didn't have cable back then, Aeon Flux centered on a female assassin in a futuristic world reminiscent of Blade Runner. The game is set 400 years in the future and acts as the conduit between the end of the TV series and the beginning of the upcoming major motion picture. Imagine taking DNA from Lara Croft, Joanna Dark and Samus Aran and creating the ultimate female fighting machine—that's Aeon. Oh, and she looks like Charlize Theron (the star of the aforementioned movie, who also happens to lend her voice to the game).







THE INCREDIBLES: RISE OF THE UNDERMINER

Publisher: THQ In Stores: November

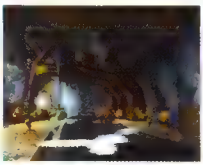
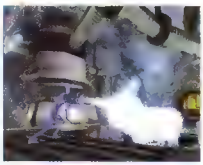
Also On: PS2 • Xbox • DS • PSP

Much like Michael Jordan did after retiring from basketball the first time, Bob Parr just couldn't stay away from the crime-fighting lifestyle. In The Incredibles, Bob pulled his wife and kids back into the family business to take on and defeat the evil Syndrome. But unlike Jordan's comeback, it looks like the Incredibles are sticking it out for the long haul, as they've got another game (and movie) on the way. Rise of the Underminer picks up where the (upcoming) film leaves off, and pits you against—yep, you guessed it—the Underminer and his evil legion of robots. You'll take control of both Mr. Incredible and his best friend and crime-fighting buddy Frozone as you fight to keep the streets of Metroville safe.





RAMPAGE: TOTAL DESTRUCTION

Publisher: Midway In Stores: 2nd Quarter 2006

Also On: PS2

TIPS & TRICKS PICK!

Rampage is one of our all-time favorite arcade games, and its multiple sequels were no slouches either. But Total Destruction just might top 'em all; it's got 3-D-rendered cities to tear down brick by brick and dozens of new monsters in addition to the original trio of George, Lizzie and Ralph. The early version we played did not feature a time limit, so we were free to take our time exploring and gleefully punching out every window of every building. Unashamedly aimed at kids, the game's outrageous two-player mayhem offers catharsis for adults, too—and with the PS2 and GameCube versions both carrying a suggested retail price of only $19.95, no self-respecting gamer's home should be without one.

DRAGON QUEST VIII: JOURNEY OF THE CURSED KING

Publisher: Square Enix In Stores: November

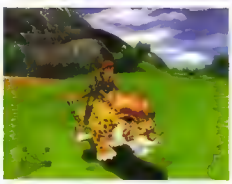
TIPS & TRICKS PICK!

Dragon Quest VIII: Journey of the Cursed King marks the first time the popular role-playing series (previously known as Dragon Warrior in North America) appears on the PlayStation 2. A curse changes the King and Princess of Trodain Castle into beasts, the people into thorns, and freezes their kingdom in time. Players control the only young man to escape this curse, who sets off to find a way to restore his homeland. The game offers a sprawling 3-D world in which the visible geography is all explorable, from the mountains off in the distance to the stretch of blue ocean. In some areas you'll even ride local animals! It also features voice-overs and over-the-top battle animations to enhance the feeling of being inside an amusing Akira Toriyama cartoon.



CONDEMNED: CRIMINAL ORIGINS

Publisher: Sega | In Stores: 2006

Serial killers are lurking in the shadows of a hellish urban landscape, and FBI agent Ethan Thomas must stalk these psychopaths on their home turf by using forensic tools, gut instincts and found weapons (almost everything in the environment can be turned into a melee weapon). The first-person perspective and realistic physics heighten the sense of danger, severely testing both Ethan's and your own ability to handle the intense psychological pressure. Condemned is shaping up to be one of the most terrifying games coming up for the next-generation consoles. Gamers who can't get enough of Silent Hill and Fatal Frame will enjoy the spooky thrills, even if it means sleeping with the lights on again.

ULTIMATE PUZZLE GAMES

Publisher: Telegames | In Stores: November

The latest in Telegames' successful Ultimate series delivers 1,001 different puzzles to challenge your intellect. 12 different puzzle types are featured, including crosswords, word searches and more. With on-screen instructions and the ability to save puzzles in progress, you can jump right into the game and put it down at any time. If you have a Game Boy Advance Game Link Cable, you can transmit puzzles to your friends' GBA units and allow them to play independently even after you walk away. The average solution time for each puzzle is said to be 10 to 20 minutes, so the total playing time for solving all 1,001 puzzle should be...let's see... about a week or two of non-stop playing!

Publisher: Atari | In Stores: March 2006

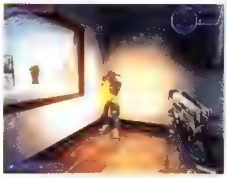
Also On: Xbox 360

Developed by Saber Interactive, TimeShift takes the first-person shooter genre to the next level by introducing the ability to control time. Players can stop, rewind, fast forward and slow time to overcome obstacles and kill enemies. A vast array of weapons is included, such as plasma guns and the "Swarm Cannon," with many of the weapons having secondary killing functions. The graphics and lighting effects are very impressive; we noticed subtle details such as individual pores in bricks and realistic moving shadows that brought the game to life. There are over 35 missions to complete, each with specific elements that players must overcome via the use of their time control powers and smarts. Online multiplayer will be included in case you get tired of killing the same enemy 14 different ways.



LARA CROFT TOMB RAIDER: LEGEND

Publisher: Eidos | In Stores: February 2006

Also On: PS2 • PSP • Xbox 360

Lara Croft has been around the block a few times. So many games have been made exploiting her character, it's hard to remember her as the fresh-faced newcomer who debuted on the original PlayStation in all her acrobatic polygonal glory to enormous critical acclaim. Original creator Toby Gard has jumped back on board to give Lara a makeover, and hopefully recapture that old magic by bringing the series back to its roots—raiding ancient tombs. With her thigh-high holsters, straps for holding grenades and Olympics-level gymnastic ability, Lara is ready for anything, and the emphasis in Legend is on action rather than puzzle-solving.

DS METROID PRIME: HUNTERS

Publisher: Nintendo | In Stores: 1st Quarter 2006

Although Metroid Prime: Hunters has been delayed until next year, Nintendo will make up for it by adding a new major feature: online play. You'll be able to connect to other players using Nintendo Wi-Fi Connection, Nintendo's upcoming online gaming service. Several different multiplayer modes will be available including Deathmatch and King of the Hill. Each hunter will have his or her own weapon, fighting style and back story, giving you a wide variety of playing styles and strategies. Details about the single-player mode are still sketchy, but all six bounty hunters—Noxus, Spire, Kanden, Sylux, Trace and Weavel—will come face-to-face with Samus Aran as boss characters in the game.

XBOX THE CHRONICLES OF NARNIA: THE LION, THE WITCH, AND THE WARDROBE

Publisher: Buena Vista | In Stores: November

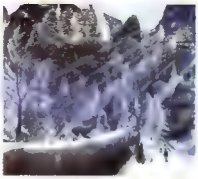
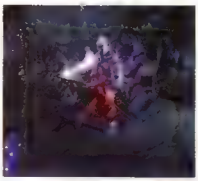
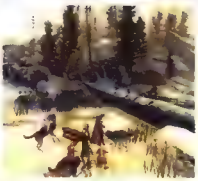
Also On: PS2 • GameCube • DS • PSP

C.S. Lewis' series The Chronicles of Narnia has entertained readers for more than 50 years. The first book, The Lion, the Witch, and the Wardrobe, is about four children who accidentally stumble into Narnia through an old wardrobe. The White Witch has blanketed the land in snow and rules over the Talking Animals with a frozen fist. Developer Traveller's Tales has created an excellent ensemble game where you control all four children and switch between them on the fly. Each possesses unique abilities such as melee/projectile attacks, the agility to climb poles or the ability to cast healing spells. Team attacks let larger children fling their smaller siblings to break down barriers.







KINGDOM OF PARADISE

Publisher: Sony In Stores: November

Kingdom of Paradise is an action/RPG set in a land called Ohka, where five martial arts clans peacefully coexist...until the Kirin clan tries to usurp power. Playing as an exiled warrior named Shinbu, you must try to restore the balance of power while protecting your own clan. There are more than 100 different styles of sword fighting in the game, along with 15 types of Qigong martial arts; it's a robust saga that contains at least 20 hours of gameplay for an aspiring swordsman. In addition, there is a multiplayer feature through the ad hoc mode, and downloadable content to diversify your experience.

DRIVER: PARALLEL LINES

Publisher: Atari In Stores: 1st Quarter 2006

Also On: Xbox

Parallel Lines takes the Driver series back to its roots with non-stop car chase action. Set in a realistic city in the 1970s, players will take on the role of the most wanted driver in town while they complete over 40 different missions and participate in minigames such as "Cops and Robbers." There are over 75 different vehicles including motorcycles, cars, trucks and bikes, and each one can be customized through various performance and tuning options. There are no loading times whatsoever in Parallel Lines—each area transitions from one to another seamlessly to keep you immersed in the story. A new feature to the Driver series is the addition of online play for to eight players.

SUIKODEN TACTICS

Publisher: Konami In Stores: November

Suikoden Tactics takes place two years before the events of Suikoden IV. There are more than 50 characters to control in this turn-based strategy game, and many of them are familiar faces from previous Suikoden titles. Kyril, the main character, is exploring the mystery behind the Rune Cannons and also the appearance of monstrous fishmen in the Island Nations—could they be connected? Battlefield terrain can significantly impact a character's performance; depending on elemental affinities, certain portions can cause healing or damage. Friendships between characters can also contribute to a Combination Attack where numerous party members join forces and deliver a devastating blow to the enemy, complete with vibrant animation.

LORD OF THE RINGS TACTICS

Publisher: EA In Stores: November

Just because Peter Jackson has moved on to an aggressive, overgrown ape, that doesn't mean you have to go with him. Thanks to EA, the mythical Middle Earth lives on in the form of Lord of the Rings Tactics. In this turn-based strategy/RPG/action amalgam, players will have the opportunity to see the battle from both sides in two campaigns: the Fellowship of the Ring and the Host of Mordor. Tactics incorporates 40 minutes of footage from all three films in the trilogy and will take you to 20 familiar locations as you continue the fight for Middle Earth.

HOW TO GET CONNECTED

In an earlier issue, you said the PSP can hook onto the Internet. I've tried and tried and I still can't get connected. Could you please send me the information on how to do this?

—Derek T. Hanke

Lots of readers have been asking us this question. You'll find the information you seek in this month's Online Gamer column on page 61.

PIECES OF EIGHT

I was wondering if the Sega Genesis game, Pirates! has anything to do with the new Xbox game, Sid Meier's Pirates!

—Tyler Holman
Hoschton, GA

Yep! The original Pirates! was designed by Sid Meier for personal computers back in 1987. The Genesis cart (it's actually called Pirates! Gold*) is a conversion of the PC sequel to the original* Pirates!, and the Xbox game is a 21st-century remake with modern graphics and tons of enhancements.

CHANGE IT BACK

This is my first time writing to Tips & Tricks. I have a complaint and I beg you to change it. The Upcoming Game Release Calendar was recently changed, and I would like it—and everyone else who reads your magazine would like it—if you would change it back to the way it was. I am very annoyed that you changed it to this; I can't find when my precious PSP games are coming out. Please, I beg you, change it back.

—Troy A. Hoffman
Cherry Valley, CA

We don't make any changes to Tips & Tricks without careful thought and discussion. The Upcoming Game Release Calendar was changed for several reasons. Mainly, it's very difficult to compile all of that release date information, and we needed a way to simplify the process to reduce the amount of time we'd have to spend working on one crummy page. We also found that we were wasting space by repeating a lot of information for games that were being released on several different platforms. The new format may not be as attractive, but it's much more streamlined and is easier for us to assemble. Sorry you don't like it.

DESPERATELY SEEKING E-RATED RPGS

I am desperately trying to obtain information on GOOD video games that meet the following criteria:

- Rated "E" ONLY
- Rendered 3-D, not primarily or solely 2-D
- For the PS2
- Hopefully have a strategy guide available (not required, however)
- Role-playing in nature (sword & sorcery type preferred) or adventure or strategy in nature, not overly "platform" in nature

As I am fairly new to gaming, recommended games do not have to be new; a two- or three-year-old game would still be new to me at this point. Right now I'm primarily playing Kingdom Hearts (which I truly enjoy, though I prefer games with adults as central characters) and Gran Turismo 4 (my favorite racing game, and an excellent game indeed, but I don't need a lot of racing games, as they all start seeming alike to me).

I would greatly appreciate any pamphlets, advertisements or other printed literature—even just game titles—on games that meet the above criteria. Games that are or once were best sellers will certainly get my attention, but I've played games that I enjoyed which weren't bought by the masses. If you know a game's a dud, don't send me info on it. Otherwise, I'm interested in whatever you recommend.

Thank you for your time and I appreciate any assistance you can provide me.

—Lee French
Farmington, MO

That's a tall order, but we'll try. According to the "Game Finder" feature at Sony's PlayStation Web site, 1,179 games have been released or planned for release on the PlayStation 2 system at press time. 245 of them are classified as either RPG, Adventure, Strategy or Turn-Based Strategy, and of those, 71 carry the "E" rating. Only 15 of those are not action/platform oriented, three others are primarily 2-D...and Kingdom Hearts you already have.

*Most of the 11 remaining games are kid-oriented (*Digimon World 4, Duel Masters, the Monster Rancher *games), involve lots of creativity on your part (*Magic Pengel, Graffiti Kingdom, the RPG Maker games) or are as far from "sword & sorcery" as you can get (the Harvest Moon games). What's left? Namco's Nightmare of Druaga (2004) and 3DO's Heroes of Might & Magic (2001), neither of which enjoyed particularly good reviews.

If you would just lose your prejudice against 2-D games, we think you'd find a lot more to like. Don't forget that your PS2 can also play games for the original PlayStation, which had lots of great RPGs that are still worth playing.

THE SECRET

First of all, thank you Earl for delivering my letter. Secondly, I have some questions for you guys.

1) Where do you guys get all the info for new releases?

2) Do you guys at the T&T H.Q. have a massive "Room of Doom" where you play all your games? (If so, send a picture.)

3) How do you guys figure out codes for all these games? I mean, most of the time they are random combinations of characters. What's the secret?

TOKEN OF THE MONTH

This month's token comes from the Mundo Divertido ("Fun World") arcade in Hermosillo, Sonora, Mexico. Our thanks to Evan Krepps of Toledo, Ohio for sending it in.

Arcade players and operators: Send us a token from your favorite arcade. If we choose it as our "Token of the Month," we'll print your name right here. Tape the token to a piece of cardboard (so it doesn't come loose in the envelope) and send it to

Token of the Month
Tips & Tricks Magazine

Beverly Hills, CA 90211

Earl says, "You're welcome"...but Charlotte and Lisa would like to know why you keep calling them "guys."

1) We're not sure if we understand this question. Are you talking about the Select Game Previews section, with the release dates? We have contacts at all of the video-game companies that keep us up to date with this info. In fact, nearly every game publisher has a public relations staff, and part of their job is to make sure that we know which games are coming out, and when.

2) Most of us have TVs at our desks so we don't have to keep getting up. And the games are split up into different offices: Anatole has the Xbox games in his office, Chris B. has all of our PS2, PSP and DS games, Charlotte watches over our GBA library and everything else is in file cabinets behind Geoff's desk. The central office is not "massive," but that's where most of the action takes place, like when developers visit to show us their unfinished projects. Here's a photo. (You'll have to excuse the mess; it's deadline time.)

3) If we told you, it wouldn't be a secret.

JAPAN RETORT

I've been reading Tips & Tricks for many years, and I have so many copies that I finally decided to get rid of most of them because they are taking up too much space. I'm not writing to hurt your feelings, because I love the magazine. But my apartment is really small, and it's turning into a fire hazard.

Anyway, I was getting ready to drop the magazines in the recycle bin when I decided at the last minute to keep my favorite section, Japan Report! It's the first thing I read every month, and I thought it would be fun to cut out the pages with Japan Report! and save them all in a scrapbook. It turned out really cool; there have been A LOT of Japan Report! columns over the years, and I enjoyed reading them all over again.

Anyway, the reason why I'm writing this letter is to tell you that I think you made a mistake with the "Vol." number in this column. The September issue has "Vol. 92" printed on the Japan Report! column, but when I counted all of the previous articles with this one included, I only came up with a total of 91. You didn't print volume numbers on your columns for the first few years, but I think I know why the number is off by one. Back in 1998, there was one issue with no Japan Report! column in it: Issue #40. I figure that you miscounted because you forgot about that issue.

Anyway, I'm looking forward to Japan Report! Vol. 100. (Or will that be 99?)

—Adolfo Quiñonez
Las Cruces, NM

By golly, you're right! We're pretty embarrassed about the foul-up. To make amends, this issue's Japan Report! column will feature no volume number, which will allow us to catch up with an accurate total when the real Volume 94 appears next month. Thanks for pointing it out...and we're glad you recycled those old mags instead of throwing them in the garbage.

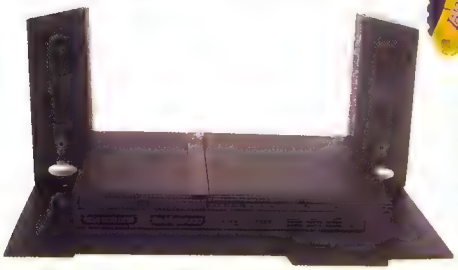
With the introduction of the Xbox 360 this holiday season, a lot more emphasis will be put onto High-Definition TVs as the new standard for gaming. What separates the Philips Ambilight TV from other TVs is the Ambilight feature; ambient backlighting is used to expand the colors seen on the screen into the surrounding environment, creating a more realistic gaming experience. As you go from lush jungles to urban cities to dark dungeons, the backlighting will change the area around your TV to shades of color that mimic what you see on the screen. HD-capable right out of the box, the HD Ambilight features built-in NTSC and ATSC/QAM tuners to receive content from multiple sources, and Philips' Pixel Plus 2 HD technology polishes the picture even further by improving the detail, sharpness and colors for optimal picture quality. Available in both LCD and Plasma, the HD Ambilight Flat TVs range in size from 32" to 50" and range in price from $1,799 to $4,499.

If you liked Logitech's PlayGear Pocket PSP case, you'll definitely dig the new PlayGear Street. Retailing for $29.99, the PlayGear Street is made of the same durable ABS plastic, which provides excellent protection against any accidental bumps or drops. An adjustable clip-on strap and a heavy-duty plastic clip are included, so you can wear or tote your PSP wherever you go, or even attach your PSP to anything with a loop, belt loop or handle. A custom-fitting molded rubber interior holds the PSP in place while on the go, and the case interior can hold up to four additional Memory Sticks and three UMDs. An open audio port allows you to listen to tunes while the PSP is still in the case.

MadCatz brings its officially licensed NBA controllers to retailers this fall. Available for $29.99 for PS2 and Xbox, the NBA Control Pad Pro features the colors and logos of all of your favorite NBA teams. Constructed out of a hard polycarbonate material, the NBA Control Pad Pro sports all of the bells and whistles of your normal PS2 and Xbox controllers including twin precision analog sticks, full analog buttons and dual vibration motors for rumble-compatible games.



Designed specifically for the slim PlayStation 2 and with portability in mind, the Compact Sound System by Intec is perfect for gamers who travel with their PS2. For $29.99, the System offers two three-watt and two one-watt speakers, delivering rich simulated theater surround sound whether you're listening to CDs, watching DVDs or playing games. The design is consistent with the slim PS2's architecture, and the speakers swivel and fold down to a flat position to allow for easy storage when not in use. The Compact Sound System is available now at most local video-game accessory retailers.

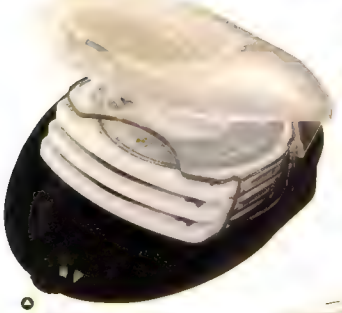
Compact Power Systems offers a line of batteries for mobile phones called Cellboost. Now the company is also introducing similar Cellboost batteries for the Game Boy Advance SP, Nintendo DS and PSP that offer added power—up to two hours more for the PSP and up to six hours more for the SP and DS. The Cellboost isn't a rechargeable device like power systems made for the handhelds by other companies; it's a supplemental battery that you use once and throw away. For only $10, it might be something to keep in your backpack or carry bag for when you can't get near an outlet and absolutely need to get some more playing in.

Intec's new Unlimited Rechargeable Wireless Controllers for PS2, Xbox or GameCube are fitted with rechargeable batteries that let you play for a whopping 60 hours on a single charge. When the low battery light comes on, simply plug the controller into the controller socket via link cable and receiver and recharge the controller while playing. The 2.4GHz controllers feature twin analog sticks, analog buttons with turbo functions, dual vibration motors with onloff switches and a built-in sleep mode which shuts the controller off after five minutes of idle time. The PlayStation 2 and GameCube controllers retail for $29.99 and the Xbox controller retails for $34.99; all three are available in stores now.

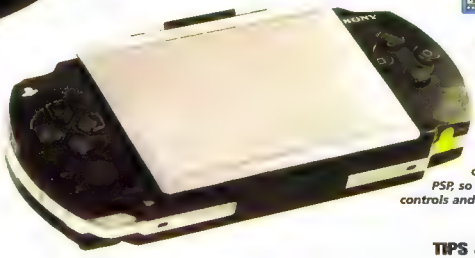
When the company that created Mattel Electronics Football and the Intellivision console makes a new video game, we always sit up and take notice. Mattel's Plug & Play Hot Wheels Racing Game works like the Jakks all-in-one game controllers; it runs on batteries and hooks directly to your TV with no game system required. An isometric-view racing game, it lets you choose one of four different Hot Wheels cars and race on six different tracks, with three difficulty settings to adjust the level of challenge.

At only $19.99, the 3n1 Case by Black is a perfect storage device for your PSP while not in use. Don't worry too much about dropping your PSP while in the 3n1 case; the brushed metal exterior is strong enough to withstand accidental bumps and scrapes. The interior is lined with soft molded rubber, which is designed to custom-fit the PSP, and has space for one additional UMD disc and four Duo-style memory sticks. The 3n1 also features sockets on either end of the case so you can charge your PSP and use your headphones without removing the unit. There is also a clear window on the front of the case, allowing you to see selections on the PSP's menu screens.

Two of the latest entries in Jakks Pacific's popular line of Plug It In & Play TV Games controllers are Fantastic Four and Dragon Ball Z. Both are battery-operated all-in-one systems with built in games; they connect to your TV with no game system required. Dragon Ball Z was developed by Handheld Games and features three contests: Buto-Retsuden (a one-on-one fighting game), Kamehameha Assault (a Pong-like action game) and a DBZ-themed Pinball game, all contained in a very cool Shenron controller. The Fantastic Four controller looks like the Thing and houses a side-scrolling platform game developed by Digital Eclipse; it also has a battery-backed save feature. Both controllers feature "Gamekey" cartridge slots to allow future games to be added (Gamekeys sold separately).



With the abundance of PSP games and UMD movies in stores these days, everyone needs a device to store or transport additional UMD discs. Available for $6.99, Nyko's Pocket Case is small enough to fit into your pocket but still has space to store up to three UMD discs while keeping them safe from scratches.



Nyko's Screen Armor (MSRP $9.99) is designed to drastically reduce the nicks and scratches that may plague your PSP's screen over time. The Screen Armor attaches to the PSP via rubberized hinged grips and the rubber-lined underside sits flush against the screen, providing great protection. The Screen Armor only covers the screen portion of the PSP, so you still have access to your volume controls and buttons if you're listening to music.

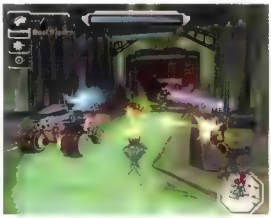
ONLINE SNEAK PREVIEW

By creating three top-notch franchises in the last few years, Sony seems to have a stranglehold on the current platform gaming market. My favorite of the three is the Ratchet & Clank series because it's more action oriented and I love blowing stuff up with futuristic weaponry. So it comes as no surprise that I jumped at the chance to participate in a walkthrough of the online beta version of Ratchet: Deadlocked.

0945 Hours

With a cup of iced coffee in one hand and a croissant in the other, it was time to meet with representatives from Insomniac, the game's developer, and tear cyberspace a new black hole. Not only would these experienced players be my virtual "tour guides," but they would also be teammates and enemies. Fortunately, there were other media representatives (i.e. cannon fodder) along for the ride that would take the focus off of my inexperience.

As we waited for everyone to join, I had the chance to check out the pre-game options. Many of them were not accessible during the beta test, but they were a good indication of things to come. In the final game, players will be able to form parties in order to join games as a group as well as have a buddy list to instantly join games that contain online "friends." There is also a clan menu and an area for displaying stats, but they were unavailable so the depth of these menus is still unclear.



This will teach those fiends not to raise gas prices!

However, I did have access to some nifty options, like the "find-a-game" tool that lets players search for games containing certain features. Here it is possible to filter out the type of game played, which map it will be played on, whether that map will have vehicles or not and the skill level of other players. These filters can be mixed and matched to create the perfect custom game for anyone. I am especially happy with the ability to filter out high or low player skill levels because, believe it or not, some players are much better than me…I mean, others.

Taking a cue from Xbox Live, the ability to enter a game swiftly by using the "quick play" option is also included. Using this button drops players into the action faster than you can say "dismembered furball." There are no choices to make, since the game type and map are randomly chosen. With such a wide variety of possibilities, the only things that you can count on are a good connection to the server and fast-paced action. Hopefully this mode will take skill levels into account as well.

Players who want to create their own custom games have plenty of choices to make. First, they must decide which of the five game types to choose as well as pick one of four environments. From there, several choices are available depending on the game type. For example, choosing the standard Deathmatch mode opens up the ability to add or remove vehicles and decide on the amount of kills needed to win.

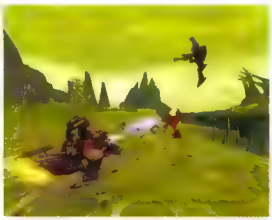
With all media and developers accounted for, it was time to begin my virtual tour of duty. We started by playing a free-for-all deathmatch game and I quickly learned the disadvantages of running out of ammunition. While everyone started off with dual blasters, they seemed extremely underpowered when faced with other weapons, like the Fusion Rifle. Even though the ability to double-jump while emptying your blasters is a nice addition, it becomes ineffective against homing rockets and can't even scratch the protective energy shields deployed by the Shield Gun. Fortunately, each weapon upgrades itself after a set amount of kills, so every weapon can be put to good use in the right situation.

After all the media were thoroughly stomped by Insomniac and Sony representatives, we fired up a game of team deathmatch. This is when I found out that we could split our eight players in any way possible. We had the "official" players split up into two teams of two each while the four media players joined the same team (ManiacalMedia). Despite this distinct advantage, we still lost! However, the ability to have more than two teams was really fun and made the match even more frantic.

Next we tried a game of King of the Hill. In this mode, one player has to dominate a certain area of the map while keeping it free of opponents. I was thrilled to gain control of the "hill" early on, but it was short-lived. When I returned to the area, it was controlled by another player, and strange floating orbs were everywhere. As I attempted to engage the enemy in combat, I realized that the orbs were floating mines cleverly dispersed with the mine launcher gun. Boom, bam, pow—time to respawn! Damn you, Insomniac players! Talk about having the home court advantage….



I hope their heads don't dent the front of my pimped-out air scooter!

1100 Hours

Juggernaut was the next mode of play, and it is identical to Halo 2's multiplayer mode of the same name. One player is the Juggernaut and has a more powerful shield, while all other players try to take him out. Only the Juggernaut can score points, so everyone vies to become the "exalted one." The player who becomes the Juggernaut is the last one to damage the existing Juggernaut instead of the player that does the most damage to him. This allows people to slink in and steal the Juggernaut role from others at the last minute. Also, the player who turns into the Juggernaut doesn't immediately get full health, so despite the added shield, he can be killed quickly if he has low health. I lost the first Juggernaut match but actually won the second. That's when one of the Insomniac reps chimed in by saying, "OK, now the gloves come off." I guess his ego was bruised (heh heh).

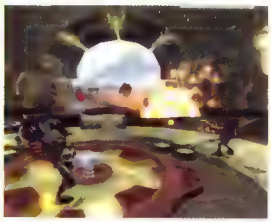
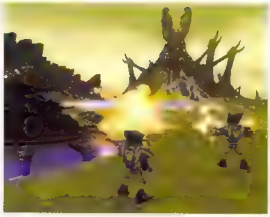
Capture the Flag came up next and plays just like most other CTF games. One team has to capture the other team's flag and return it to their own flag before it is stolen. This is when some of the in-game vehicles became available. While the off-road vehicle is a rip-off of Halo's Warthog, it is a welcome addition. Tearing around the level attempting to create fresh roadkill while your gunner rips everything to shreds is a beautiful sight to behold. Other modes of transportation include flying vehicles and the deadly Spider Tank. This formidable, slow-moving weapon is the last thing that you'd want to see in a dark alley.



How many times have I told you? No particle explosions in the house before breakfast!

The last mode that we played was Conquest, which is very similar to the Conquest mode introduced in Ratchet & Clank: Up Your Arsenal. In order to win, players have to capture and hold certain areas of the map to gain points. Holding more areas than the enemy allows your point total to rise faster than theirs, and the winner is the team that reaches the set amount of points first. One nice addition to this mode is the ability to choose which upgrades each area utilizes when it is captured. For example, when your team gains control of an area, a small menu appears that lets you choose between several upgrade options: increasing the damage dealt by the gun turrets in that area, adding shields to those turrets, creating a vehicle spawn point and more. All players on that team get to select which upgrade to use, and the upgrade with the most votes is then implemented. Three cheers for democracy!



Gee, I hope that guy wasn't on our team!

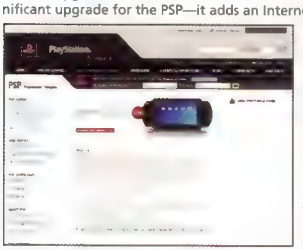
The session was coming to a close when a member of the Insomniac team asked if we wanted to play another game. I immediately responded with a hearty "hell yeah" and we were back in action!

Now I had time to actually check out the level design. One map features two large grassy areas (each with a base in the middle) that are separated by a stream of water. A couple of small bridges connect them and we had lots of fun using various vehicles in this map while playing Capture the Flag. Another level is set on rooftops and threatens players with the chance to fall into oblivion around every corner. Several floating orbs are placed between rooftops so players can latch onto them and swing to the next area. For more intricate battles, one other map we played is taken directly from the single-player mode and features several buildings, giant steps and various hiding spots. This level is lots of fun and is ideal for Conquest mode.

Ratchet: Deadlocked takes frantic multiplayer action and adds wacky weaponry, cool vehicles and plenty of gaming modes to emerge as one of the best online experiences available on the PS2. Look for it to be released on October 25.

SURF THE WEB ON YOUR PSP WITH VERSION 2.0

After a couple of delays, Sony finally managed to release the Version 2.0 upgrade for the PSP in North America. Version 2.0 is a significant upgrade for the PSP—it adds an Internet Browser option in the main menu. Other new features include the ability to play AAC music files (Apple's proprietary format for iTunes) without having to convert them to MP3 format, a new "Theme" option that lets you set any picture as your wallpaper, a new PSP start-up screen when you turn on the unit, 4:3 screen mode for video saved on your Memory Stick Duo, support for additional picture formats (TIFF, GIF, PNG and BMP) and a whole lot more.



If you haven't made the upgrade yet, simply choose the "Network Update" option in the "settings" menu and follow the instructions. Note: You must be able to connect in Infrastructure mode via a wi-fi signal in order to upgrade straight from the PSP. If you are unable to connect with your PSP for whatever reason, you can always set the Web browser on your home computer to www.us.playstation.com/psp.aspx, choose "System Update" to download the upgrade to your computer and then transfer it to your Memory Stick Duo via USB cable.

The Internet Browser utility lets you create a homepage, bookmarks and multiple open tabs and even lets you resize Web pages to better fit the PSP screen. The browser makes handy use of the buttons on the PSP, like being able to use the L and R buttons as Back and Forward functions for surfing the 'net. Unfortunately, the onscreen keyboard display is a little cumbersome when trying to type Web site addresses. Also, the PSP browser currently does not support Flash-heavy sites or streaming video, but these are features that Sony hopes to implement in the near future.

GAMELOFT'S LATEST

Gameloft is closing out 2005 with a big lineup of mobile products. Here are some early impressions of the publisher's new titles:

Medieval Combat. Age of Glory is a 2-D, head-to-head fighting game with lots of action and plenty of options. Recently released, it features seven battlers clad in armor (pieces of which will surely be flying around the playfield in the course of the fight). Successfully pummeling your opponent builds up your magic gauge and enables you to unleash a powerful combo move. In addition to the standard Tutorial and Training modes, other game modes include the self-explanatory Instant Play, Arcade, in which you set a difficulty level and then challenge the others one by one; and Survival, where you need stay alive through as many fights as possible with just one health bar. All this should keep you occupied for a while as you work to master each segment.

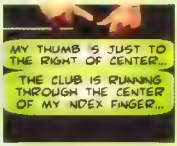
Brothers in Arms: Earned in Blood is a mobile take on Ubisoft's World War II action title. Though nowhere near as detailed, the action is still intense as you take your troops deep into enemy territory. Combat takes place on foot and in tanks, and you have to weed out all the foes scattered around the battlefield. The isometric view enables you to see everything that's going on around you, but it'll still be tough to keep from getting shot up as the threats become bigger and more common. Earned in Blood was due out in mid-October.

Massive Snowboarding is Gameloft's run at the SSX and Amped territory. Though obviously restricted by the size of today's mobile devices, with regards to graphics and gameplay, the game actually is a blast to play. You have five riders to choose from, and once on the course, you can race, do tricks or create a cool video by blowing out a big trick in front of the judges and media. Due out in October, Massive Snowboarding offers a ton of unlockables, such as riders, boards and new slopes to carve.

For those who fell for Gameloft's stylish Midnight Pool, the next in the series is ready for you to try out. Midnight Bowling 3D takes you into a series of bowling alleys—which come off almost like nightclubs with lanes—for some compelling pin smashing. Various gameplay modes (Free Mode, Instant Play and Tournament) keep the action lively, but the most fun is watching the great animation of the various characters. As you compete, you can also roll over icons that occasionally sit on the lane, though the main one is the badge that adds to your list of challenges. Over 30 challenges are offered, and you have to earn each one before you can take it on. Other unlockables include more bowlers, outfits and bowling balls with colorful art on them. Midnight Bowling 3D is slated to be released in November.

PLAYING (AND LEARNING) THE LINKS

Teknik Digital Arts signed a pact with pro golfer Phil Mickelson and his instructors to offer "a subscription-based mobile golf game and instructional series." The game title, which is already available, is called Phil Mickelson 2005, and pits Mickelson against his archrival, Tijay (certainly not a callout to Vijay Singh, right?), or in a multiplayer contest against up to three other duffers. Meanwhile, the instructional series—called TIPS for Teknik Instructional Player System—offers animated lessons that can be taken anywhere the player takes his phone. The teaching is offered in comic-like fashion by Mickelson's trainers, Dave Pelz and Rick Smith.



GLUMMERATI CHEAT CODE

Start a new game and enter your name as "vorlon" to enable a cheat mode in this M-rated racing game for the N-Gage. With the code in place, all of the vehicles, tracks and challenges will be unlocked. You'll also have unlimited nitro boosts.

More Mobile Classics

Mforma is going big with mobile versions of some existing video games—one very old and one relatively new. The company that introduced California Games on the Commodore 64 home computer and NES game console in the '80s—Epyx was its name—doesn't exist anymore, but the game is being revived to make a new appearance on mobile devices. Available now, it features a cluster of Left Coast-style events, including BMX bike racing, flying disc, foot bag, rollerblading, skateboard half-pipe and surfing. All events are presented in bright colors and sharp graphics, with landmarks studding the background.

Meanwhile, Monopoly Tycoon will re-create Atari's spin on the old board game. The title follows many of the same premises as the original tabletop classic, but adds layers of strategy as players try to build up their real-estate holdings, having to decide whether to go big with a few skyscrapers or to shoot for quantity with lots of smaller buildings. Depth is added by having players decide what type of business their buildings will house and even the prices of products sold. Monopoly Tycoon is available now.

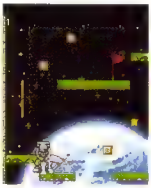
MOBILE GAMING NEWS

• Phones Get Amp'd Up—Amp'd Mobile is partnering up with THQ Wireless to offer mobile games to subscribers of the forthcoming Amp'd Live service. In addition to THQ's growing collection of games—including MotoGP, WWE and mainstream sports titles—the service will have a bunch of wallpaper and ringtones available when Amp'd Mobile launches later this year. The new mobile-entertainment company is targeting an 18 to 35-year-old audience with high-speed service offering 3-D games, video and music downloads.

Amp'd has also announced that it's become the wireless sponsor of the Snoop Youth Football League. The partnership with Snoop Dogg and his new league—which he says will "make football more affordable for all the kids who want to play"—will not only result in a "channel" of actual game highlights, but also result in a 3-D multiplayer mobile game being offered. The game is slated to come out before the end of the year.

KONAMI 2 GO

Konami is joining some of the other big, traditional video-game publishers with a jump into the mobile arena on a bigger scale. The first new title, Frogger Puzzle, is a deviation from the arcade classic and an adaptation of the Game Boy Advance title. As the name implies, you need to guide Frogger through 30 levels of jumping challenges, going from the start to his goal without falling. By pushing blocks, he creates a path, though he'll need to leap across some gaps as well. Frogger Puzzle was targeted for an October release on multiple carriers.



Gotta Go Golf is expected to ship in late October or early November on Cingular and T-Mobile to start. More like miniature golf than big links games like Electronic Arts' Tiger Woods PGA Tour series, Gotta Go Golf offers a series of puzzle-like holes in which you have to get the ball to the flag by setting the angle and power of the shot. However, instead of such standard obstacles as sand traps and trees, this game sets up walls, floating blocks and staggered platforms that you have to negotiate in order to get a low score.

Also, though it released a Frogger mobile game nearly two years ago—as a third-party release, where it sold quite well—not far away is an upgrade/replacement in the form of Frogger for Prizes. The new title, created in conjunction with InfoSpace, takes the old arcade classic and turns it into a national tournament for players. Daily, weekly and monthly prizes will be doled out, including wallpapers and console video games, and if you don't want to participate in the competitions, you'll be able to play the standalone game.

Finally, Konami has teamed up with Thumbnail to release wallpapers of its various game brands, including Boktai, Castlevania and the Rumble Roses girls. Many selections are available now on the Konami.com website, and the company plans to offer ringtones in the future as well.

NHL 2005-2006 Season Predictions

Outside of Canada, it's likely that most of you forgot that the 2004-2005 NHL season was cancelled due to a player lockout. But the players and owners have worked out their differences, and the NHL will once again hit the ice this season. Collective bargaining agreements have been reached, a few players have switched teams and some new rules have been instituted to create more scoring, but the bottom line is that hockey is back.

To celebrate the return of the NHL, we've decided to make our bold predictions for this season with the help of 2K Sports' NHL 2K6 on the Xbox. We simulated the entire season through the playoffs to see who would come out on top. There were some surprises, but in the end it seems as if the NHL is back to its old self. Detroit and New Jersey dominated the regular season, but hockey fans know that the real season begins in April with the start of the playoffs.

The first round went as expected in the Western Conference, with the top four seeds advancing. But in the East, Toronto's playoff-proven veterans led the way in a 4-games-to-2 victory over the third-seeded Buffalo Sabres.

In the second round, top-seeded Detroit easily beat 4th-seeded Vancouver 4-1, while #3 San Jose doused the #2 Calgary Flames, 4 games to 1. Over in the East, #1 New Jersey ended Toronto's hopes with a 4-1 win, while the upstart (and 5th-seeded) New York Rangers shocked the second-seeded (and defending champion) Tampa Bay Lightning, 4-3.

The only big upset in the Western Conference came in the Conference Finals, where the San Jose Sharks did what they couldn't do in 2004: reach the Stanley Cup Finals. The Sharks' relatively easy 4-1 series win over the top-seeded Red Wings meant they'd be up against the East's #1 seed, the New Jersey Devils. Because it just wouldn't feel like the Stanley Cup Finals without the Devils, who have been there in three of the past five seasons.

In the Finals, it was an instant classic, as the teams battled back and forth the entire series. In fact, neither team ever led the series by more than one game. The Devils won Games 1, 3 and 6 while San Jose took Games 2, 4 and 5. Which meant, of course, that the Stanley Cup Finals would be going to a 7th game in New Jersey. History was on New Jersey's side, since 11 of the 13 teams that have hosted Game 7 in the Finals have won. And the Devils made it 12 of 14, as they won the deciding game and once again hoisted Lord Stanley's Cup.

NCAA Football 06: Race for the Heisman Part 2

Last month I created my own future legend and threw him into the fire of the "Race for the Heisman" mode in EA Sports' NCAA Football 06. This month, we'll see how Warrick Moon's sophomore season turned out.

Freshman Season Stats
204-328, 3558 yards, 37 TD, 10 INT

After a successful year in which Warrick Moon was named to the Freshman All-American Team and the 1st Team All ACC while leading the Florida State Seminoles to a victory in the Chick-Fil-A Peach Bowl, expectations were high for his second virtual season. And after such a solid rookie campaign, it was no surprise that Warrick's ratings went up:

Ratings	Freshman	Sophomore
Overall	82	90
Awareness	62	78
Throw Power	92	93
Throw Accuracy	91	94
Stamina	80	82
Injury	80	80

Along with high expectations for Moon, the coaches and media were looking for a good year from the team as well. The Seminoles were ranked #7 in the preseason polls and were picked to finish first in the competitive ACC, so Warrick knew other teams would be gunning for them.

The 'Noles first test came in Week 2 (after a bye in Week 1) against Sun Belt Conference lightweight Florida International University. OK, it wasn't so much a test as it was a warm-up for the tough ACC schedule the Seminoles would be facing later in the season. Even though this was supposed to be a cakewalk, Florida State struggled, escaping with a 34-24 win. Warrick, however, didn't have any difficulty carving up the Golden Panthers' defense, going 20-34 for 286 yards and 3 TDs.

Next up were the mighty men of Troy. No, not USC—this was the much less intimidating Troy University. Considering the softness of this opponent, Warrick only played the first series of the game, going 4-5 for 24 yards and 1 TD. With the win, Florida State climbed to a #5 national ranking heading into an ACC game against Boston College.

Even though Moon played a good game (19-25, 245 yards, 1 TD), the Eagles pulled off the upset, winning 24-20. The loss definitely hurt the Seminoles' chances in the ACC, and it also knocked them down to #14 in the national polls. He was having a decent season up to this point, but this loss definitely hurt Warrick's chances in the race for the Heisman.

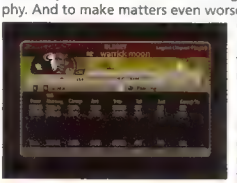
A shot at redemption came in Week 5 at in-state rival and #5-ranked Miami. Despite going down briefly in the 2nd quarter with a strained pectoral, Moon came back and finished strong. Down 21-14 with 1:03 to play in the 4th quarter, Warrick completed a 3rd and 10 pass that went 61 yards for the game-tying touchdown. In overtime, the Seminoles scored a touchdown and were able to keep Miami out of the end zone, giving Florida State a 28-21 victory. This game was the inverse of the Boston College game: the 'Noles won, but Warrick's performance (14-32, 319 yards, 2 TD, 2 INT) probably dropped him farther down the Heisman hopefuls list. So the lesson here is that while winning is important, individual stats are vital when you're trying to get noticed by the Heisman voters (contrary to what every coach has ever told you about teamwork being more important).

With that in mind, I realized it was time to step it up a bit and start racking up Warrick's stats, regardless of the game situation. After a simmed win over Wake Forest (11-18, 159 yards, 2 TD), I saw an opportunity to really put my man on the map: a huge ACC game against #18 Virginia. Of course, it was also a shot at redemption for the two losses Florida State suffered at the hands of UVA in Warrick's freshman year. And this time, Moon came through, leading FSU to a convincing 42-10 stomping. Warrick threw for 406 yards and 5 TDs, but he only completed 15 of 36 passes—not a good completion percentage.

Back up to #5 in the nation, the Seminoles rolled to wins over Duke and Maryland. In those two games, Moon was a combined 44-62 for 578 yards, 6 TDs and 2 INTs. With two of the next three games against ranked opponents, I knew I had both Warrick's and FSU's fate in my hands. Unfortunately, the defense of #17 North Carolina State was too good and Florida State lost, 34-18. And Moon's performance was just as bad: 14-37, 379 yards, 2 TDs, 3 INTs, 6 dropped passes.

A simmed win over Clemson got the Seminoles back on the right track, which was good because the hated #11 University of Florida Gators (7-3) were coming to town. At 8-2, the 'Noles were still in good position for a New Year's Day bowl game, but a dominant performance against the Gators was needed for Warrick to get noticed. Which is why this was the worst possible time for Warrick to have an atrocious day: 5-27, 45 yards, 0 TDs, 3 INTs. And the final score of 31-0 in favor of Florida didn't make things any better.

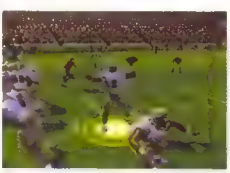
With a regular season record of 8-3, a second place finish in the ACC (Atlantic) and a national ranking of #13, I knew that Warrick definitely wouldn't be in the running for this year's Heisman Trophy. And to make matters even worse, the player who did win it was only a sophomore, meaning my guy would have his work cut out for him over the next two years.



Here's a statistical comparison of Warrick and the 2006 Heisman Trophy winner (QB #13 from Texas Tech):

Warrick Moon: 184-335, 3,037 yards, 28 TDs, 13 INTs
QB #13: 348-478, 4,960 yards, 50 TDs, 12 INTs

Obviously I've got a long way to go if those are the kind of numbers needed to win the big prize.



But Warrick and the Seminoles still weren't done, as 13th-ranked Florida State accepted an invitation to play #12 Pittsburgh in the Gator Bowl. Warrick and the 'Noles were able to accomplish two things in that game: Finish the season with a win, and make a bold statement. Despite being ranked one spot below the Panthers, FSU rolled to a 73-7 win. But it wasn't Moon who led the charge, although he had a good game: 13-22, 216 yards, 4 TDs. In this game the spotlight was on HB #28, who tore through Pitt's defense: 26 carries for 320 yards and 4 TDs! Too bad he's a senior and won't be able to carry that performance into next season. We'll be back next month to chronicle Warrick's junior season in his pursuit of college football's biggest accolade.

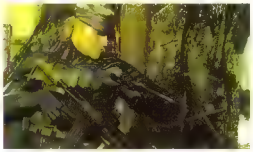
NEW Club Nintendo Goods

With the Nintendo DS and Game Boy Micro heating up in Japan, Nintendo rolled out a slew of new Club Nintendo goods for those lucky collectors in Japan. Customers who buy Nintendo products in Japan can cash in their Club Nintendo points and get all kinds of special rewards. The hot club item is the Famicom II Conversion faceplate for the Famicom version Game Boy Micro (it makes the Micro look like the Famicom system's second controller, which had a number "II" as well as a built-in microphone and volume control). Wario now gets his own special yellow GameCube controller with his "W" logo. A Club Nintendo GameCube controller is also now available. The Mario hat that you see is actually a soft case with a zipper for the Nintendo DS. And after the soft sounds of the Peach soundtrack and the hard rockin' tunes of Bowser (see Japan Report!, June 2005), the new Luigi CD features 27 Nintendo music tracks that "grow on you!" Other new items include clear files featuring Nintendo characters, a set of Nintendo DS styluses that come in different colors and a case for your DS games.

OLD MAN SNAKE!

The Revolution controller wasn't the only surprise at the 2005 Tokyo Game Show. Metal Gear creator Hideo Kojima, who always seems to have an ace up his sleeve, shocked everyone at the show with a nine-minute video of Metal Gear Solid 4: Guns of the Patriots for the PlayStation 3. The big surprise? Snake is an old man! Gone is the five-o'clock scruff and Prell-scented mullet—Snake now sports a mustache and white hair. He still likes his bandanna, stays in shape and hasn't kicked his cigarette vice, but he has lost more than a step and is tired from years in the field. As you can see from the picture, Snake has a sensor on his eyepatch that will play a key function in the game. Guns of the Patriots will take place in an all-out war zone. We'll bring you more details on the most anticipated game for the PS3 as they come in!

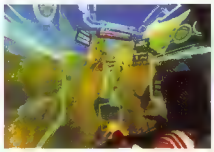


PLAY-YAN MICRO

With the smaller Game Boy Micro hitting store shelves, Play-Yan has also decided to miniaturize its multimedia cartridge (see Japan Report!, April 2005) to fit the new, compact handheld. In fact, the older Play-Yan device will be discontinued in favor of the new and improved Play-Yan Micro. Play-Yan Micro is a cartridge that has a slot for an SD memory card so you can play various multimedia entertainment on a Game Boy Advance SP, Nintendo DS or Game Boy Micro. The Play-Yan supports MP3 and MPEG-4 formats for both audio and video files. Other than the smaller size, the biggest difference between the regular Play-Yan and the Play-Yan Micro is better support for all MPEG-4 files, whereas the older Play-Yan required you to download a patch. The Play-Yan Micro was released on the same day as the Game Boy Micro in Japan for 5,000 yen (about $45). You can watch movies for about three hours or listen to music for about five hours on a single charge of the Micro's battery. The DS, on the other hand, is capable of playing five hours of movie clips and up to 10 hours of music using the Play-Yan Micro.

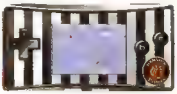
GUNDAM PODS

Every Gundam fan dreams of entering a cockpit and commandeering a giant Mobile Suit! With this in mind, Banpresto and Namco demonstrated their new joint project at the recent AM (Amusement Machine) Show in Japan. Kidousenshi Gundam: Senjou no Kizuna (Mobile Suit Gundam: Bonds of the Battlefield) is an eight-on-eight mech battle game where players enter cockpit-like capsules called P.O.D.s, or Panoramic Optical Displays. Inside the cockpit are two levers and foot pedals used to control your Mobile Suit. Teams are divided into Federation and Zion squads and can battle it out until one team's collective health meter runs out. Players gain points that are stored on their game cards. The points can then be used to acquire a more advanced Mobile Suit. The game is still in its testing stages, but Banpresto and Namco hope to release it to major arcades in Japan soon.



GAME BOY MICRO DESIGNS

Several companies and designers were asked to create their own Game Boy Micro faceplates to celebrate Mario's birthday. The faceplate designs are not actually for sale, but they give you a good idea of the possibilities for various styles. The designs are all featured on giant posters that have been appearing everywhere in Japan, like train stations and office buildings. Some of the contributing companies include Tower Records, Fuji Film, Shiseido, the Hanshin Tigers baseball team and Cup Noodle!



THE REVOLUTION CONTROLLER

Nintendo finally dropped the other shoe and revealed the long-awaited controller for its upcoming Revolution game system at the 2005 Tokyo Game Show. After all the fan speculation about the look of the controller—ranging from a Virtual Reality helmet to a DS-like touch-screen control pad—Nintendo unveiled what looks a lot like a remote control unit for a TV. The controller has an On/Off button on the top corner, below that is a standard D-pad, followed by a giant A button under it. There is a B button trigger located just under the D-pad. Three small buttons line the middle: SELECT, START and HOME. Finally, small a and b buttons are located at the bottom with a light indicator showing which player you are controlling (Player 1 through 4). It is assumed that you can also hold the controller horizontally with both hands, like a NES controller.

The real secret weapon of the Nintendo Revolution controller, however, is its motion sensor technology. The controller is basically a wand which acts as a pointing device when aimed at the TV screen. The controller also senses 3-D depth and tilting, thus incorporating physical movement in addition to merely pointing at parts of the screen. An additional analog stick attachment will also be available, although it's not clear if this will be included with the Revolution or sold separately. The analog stick attachment, which also includes two extra buttons, connects via a cord to the main controller. Mario and Zelda creator Shigeru Miyamoto likes to call it the "nunchuck" attachment!

A short video was shown at the announcement demonstrating how games will potentially be played using the controller. The video did not show any game footage, but instead showed people using the controller and playing hypothetical Revolution games. For example, the video begins with a young couple playing what looks to be a game of squash as they swing the controller at a ball on the screen. Another segment showed a chef banging the controller on the table like he was cutting up sushi on a cutting board, then he shook the controller as if he was tossing food in a wok. Other examples showed players using the controller like a fishing rod, a light gun, a flashlight (in a horror game), a conductor's baton and a dentist drill!

It's clear from the video that the Revolution and its games are meant to appeal to a wide group of people, both young and old. But will the Nintendo's new console actually be called "Revolution"? The newer pictures of the console released at Tokyo Game Show no longer bear the Revolution logo, prompting many people to think that the name may actually change by the time the console is released sometime in 2006. Another question that arises: Since classic Nintendo games from the NES to the N64 will be downloadable for play on the Revolution system, how does one play the classic games using this controller? There are rumors that Nintendo will provide classic peripheral attachments, but the most obvious answer to this question is the fact that existing GameCube controllers (including the wireless Wavebird) can be used with the Revolution as well.

The Revolution controller design may be the boldest move ever made by any company in the history of video games, even more so than Nintendo's own Virtual Boy. Success is not guaranteed in any way for Nintendo—it has taken the standard playbook followed by Sony and Microsoft and ripped it to shreds. With the Revolution controller now revealed, it's clear that Nintendo wants to change the way we think about video games altogether. Are you ready to follow Nintendo into a new era?

GAME BOY MICRO FAMICOM VERSION

The Game Boy Micro was launched in Japan on September 13th, which also happened to be the official 20th birthday for Mario. (The original Super Mario Bros. game was released for the Famicom system—the Japanese version of the NES—on September 13, 1985.) To commemorate this momentous occasion, Nintendo introduced a special Famicom version Game Boy Micro in addition to the four regular Micro colors (Silver, Black, Blue and Purple). The Famicom version sports the gold and red Famicom (NES) trim and has the Mario 20th Anniversary logo on the back. It comes in a specially designed retro-style package showing the Bowser boss battle stage. The Famicom version costs 12,000 yen (about $109), the same as the solid color Game Boy Micros, and is not a limited edition, so it's readily available at most retail stores in Japan. So far it seems to be the most popular Game Boy Micro design in Japan.

MYSTERY "RING OF LIGHT" BUILDING

For months, Japanese commuters scratched their heads as they passed a white building being constructed on Aoyamadori Avenue with a giant, green Xbox 360 "Ring of Light" symbol. The mysterious building which sits in the hip, boutique shopping district of Omotesando was the talk of the town as building contractors quietly built whatever was inside. At the recent Xbox 360 conference in Japan just before the 2005 Tokyo Game Show, Microsoft revealed that the "Ring of Light" building will actually be a special Xbox 360 sampling lounge to be opened in November. The lounge will be open to the public so anyone can go in and play an Xbox 360 game whenever they like. Although there are no plans for a similar lounge in the U.S., this is clearly a much-needed tactic by Microsoft to gain acceptance in Japan after the disappointing performance of the Xbox in the Japanese market.

MARIO T-SHIRTS

Every game developer owes a debt to Shigeru Miyamoto and his Super Mario series for inspiration. In order to celebrate Mario's 20th birthday and as a big thank you to Shigeru Miyamoto, several Japanese developers designed their own Mario T-shirts. Yuji Naka, creator of Sonic the Hedgehog, honored the plumber by putting a red hat on Sega's blue mascot! Yoot Saito, the outspoken head of Vivarium, put a red hat and white glove on the Seaman logo. Kazutoshi Iida, the quirky brain behind Tail of the Sun and Doshin the Giant, created his own impression of Mario. Other shirts include Chibi-Robo as Mario and Bakataaru Kato (editor of Weekly Famitsu magazine) dressed as a demented Mario. These shirts are only available through www.mario.tv and cost a whopping 3,800 yen each (about $35). Unfortunately, they only ship to a Japanese address. More shirts from different developers are expected to be added.

FINAL FANTASY WORLD

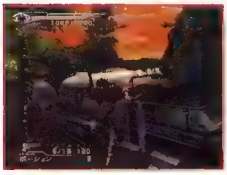
Vol. 27

by Charlotte Chen

If you've ever stayed up all night—even though you had an exam to study for, a 50-page term paper to write, a starving goldfish with one fin in the sky and a hundred sundry other responsibilities (like eating or bathing) that you shirked—because you were mesmerized by the glory of a Final Fantasy game, this monthly column is for you!

DIRGE of CERBERUS FINAL FANTASY VII

Dirge of Cerberus: Final Fantasy VII is going to have online features, and beta testing was scheduled to begin in Japan in the beginning of September. Due to some last-minute programming issues, the beta testing has been postponed for a few weeks. Until then, here are some new screens of this long-awaited title.



FINAL FANTASY FAN

Special Kingdom Hearts Edition

I have a question about Kingdom Hearts. In Hollow Bastion, there's still one chest I need in order to get all 101 Dalmatians....

—Jackie Mitchell
Tecumsel, OK

There are four chests containing Dalmatians in Hollow Bastion.

1. Dalmatian Puppies 91, 92, 93: A chest located behind the rocks in the beginning of the Rising Falls area.

2. Dalmatians 94, 95, 96: The second one is in the Castle Gates area. After you open the door to the Lift Stop by putting in all four emblems of the heart piece, go through the Lift Stop hallway and up the stairs back into the Castle Gates area. There is an orange crystal outside which you can activate to start a moving platform. Get on it and it will bring you near a floating chest. Cast Gravira on the chest and it will lower.

3. Dalmatians 97, 98, 99: The third one is in the High Tower. You reach it by riding the extra-large moving platform, moving through the Lift Stop hallway again, and then going up the stairs into the High Tower. Look around to see that there is a floating chest outside. Once again, cast Gravira on the chest to lower it.

4. Dalmatians 61, 62, 63: This chest does not appear until after you defeat Behemoth. Go back to the area (Grand Hall) and the chest will be there, to the left of the huge keyhole, on top of the red fleshy-looking low ledge.

Judging from your letter, you seem to think there is a Dalmatian chest in the Waterway. It wasn't really clear what you were talking about, but if there's a chest you can't seem to reach, don't forget about the Trinity abilities, or the Glide ability you got in Neverland. With all the Trinities learned, and with the High Jump and Glide abilities equipped, there are very few places you can't reach normally. Hope this helps!

—Charlotte

FINAL FANTASY XII

Here are some screens from a recent playable demo of Final Fantasy XII that was made available on the Square Enix Party 2005 show floor. Notice the cameos by the Final Fantasy XI Mandaragoras.

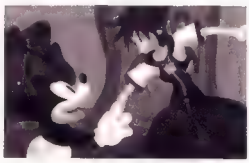
Kingdom Hearts

Kingdom Hearts II is scheduled to be released in Japan by the end of this year; the U.S. version should follow, hopefully within the first few months of 2006.

Recent press events have revealed several of the new worlds in the game, including Steamboat Willie, The Pirates of the Caribbean and Disney Castle.

Steamboat Willie



Sora and friends get a black-and-white Disney makeover when they enter the world of Steamboat Willie, the classic animated short that is famous both for being the first Disney animation to incorporate synchronized sound, and for debuting a then-unknown Mickey Mouse, way back in 1928. Steamboat Willie was formally announced as one of the new Kingdom Hearts II worlds at the Square Enix Party that was held in Tokyo this past summer. Scans from Japanese magazine Weekly Famitsu reveal that Sora, Goofy and Donald all sport the same "pipe cleaner" look as hero Mickey and villain Pete, with spindly legs and arms.

Final Fantasy Cameos

Cloud and "Leon"

New scans from Weekly Famitsu show Cloud Strife and Squall Leonhart standing back to back. Cloud sports his character design from Advent Children. If you look closely at the photo, he appears to be wearing the "Cloudy Wolf" pendant from the movie.

Seifer

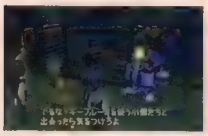
This hasn't been officially confirmed yet, but it appears as though Seifer (Squall's rival from Final Fantasy VIII) might be a companion of the mysterious "Blonde-Haired Kid." Those of you keeping up with the Kingdom Hearts II news already know that the BHK, as he's come to be called, also wields a Keyblade, and it's not yet clear if he's working with or against Sora and his companions.

Auron

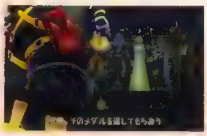
So far only Auron from Final Fantasy X has made any official appearances in screenshots released to the U.S. media. Unlike Tidus, Wakka and Selphie in Kingdom Hearts, he's in his adult form, sans sake jug.

Pirates of the Caribbean

The Pirates of the Caribbean: The Curse of the Black Pearl is the first live-action Disney movie to be added to the Kingdom Hearts universe. Early screens indicate that both Jack and his rival, Barbossa, will be rendered in both human and skeletal forms. Here are some screens from the Japanese version of the game, with approximately translated captions.

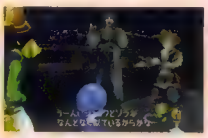


"However, if you see kids with a Keyblade, be careful."



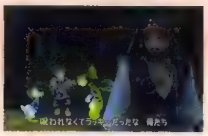
"Kid, hand over the medal."

"Captain Jack!"



"Hmm, because Jack and Sora kind of look alike."

"Then there was a man who hid his face in a black hood."

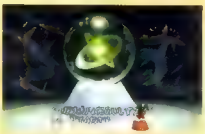


"We're lucky not to get cursed."

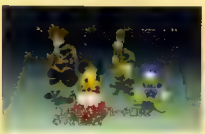
Disney Castle

With Mickey out of the house, it's up to Minnie to hold down the fort and deal with any problems that might crop up around the homestead—like an infestation of flying Heartless. This time around, Sora gets to go inside Disney Castle to help exterminate the menace. As before, these are approximate translations of the Japanese text.

"The thorn bush is growing and it hurts!"



"Please watch. This is the foundation of the light."



"It's the detestable Key Blade user and his underlings!"

"All right, beyond here is a completely different world."

"Aren't you being awful? What happened to our promised date?"

"It said in the King's letter that you are a courageous young boy."

TIPS & TRICKS COLLECTOR'S CLOSET

Are you a video-game pack-rat? Do you own more video games than you could possibly beat in a whole year, even if you played non-stop? Would you go without food to save up the money to buy a rare TurboGrafx-16 game, an obscure Atari 2600 controller, a limited-edition Game Boy Pocket or a leather Killer Instinct jacket? If so, this monthly collector's column is for you.

Vol. 49

COLLECTING VIDEO-GAME SOUNDTRACKS

Remember when video-game music was nothing more than monophonic beeps and chirps generated by anemic 8-bit processors? The childlike melodies that accompanied games like Pac-Man and Donkey Kong were often created by the same designers who programmed the games' graphics and gameplay, not by composers or musicians. And with such primitive hardware, many of them settled for brief jingles or simplistic excerpts from public-domain classical compositions. Back then, the idea of listening to and appreciating video-game music on its own was laughable; aside from hardcore arcade fanatics and Moog aficionados, who could find merit in these repetitive, mechanical themes?

In today's multi-billion-dollar game industry, video-game soundtracks are produced on the same scale as Hollywood feature films, in terms of both talent and budget. So it makes sense that the general public would be interested in listening to game soundtracks on CD in the 21st century, whether they be orchestral epics like the Advent Rising score or themed collections of existing popular music like the Grand Theft Auto: Vice City box set. The mainstream acceptance of video-game music as an art form is a relatively recent development in the U.S., but in Japan, game soundtracks have been popular for over 20 years. Naturally, there are game soundtrack collectors all over the world who bid surprisingly high amounts when rare game soundtracks appear in online auctions.

So, which game soundtracks are the most valuable? The answer depends on whether you actually listen to video-game music for enjoyment or just line up your soundtrack CDs on a bookshelf as an investment. Either way, we hope you enjoy our look at some of the more interesting examples of collectible video-game music.

This might come as a surprise to those of you who have never owned a record player, but the world's first video-game soundtrack was Namco's Video Game Music, released in Japan during April of 1984 on vinyl (and possibly cassette). It featured themes from Namco arcade games like Pole Position, Mappy and Xevious and was later issued on CD. (An early version of the LP featured the cover character with no "mouth" and a brown suit instead of green; it is considerably more rare than the version pictured here.)

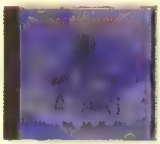
This "flexi-disc" featuring the music from Atari's 720° arcade game is one of the first video-game soundtracks released in the U.S., if not the first. This flimsy promotional item was handed out to arcade distributors in 1986, and is very scarce today.

With the audio cassette replacing vinyl records as the dominant media for sales of recorded music, many publishers in Japan started to issue game music on tape. In addition to the musical score from a game, many of the early Japanese soundtracks came with bonus material; Konami's Gradius arcade soundtrack (1987) included sound effects from the game as well as a small booklet of Gradius sheet music.

One of the most ambitious and influential video game soundtracks of all time was the epic score of Falcom's Ys Book I & II for the PC Engine CD system (a.k.a. TurboGrafx-CD or TurboDuo). This blend of sweeping orchestral themes and hard rock was the glorious introduction to CD based game audio for many people both in Japan and North America. There are literally dozens of Ys soundtrack CDs with variations on themes from all of the games in the series, we've even heard fan-created soundtracks to "imaginary" Ys sequels!

Collectors love obscure memorabilia, and we dare any game soundtrack collector to top this: Meldac's original soundtrack to its little-known Game Boy title Heiankyo Alien, distributed (as far as we know) only to members of the press at the 1990 Summer Consumer Electronics Show in Chicago. This cassette features all the music from the game and even an "arranged version" of one track. (In video game music parlance, "arranged" refers to live musicians with real musical instruments playing music that was originally produced by the sound chip in a game system.)

In the early '90s, many Japanese game publishers endorsed live bands who would not only record high-energy rock versions of songs from their games, but also perform them live in concert. This After Burner CD by Sega's S.S.T. Band is just one example from this unusual period; other video game music groups included Alph Lyra (Capcom), Zuntata (Taito), the J.D.K. Band (Falcom) and Gamadelic (Data East). Such bands would actually tour together and play at "Game Music Festivals" — can you imagine?



Japanese game music fans don't usually get too excited about Western game soundtracks, but one successful exception was That's Atari Music, released in Japan in 1991. Featuring tunes from Atari coin-ops like Marble Madness, Rampart and Klax, it was popular enough to inspire both a sequel (That's Atari Music Vol. II) and a reissue of both discs in 2002. And it still hasn't been released in the U.S.!

Super NES and Genesis fans may know that over the top New York rock band Green Jelly wrote the soundtrack to Acclaim's Maximum Carnage, but not all of them were lucky enough to get their hands on this limited edition cassette EP, which features two of the game's songs performed by the band (the original studio versions, before they were converted into 16-bit cartridge "chip music").

The combination of rarity, music quality and game popularity have made the Japanese Super Metroid: Sound in Action CD one of the most prized game soundtracks in any country; it's been going for over $100 on the rare occasions when it shows up on eBay. Its original 8-bit Metroid bonus tracks and "arranged" tunes are nothing to write home about, but Super Metroid had some of the best game music of its era...and unlike many out-of-print game music CDs of the mid-'90s, this one hasn't been reissued.

Nintendo bundled this Super Smash Bros. Melee CD with the January 2003 issue of Nintendo Power. Instead of music ripped from the game, it's actually a live recording of the New Japan Philharmonic orchestra performing 15 SSBM songs at a concert in Tokyo. A great collectible, wonderful to listen to...but the sleeve is hard to find in mint condition because it had to be torn open in order to remove the CD from inside.

Released in 1994, Virgin Games Greatest Hits Volume One by Tommy Tallarico is noteworthy because it was the first U.S. video-game soundtrack to be issued by a major label (Capitol, the freakin' Beatles' record company!) and it was one of the first game music CDs to be widely distributed in traditional music retail outlets in North America. If you only know Tallarico as the outspoken co-host of Electric Playground and Judgment Day on the G4 cable TV network, his well crafted game music CDs will show you why he's qualified to speak out about issues in the game industry

With an original MSRP of 15,540 yen (about $140!), the King of Fighters NeoGeo's Soundtrack: 10th Anniversary Memorial Box can be aptly described by the Neo•Geo console's original slogan: Bigger, Badder, Better. This hefty nine-CD set delivers the original soundtrack to all of the King of Fighters arcade games from '94 to '02, plus a bonus DVD chronicling the history of the series and—get this—a package of "Bang!-Aid" King of Fighters adhesive bandages, presumably to wrap around the toes you'll injure if you accidentally drop this box set on them.

There's nothing worse than a game music CD that's "based on" a game but doesn't actually feature the game's soundtrack. This piece o'crap claims to be "the expanded soundtrack from Primal Rage the arcade game." Lies! Let's see a show of hands: How many of you bought the Tony Hawk's Pro Skater 3 soundtrack, only to find that most of the songs from the game were not on it...and that half of the CD was filled with music that didn't appear in the game? If you ever see the words "inspired by" on a game soundtrack, run away screaming.

OK, so the Grand Theft Auto soundtracks don't have anything to offer to hardcore fans of original game music. However, the two-disc version of the San Andreas original soundtrack has "collectible" written all over it, because inside is a DVD that details the events leading up to the game's opening scenes. This short feature is a part of the GTA storyline that can't be found in the game itself, nor is it included in the larger (and more expensive) eight-CD San Andreas box set.

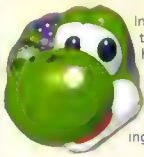
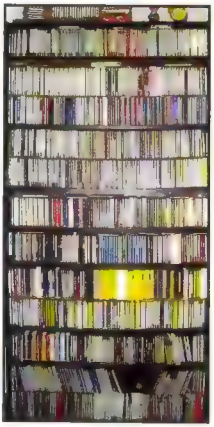
Like the Ys series, the Final Fantasy games have inspired countless soundtrack CDs with various configurations of original themes, remixes, "arranged" tracks (some with vocals) and even hard rock interpretations of Final Fantasy themes, courtesy of composer Nobuo Uematsu and his Black Mages touring band. The king of them all, however, is this Japanese Final Fantasy VII Original Soundtrack box set: four CDs packed with some of the most inspired, dramatic and just plain beautiful video-game music you could ever hope to hear



In 1997, fans who ordered products from Nintendo's "Power Supplies" mail-order catalog had the opportunity to buy special "shaped" soundtracks for the Nintendo 64 games Yoshi's Story and Diddy Kong Racing. The CDs themselves were die-cut in the shape of Yoshi and Diddy's heads, making them can't-miss collectibles.

In addition to the Yoshi and Diddy Kong "shaped" CDs, many other Nintendo soundtracks were only available by mail-order in the U.S., including Donkey Kong Country, The Legend of Zelda: Ocarina of Time, Super Mario 64, Perfect Dark and more. This Paper Mario two-disc soundtrack was an exception; it was only available as a premium for those who renewed or ordered a new subscription to Nintendo Power magazine during a period of several months in 2001

ROOM OF DOOM



This month's featured video-game collection belongs to Atsushi Fukai of Kanagawa Prefecture, Japan. Only it's not a collection of games; you can't really tell by looking at the photo, but this entire bookshelf is actually stuffed with video-game music CDs. (Most of his vinyl and cassette soundtracks are stored in a different area.) Atsushi started collecting video-game soundtracks 17 years ago, and his Room of Doom is practically a museum of game music. Two of the rarest items in his collection are the Star Ixiom original soundtrack CD and the Metroid/Parthena no Kagami (Kid Icarus) Orchestra Mix record; Atsushi paid over 20,000 yen (about $175) for each!

We invite you to send in your own personal "Room of Doom" photos for display in a future edition of Tips & Tricks Collector's Closet. Send several photos of your proudly-displayed games to "Room of Doom," c/o Tips & Tricks, 8484 Wilshire Blvd., Suite 900, Beverly Hills, CA 90211, and be sure to tell us about the highlights of your collection.

GRAND THEFT AUTO: SAN ANDREAS

Cheat Codes

Enter the following cheat codes at any time during the game (but not while paused). Each time you enter a code successfully, a message will appear in the upper left corner of the screen to confirm. Note: Some of the codes cannot be activated once you've turned them on, you must reset the PlayStation 2 in order to restore the game to normal. Do not save your game after entering codes; if you do, the codes may be permanently activated in your save file and your save file may become corrupt. Activating cheats will lower your in-game ranking. Also, some codes may cause unpredictable results which may cause the game to "crash," especially if you have several codes in effect at once. Codes that modify the appearance or behavior of vehicles or pedestrians will usually not affect those that are already in the immediate vicinity; you'll see the effects when new vehicles or pedestrians appear. The codes that cause vehicles to appear may not work if you're too far from a street or other area where vehicles are allowed to drive.

Sonic Drift 2: Bonus Race

To enter a secret bonus race, you must play through the Chaos GP at the Blue difficulty setting and earn six gems by placing first in all six races. If you do this, you'll be sent to the "Final Round," a one-on-one race against Dr. Robotnik. If you beat him, you'll get to see an ending sequence with the game's credits.

Tails' Sky Patrol: Cheat Menu

At the title screen, hold Up + A and press START. A secret cheat menu will appear with sound test and stage select options.

Tails Adventure: Password

Choose "Continue" from the main menu, then enter the password "A D E 7 - A A 2 A - 5 1 A 6 - 6 D 1 2" to start with all stages unlocked, all equipment, max flying ability and 99 rings.

SONIC HEROES

Metal Teams

Select "2P Play" from the main menu, choose a game and select any team. At the stage-select screen, select a stage with the A button, then immediately press and hold A + Y while the game loads. When the game starts, your team will consist of metal versions of the characters you chose.

SPAWN: ARMAGEDDON

Cheat Codes

At any time during gameplay, press START and enter the following codes while the game is paused. When you unpause, you will hear Spawn say "Necro-licious!" or "Necro-goodness," to confirm each correct code.

All weapons—Up, Down, Left, Right, Left, Right, Left, Left

SPEED KINGS

Cheat Code

Start a new game and enter the "Player Setup" menu from any section. Under the player's handle, enter "borkbork" as the player's name to unlock everything in the game.

SPIDER-MAN 2

Cheat Code

At any time during gameplay, pause the game, enter the Save/Load menu and select "New Game." At the "Enter Name to Start New Game" prompt, enter "HCRAYERT" as your name and select "Enter," you'll see the name disappear. Now simply back out of the "Enter Name" screen and unpause, you'll warp directly to Chapter 16 with at least 44.38% of the game completed. This code also gives you 200,000 Hero Points, all four Boss Awards, the Web Zip upgrade and six Speed Swing upgrades. You can also enter the code at the "Enter Name" prompt that appears when you load the game without a save file present. Entering the code repeatedly will allow you to rack up additional Hero Points; they won't count toward the 50,000 you need to finish Chapter 16, and they may not appear in the Hero Points total at your "Status" screen, but they'll be there when you enter a Spidey Store.

GRAND THEFT AUTO: SAN ANDREAS

Cheat Codes

Enter the following cheat codes at any time during the game (but not while paused). Each time you enter a code successfully, a message will appear in the upper left corner of the screen to confirm. Note: Some of the codes cannot be deactivated once you've turned them on, you must reset the Xbox in order to restore the game to normal. Do not save your game after entering codes, if you do, the codes may be permanently activated in your save file and your save file may become corrupt. Activating cheats will lower your in-game ranking. Also, some codes may cause unpredictable results which may cause the game to "crash," especially if you have several codes in effect at once. Activating certain codes may prevent other codes from being activated. Codes that modify the appearance or behavior of vehicles or pedestrians will usually not affect those that are already in the immediate vicinity; you'll see the effects when new vehicles or pedestrians appear. The codes that cause vehicles to appear may not work if you're too far from a street or other area where vehicles are allowed to drive.

Cheat Code

At any time during gameplay, pause the game, enter the Save/Load menu and select "New Game." At the "Enter Name to Start New Game" prompt, enter "HCRAYERT" as your name and select "Enter;" you'll see the name disappear. Now simply back out of the "Enter Name" screen and unpause; you'll warp directly to Chapter 16 with at least 44.38% of the game completed. This code also gives you 200,000 Hero Points, all four Boss Awards, the Web Zip upgrade and six Speed Swing upgrades. You can also enter the code at the "Enter Name" prompt that appears when you load the game without a save file present. Entering the code repeatedly will allow you to rack up additional Hero Points, they won't count toward the 50,000 you need to finish Chapter 16, and they may not appear in the Hero Points total at your "Status" screen, but they'll be there when you enter a Spidey Store.

STEEL BATTALION

Unlock Free Mission Mode

Note: This code requires the player to set the Tuner Dial on the Steel Battalion controller to specific positions. Unfortunately, the settings on the Tuner Dial are not labeled. For the purposes of explaining the code, we will refer to the individual hash marks around the Tuner Dial as numbers from 0 through 12, starting from the extreme left position. In other words, 0 is straight left, 4 is straight up, 8 is straight right and 12 is straight down.

At the title screen, move the Tuner Dial to the following positions, one at a time, and pause for a second or two at each number position: 1, 9, 7, 9, 0, 9, 0, 6. In other words, set the Tuner Dial in the 1 position, wait a moment, turn the dial clockwise for eight "clicks" to the 9 position, wait a moment, turn the dial counter-clockwise for two "clicks" to the 7 position, etc. When you've entered the code correctly, you'll hear a sound effect to confirm. Now you can select "Free Mission" mode from the main menu, which allows you to play any mission at any difficulty setting with all of the VTs unlocked

Nintendo DS tips

ADVANCE WARS: DUAL STRIKE

Unlock Additional Battle Maps
Insert either of the Advance Wars Game Boy Advance games into the GBA cartridge slot of your DS before powering on the system to play Advance Wars: Dual Strike. Select "Battle Maps" from the main menu and you'll find that additional maps are available. If you have Advance Wars inserted, you can purchase the Hachi's Land, Neli's Land and Advance Warpaper Battle Maps. If you have Advance Wars 2: Black Hole Rising inserted, you'll be able to purchase the Sturm's Land, Lash's Land and Advance Warpaper 2 Battle Maps. Each of these maps can be purchased for only one point.
Unlock Advance Wars Custom Map
At the System Menu screen, choose "Design Room," then select "Map" and immediately hold down the L and R buttons while the screen fades out. A special pre-made map will appear with terrain that spells out "Advance Wars."

FEEL THE MAGIC: XY/XX

Unlock Items
To unlock the following items, simply insert the corresponding Game Boy Advance cartridge into the GBA slot of the DS before turning the system on. When the Feel the Magic: XY/XX game loads, a message will appear on the screen to confirm what has been unlocked.
Insert Puyo Pop cartridge—Unlock Maniac Head Piece 19
Insert Sonic Advance cartridge—Unlock Maniac Head Piece 17
Insert Sonic Battle cartridge—Unlock Maniac Head Piece 21
Insert Sonic Pinball Party cartridge—Unlock Maniac Head Piece 20
Disappearing Bikini
Select "Option" from the main menu, then select the Japanese language setting. Exit from the Option menu to the main menu and you'll find that the bikini has been removed from the female silhouette.
Sample Your Voice
Press Down + Y at the title screen, then speak into the microphone while the recording icon is blinking at the bottom of the lower screen. The sound you recorded will now play randomly as part of the music at the title screen. Press Down + X to trigger the recording on command, press Down/Left + X to play it at a slower speed or press Down/Right + X to speed it up.

KIRBY: CANVAS CURSE

Secret Characters
• Waddle Dee Ball—Finish the game once. When you start a game from the same file, Waddle Dee will be revealed as a new playable character. He only has four hit points, and cannot obtain powers. He's also much lighter than Kirby.
• Dedede Ball—After you unlock the Waddle Dee Ball, you can buy the Dedede Ball in the Medal Swap for 20 medals. He has seven hit points, and swings a hammer when you tap him. He also cannot obtain powers. He's much larger and heavier than Kirby.
• Meta Knight Ball—After you unlock the Dedede Ball, you can buy him in the Medal Swap for 25 medals. He only has three hit points. He's much lighter than Kirby, but he's slightly stronger.
• Waddle Doo Ball—After you've beaten the game at least once, insert Kirby and the Amazing Mirror or Kirby: Nightmare in Dreamland into the Game Boy Advance cartridge slot of your DS. When you start a game of Kirby: Canvas Curse, Waddle Doo Ball will be available. An alternative way to unlock him is to beat the game with all four of the other characters. He has five hit points and the Beam ability. He can't obtain any other powers.
Jump Game Medal
The Jump Game unlocks in the Game Select menu after you beat the game with every character. If you manage to launch Kirby 1,500 meters, you'll land right on top of a medal, which is sitting on the course. The best way to launch Kirby this far is to preserve enough ink so you can draw a second ramp when Kirby is already in the air.

NINTENDOGS

Extra Treats
When you're training your dog to learn tricks, a yellow light bulb will appear over its head. You can grab the light bulb and feed it to your dog like a treat! You might also notice that sometimes a yellow bone will appear if you've been petting your dog a lot. You can feed this to it, too.
Constant Walks
Usually you can only walk your dog every half-hour. However, there is a trick that you can use to get around this limitation: Walk your dog to the park, then switch one of its accessories. The game will automatically save. Turn off the game and you can take your dog for a walk again immediately! This is a great way to increase your chances of finding rare presents.
Mystery Presents
When walking your dog, sometimes you'll see a present just lying on the sidewalk. Your dog will only pick it up if you notice the present and jerk your pooch in the direction of the present. These presents are usually better than the ones that are already marked by Question Marks on the map.

PING PALS

Special Holiday Items
Play the game on the following dates (or change the date at the DS Clock menu to the date indicated) to unlock the corresponding item in the Shop.
Birthday hat—Play on the date that you specified as your birthday in the DS User menu
Valentine (boy)—Play on February 14th
Valentine (girl)—Play on February 14th
Snowflake sweater—Play on March 17th
Bat Treats—Play on October 31st
Jack hat—Play on October 31st
Succubus—Play on October 31st

Jolly suit—Play on December 25th
Merry cap—Play on December 25th
"Miss" Month—Play on the 1st of the month
"Mr." Month—Play on the 15th of the month
Unlock Shantae Background
At the main DS menu (before you start to play Ping Pals), select the DS icon at the bottom of the screen to enter the system settings menu. Select the clock/calendar icon, then change the current time to 23:59 or earlier. Now turn on the DS and watch the seconds hand of the clock on the upper screen at the main DS menu. When the clock reaches midnight (00:00), you'll hear a chime, you must tap the "Ping Pals/THQ" button (to load the game) at that exact second. When the game starts, check the item shop and you'll find the Shantae Background available for sale.
Hi-Lo Trick
When you lose a round in the Hi-Lo game, exit the game before Snakey takes your coins and you won't lose them.

POLARIUM

Puzzle Passwords
The following puzzle passwords appeared on Nintendo's Polarium Web site in Japan. If you enter them by accessing the "Password" option from the Puzzles/Edit menu, you can save them as your own custom puzzles, to solve and to trade with the DS Wireless Link.

PUYO POP FEVER

Unlock All Gallery Items
Choose "Options" from the main menu, then select "Gallery." At the Gallery menu, highlight "View Cut scenes," hold X and press Up, Down, Left, Right. All of the cutscenes and the voice samples for all characters will be unlocked.
Endless Puyo POP Character Select/Pattern Change
Select "Endless Puyo POP" from the main menu, then highlight the mode you wish to play and press Up, Down, X, A. The character-select screen will appear, allowing you to play as any character in this mode. Also, if you hold X while selecting your character, you will be able to play with that character's puyo pattern instead of the "classic" pattern (Ane's pattern). Note that your high scores will not be saved when playing with the character select active.
Single Puyo POP Character Select
Select "Single Puyo POP" from the main menu, then highlight the mode you wish to play and press X, Down, Up, A. You'll hear a sound to confirm, and the character-select screen will appear, allowing you to play as any character in this mode. Note that no cutscenes will appear and your high scores will not be saved when playing with the character-select active.
Classic Pattern
If you hold the X button down while selecting your character in Single or Everybody mode, you will play with the "classic" puyo pattern (Ane's pattern) instead of the pattern of the character you chose.
Everybody Puyo POP Cheat
To force the computer player(s) to lose during a game of Everybody Puyo POP, hold L + R and press SELECT.
Computer Control
In any game mode with a handicap option before the match, if you hold the SELECT button down while choosing your handicap, the computer will control your character.
Bonus Pictures
If you play Puyo Pop Fever with a copy of the Game Boy Advance version of Puyo Pop Fever plugged into the GBA cartridge slot of your Nintendo DS, you'll find extra pictures of the characters in the Gallery under "View Cut scenes."
Microphone Tricks
• If you blow into the DS microphone at the main menu screens, bubbles will appear and the menu options will bounce.
• If you blow into the DS microphone during the instructional demo, the characters on the bottom screen will turn around to look at you.
• If you blow into the DS microphone when the map is displayed on the bottom screen during a cutscene, the character will react. Blow gently and the character will fight the wind; blow hard and he or she will be blown away.
• If you blow into the DS microphone during a match, your character will speak.
• If you blow into the DS microphone at the title screen, a mini-game will begin. A score will be displayed and a giant puyo will fall from the top screen. The object is to keep the puyo from falling off the bottom screen by using the stylus to bounce it back up. For best results, keep the stylus in contact with the touch screen and push the puyo up from below. You'll score a point for each bounce. After ten bounces, another puyo will appear, after 20 more bounces, a third will appear, with more appearing every ten bounces after that (up to a maximum of six). The last puyo to appear will be a nuisance puyo. If any one puyo falls off the screen or if you hit a puyo in its center, all of the puyo on the screen will pop. You can also push all of the puyo back up at once by blowing into the DS microphone, but you lose points for doing this.
Secret Mini-Game
If you complete the WakuWaku Course or Hara-Hara Course in Single Puyo POP mode at Normal difficulty or higher, you can play a mini-game while the credits are being displayed. Look closely at the pictures of each character and find the difference between the picture on the top screen and the one on the bottom screen. If you tap the part of the picture that's different on the touch screen, it will advance to the next character (Note: You must tap it twice). Nine different characters will be displayed in succession, or 16 if you cleared the course without continuing. If you identify the flaw on all of the characters before the credits end, a special picture will be displayed.

SPIDER-MAN 2

Unlock All Special Moves
If you play Spider-Man 2 with the Game Boy Advance game Spider-Man: Mysterio's Menace inserted in the GBA cartridge slot of the DS, all of Spidey's special moves will be unlocked when you start a new game or load a saved game.

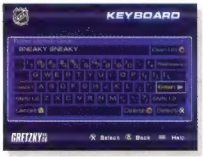
DO YOU KNOW THE SECRET OF THE MYSTERY CODES?

TIPS & TRICKS may be the #1 Video-Game Tips Magazine, but even our most skilled cheat finders get stumped every once in a while. The following codes are known to exist in the games shown, but even after extensive testing, we still can't figure out what they do. (In some cases, they may not do anything.) If you can solve the mystery, you might win a prize....

PS2 #49 GRETZKY NHL 06



The Codes: Choose "Features" from the main menu, then select "Challenges" and "Unlockables." Press the START button at the "Unlockables" screen to bring up the password entry screen and enter any of the following case-sensitive passwords:

SNEAKY SNEAKY
HAZY AND BLUE
FLUFF AND STUFF

What We Know: Like the Mystery Codes from last year's Gretzky NHL game—which still remain unsolved—these passwords give curious confirmation messages. But is that all they do, or do they have a more sinister purpose? Can you solve the mystery?

PS2 #50 SLY 3: HONOR AMONG THIEVES

The Codes: At any time during gameplay, press START to pause, then enter any of the following codes at the pause menu:

Right, Up, R1, Right, Up, Down
R1, R1, Right, Down, Down, Right
Down, L2, Up, Left, R2, L2

What We Know: We're going to try something a little crazy with Mystery Codes this month. Here are 26 cheat codes for Sly 3: Honor Among Thieves, all of which will give you confirmation sounds if you enter them at the pause menu. Now, you can't possibly expect us to give out 26 prizes—especially if one reader figures them all out!—so here's how we're going to work it. If you figure out what one of these codes does, and if you're the first to explain it, you'll win a TIPS & TRICKS cap...but if you figure out more than one code and you're the first to tell us the secret of multiple codes, you'll win a cap plus a mystery prize from the TIPS & TRICKS offices. The mystery prizes will be determined by the number of codes that are correctly cracked by any one person; hopefully we can dig up something good. We suspect that many of these codes have similar effects, so if you solve the mystery of one code, you might stand a pretty good chance of figuring out several other codes, if not all of them! This is the first time we've had this many Mystery Codes for a single game...and so, we'll hold our breath in anticipation of the answer(s) to that question we ask every month: Can you solve the mystery?

MYSTERY CODE SOLVED!

Congratulations to Richard Abramas of Dearborn, Michigan, for solving the Death Jr. Mystery Code (#47) from our October issue. When the code is entered, it changes the descriptive text that appears on the screen next to the combo meter. For example, instead of "Hit," it will say "Wikiwonderful" or "Mitchmania" instead of "Destruction." Lots of readers got this one right, but Richard's letter had the earliest postmark.

CRACK THE CODE AND WIN A PRIZE

Think you've got what it takes to beat the TIPS & TRICKS editors at our own game? Test out these codes for yourself; if you're the first person to tell us exactly what they do, we'll send you your very own TIPS & TRICKS cap and print your name right here so all the world will know that you were the one who solved the mystery. No guesses, now—you must describe the difference in the game that results from entering the code so we can verify that your answer is correct. Send your answers to:

TIPS & TRICKS Mystery Codes

Please note that these codes may not have any effect at all; there's a very strong possibility that they were left in the games inadvertently or that their effects were intentionally disabled before the games were released. However, we invite you to prove otherwise.

RETROMAGS

Our goal is to preserve classic video game magazines so that they are not lost permanently.

People interested in helping out in any capacity, please visit us at retromags.com.

No profit is made from these scans, nor do we offer anything available from the publishers themselves.

If you come across anyone selling releases from this site, please do not support them and do let us know.

Thank you!
